BARE MORE 'STEPS TO WAR'

WAR'S OUTLOOK IS SURVEYED BY BRITISH EXPERT

Optimistic Despite 3 Dangers at Home.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A high British military authority today gave a survey of the military position of Great Britain at home, in the Mediterranean, and the far east. He evaluated Britain's strength and weaknesses, and estimated Germany's possible future strategy.

On the home front, the authority said, Britain faces three dangers: intensification of the war on shipping, intensification of night air attacks, and invasion.

But, the authority suggested, the expected early German attempt at invasion might be abandoned because of the necessity of considerable Nazi help for Italy and because of the drain caused by German activities in the Balkans. If the Germans attempt an invasion of England, he said, they will time it to begin "before American aid becomes too pronounced" and before possible "American entry into the war" draws nearer.

Troops Sprawled Afar.

The authority's survey was fairly optimistic. He made a point of the fact that German troops are sprawled all over Europe, from northern Norway to southern Italy, from the English channel to Rumania, and he gave as an example of the spread the 70 divisions which he said are in Poland. He referred to these troops as "in a ticklish position."

The following is a summary of the authority's attitude on various aspects of the military situation:

BATTLE OF BRITAIN—Any invasion attempt probably would be accompanied by attacks on Ireland for diversion. The real danger spot would be the southeast English coast from The Wash to Southampton, where the offensive would have the support of fighter planes from French bases. "They might land," the spokesman said, "but we will blow them off the beaches."

Spain Called Unwilling.

SPAIN—The government would prevent, if possible, any German move thru the country to Gibraltar to close the western end of the Mediterranean and gain a passage to Africa. To force their way thru Spain the Germans would run the risk of overextension in a hostile country, the spokesman asserted.

FRANCE—The Germans might occupy the rest of France, but Marshal Petain might order the fleet to North Africa to join Gen. Maxime Weygand and resume the war from there.

ITALY—"Germany cannot afford to let her fall out of the war," the authority said. "As a result, German troops and aircraft are moving thru Italy in considerable numbers."

JUGO-SLAVIA—It has the finest army and air force in the Balkans and as far as is known here would not consent to the passage of German troops for a thrust at Salonika to cut off the Greeks from the rear.

Build Air Fields in Bulgaria.

BULGARIA—It is reported to be scared, but on the fence. German officers, mechanics, and technical troops are said to be entering the country dressed as civilians, and preparing air fields. They are backed up by 8 to 10 German divisions in Rumania. [A German mechanized division numbers 11,000 men and an infantry division 15,000.] A German thrust thru Bulgaria to the Ægean sea, aided by a strong concentration of bombers, would present a formidable problem for the Greek army and a threat to close the eastern Mediterranean to large British convoys.

TURKEY—Declared to be ready to fight if the Germans should attempt a sweep across Anatolia and Syria against British forces at Suez. "We are in a position to give Turkey considerable help," the spokesman said.

Libya a Harder Problem.

NORTH AFRICA—The British commander "can no longer afford to take the chances he did, because of the presence of the German air force [in Italy and Libya]. The matter of supporting Wavell [the commander] has become more difficult."

ORIENT—Japanese penetration into South China and Indo-China and their growing influence in Thailand [Siam] have raised new dangers for Britain.

Assembly Leaders Offer Bill to End Parole Evil

ACT WOULD LET TRIAL JUDGES FIX PUNISHMENT

Has 2 Party Backing in Both Houses.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—A parole reform demanded for years—and which would have been in effect now except for an executive veto—was proposed to the legislature today under joint Republican and Democratic sponsorship. Its major provision would permit trial judges in criminal cases to fix minimum and maximum sentences within the limits of the indeterminate sentence act.

Senator Ward [top] and Representative Rennick.

Senator Harold G. Ward of Chicago, Democratic minority leader in the upper chamber and Mayor Edward J. Kelly's legislative spokesman, who has been a long-time co-sponsor of the bill, reintroduced it today coincident with its presentation in the house by Gov. Dwight Green's floor leader, Representative Frederick W. Rennick [R., Buda].

Schnackenberg Gives Way.

For several sessions this measure has been known as the Ward-Schnackenberg bill, being sponsored by Ward and the present speaker of the house, Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago]. Schnackenberg was elevated to the rostrum this session and decided not to handle any bills himself. So Rennick, who has supported the bill, took over its cosponsorship with Senator Ward, giving it backing which cut across both partisan and sectional lines.

The Ward-Rennick bill, as it will now be known, is No. 34 in the senate and No. 103 in the house. Speaker Schnackenberg referred it to the house committee on judicial practice and uniform laws, headed by Representative Charles J. Jenkins [R., Chicago]. Lieut. Gov. Hugh Cross is expected to refer the senate bill to the judiciary committee, headed by the dean of the upper chamber, Senator Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet]. Early hearings will be requested by both sponsors.

Vetoed by Horner.

Brought to life about seven years ago by a group of crime fighting officials and citizens, the bill has been approved by each house of the legislature at one session or another during recent years, and in 1937 was passed by both. The late Gov. Henry Horner's veto prevented it from becoming a law at that time.

In the 1939 session the bill was approved overwhelmingly by the senate, receiving a vote of 36 to 3. It failed by one vote to pass the house.

Since Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago both approve the bill, it seems assured of impressive Democratic support. Gov. Green's pronouncement that there must be an end to parole scandals in Illinois—the language of his inaugural message—plus Rennick's position as administration spokesman in the house, is counted upon to bring equally strong Republican backing.

Backed in High Places.

In addition to the mayor and the state's attorney, Chicago supporters of the bill—in fact, drafters—included such well known figures as Frank J. Loesch, then president and now president emeritus of the Chicago Crime commission, and Chief of Detectives, John L. Sullivan.

In effect, the measure would curb the powers of the parole board to release convicts virtually at will by providing that the board could not act until a prisoner had served the minimum term fixed by the judge who sentenced him.

Proponents have argued consistently that a trial judge, rather than the parole board, is in a better position to rule on minimum punishment than the board.

Six months ago a dark eyed girl of 16 vanished from New York. Then her florist father discovered that $4,700 was missing from the tin can he used for a bank. In spite of a nation-wide search the girl, Leno Colonelli, is still missing.

But a gangling blond-thatched boy bandit in the Cook county jail last night told a strange story in which he attempted to explain the first days of her disappearance. The story told how he eloped with her to Philadelphia in a taxicab and helped her spend $2,000 within a few days. After a trip to New York, he said, he returned to find Leno missing again.

Confesses Toy Gun Holdup.

The bandit is Kenneth Watson, 19 years old, a tap dancer from the Bronx. He was found guilty of larceny by Judge John Sbarbaro last Monday after he had confessed a toy gun holdup in a gasoline station at 7336 Exchange avenue last October. Watson, using the name of Rogers, was awaiting investigation of his plea for probation when Richard Devine, assistant state's attorney, accused him yesterday of being wanted in New York under the name of Watson.

The bandit confessed his identity and then told this story:

"Last May I decided to run away. I told Leno, a girl I had known four years. She offered to go with me. One day she gave me a wad of her father's dough.

Brother Sent Along.

"A few days later, on July 21, I asked her to go to the New York world's fair. Her mother sent Leno's brother, Robert, 14, along.

"Leno took the rest of the $4,700 from the tin can. We spent $500 at the fair. When we got back to her home, she kissed her brother good-by and told him to pass the kiss along to her mother. She and I took a taxicab to Philadelphia.

"We moved into a hotel. Next day we went to a higher priced one. She had given me $1,000 altogether by this time. We bought a lot of clothes and went sightseeing.

"I wanted to go back to New York for a few days. She gave me $1,000 more. I spent most of it in New York. When I got back to Philadelphia, she had checked out of the hotel.

"I came to Chicago and got mixed up with a stickup gang."

New York police said last night that they had suspected Leno and Watson had run away together. They have had Hollywood, Cal., police looking for Leno.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The average American is 28.9 years old, the census bureau reported today after studying a 5 per cent sample of the 1940 census. The figures showed that the population is growing older. In 1940 the average American was 2½ years older than in 1930, and 6 years older than in 1900.

Men continued to predominate, but the bureau found that the margin of males over females was declining. Some day, it was said, women would outnumber the men in America as they do in Europe and other areas of older civilizations. There were 101.1 males for every 100 females in 1940. Ten years ago there were 102.5 males for every 100 females.

The nation grew older, the bureau added, by a decline in the number of persons under 20 years, a small increase in those between 20 and 45, and a large increase in those 65 or older.

The bureau estimated that the number of persons 65 or older increased from 6,633,805 in 1930 to 8,956,206 in 1940.

CITY TO SHELVE PROPOSED MILK INSPECTION FEES

The proposed ordinance to tax farmers and dairies for milk inspections is to be shelved. Announcements to this effect were made last night by both Mayor Kelly and Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], chairman of a city council subcomittee which prepared the measure. Fees provided in the proposal would have brought the city about $350,000 annually.

Ross said he will recommend to the finance committee early next week that the ordinance be "filed." Mayor Kelly said that after a conference with Ross he recommended it be "temporarily shelved."

The measure was protested vigorously by farmers, dairies, and the local federal milk administrator of the department of agriculture. Several farmer groups threatened milk strikes. The government administrator said such an ordinance would disrupt the milk industry. Dealers said the tax would be passed on to the consumer as an increase in milk prices.

Strike Closes Tractor Plant on Army Jobs

Sixty-five hundred employés of the International Harvester company's tractor works at 2600 West 31st street were thrown out of work yesterday by a strike called by local 101 of the Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate. The walkout stopped production on army tractors worth several million dollars.

There was a sharp interchange of notes by union officials and executives of the company as to the blame for the defense delay. Grant Oakes, chairman of the FEWOC, said the company had refused to commit itself on the union's demands and proposed "endless conferences." He added:

"From the fact that the company's German and French plants are producing for European belligerents, plus the fact that the company has refused decent wages to its employés, we can conclude only that the corporation regards defense orders on a strictly business basis."

Willing to Continue Parleys.

Sydney G. McAllister, president of the firm, called this statement a "vicious attempt to confuse the issue," and said the company was willing to continue negotiations.

"Our plants in Germany and occupied France," he said, "are, so far as we know, making only farm machinery. The plants are under control of foreign governments and we have no control over them at present."

Picket lines were thrown about the tractor plant entrances. There were no disorders, however, and the union and the management agreed on the presence inside of office workers and maintenance and guard details.

Demands Made by Union.

The union demands included the elimination of piece work and minimum wage rates of 75 cents hourly for men and 65 cents for women; also retention of seniority rights for men called into military service. Company spokesmen said that only a few beginners drew less than 75 cents an hour and they were paid 62½ cents.

David T. Roadley, a federal labor conciliator, said last night he was trying to get the management and the union heads into conference.

ANTIWAR DRIVE PASSES MARK OF A MILLION NAMES

Citizen demands that congress keep this nation out of the European war passed the million mark last night in the offices of two Chicago organizations. Messages and petitions against war and against President Roosevelt's dictator bill were still pouring into the headquarters of these groups, the Chicago chapter of the America First committee and the Citizens' Keep Out of War committee. Each group reported receipt of more than 500,000 names of petitioners urging that the United States keep out of war.

Gen. Robert E. Wood.

Other developments during the day in the growing protest movement against America's drift toward war were:

1. Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, warned a radio audience that the sending of supplies to Europe convoyed by the American navy would mean certain war. He asserted that President Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill should be defeated and that American people should not be driven by propaganda-raised fear to the suicidal course of war.

2. Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee, declared that women will be the determining factor in deciding whether the United States is to commit national suicide by entering the European conflict. He spoke at a meeting of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs in the Hotel Sherman.

3. Fifty state leaders of American war veterans' organizations met in the offices of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee and resolved to organize the veterans into a body indorsing the stand against war.

4. Final arrangements were made to accommodate more than 5,000 persons at a labor rally tonight sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the America First committee in Carmen's hall, 328 South Ashland avenue. Chicago working men and women will be given an opportunity to voice their opposition to any step which might take the country into war.

Warns Convoys Mean War.

Speaking of the war dictatorship bill in his radio address, Gen. Wood said:

"There is one step that is sure to involve us in this conflict, and that step is the sending of supplies to Europe in American ships convoyed by the American navy. That means war, and the American people should know it and should prevent such a step being taken.

"There is nothing in this bill to prevent sending our navy, our air force, and our armed forces to the assistance of any belligerent. Any of these steps means war. The bill provides for authority to repair foreign warships in our ports. That may mean war. The bill really transfers the war making powers of congress to the President and his advisers and his assistants. If by mischance [and I hope this may never happen] the President should be incapacitated as President Wilson was during the end of his term, or as Hor-

DE VALERA WARNS IRELAND TO 'PREPARE FOR WORST' ON FOOD

DUBLIN, Ireland, Jan. 29 (AP).—Eamon De Valera, Ireland's premier, told the nation by radio tonight that it must "prepare for the worst" on the question of imported supplies.

De Valera said Ireland had been in danger of military attack and would remain in danger until peace returned to Europe. He warned the nation to build its defenses.

"The other danger, now, is the economic one," he went on. "The belligerents in blockading each other are blockading us. We have not a moment to lose in preparing for the worst in regard to all those supplies that come to us from abroad."

De Valera announced that tea supplies to the public would be restricted to three-fourths the quantity normally sold until a rationing system can be arranged.

The premier said Ireland's wheat reserves hardly were enough to carry the country thru until after the next harvest, and he urged substitution of potatoes for flour in Irish diets. He warned farmers that they would have to slaughter cattle unless they grow the fodder that formerly came from abroad.

Wartime Bread for U.S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The federal government is paying for a survey made by the National Research council into a new enriched bread making flour, now compulsory in wartime Britain. The council, which is a subsidiary of the National Academy of Sciences, said the flour would help the American people withstand "the strains and stresses of war or threats of war."

The flour was developed by the millers several months ago for sale to the public, but the government ordered the survey in order to arrange for adequate amounts at the earliest possible time. The federal food and drug administration is drafting regulations to govern use of the new food. The flour is enriched with vitamin B-1 [thiamin], iron, and a pellagra-preventing factor, nicotinic acid.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The senate committee considering President Roosevelt's dictator bill was stirred today by the revelation that the war department has ordered 4½ million medical tags for identifying men killed and wounded in battle and that President Roosevelt has requested the American Red Cross to have ready 4 million surgical dressings by April. Both actions were assailed by committee members as additional steps toward war.

The casualty tags are made of linen, shaped like shipping tags, have a wire to fasten to the clothing of a soldier, and provide space for describing the nature of the casualty.

The clouds of war seemed to hang very low in the marble-pillared magnificence of the hearing chamber as these facts were made known with Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson on the witness stand. Stimson had spent the morning praising the President's war dictatorship bill which gives the President the constitutional powers exercised by congress over the nation's purse and sword.

"Last Step Short of War."

Stimson declared that the legislation probably is the last step which could be taken by the United States without actual involvement in the war.

The war secretary was taken aback when confronted by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] with a question about the army order for 4½ million "dead and wounded" tags. Stimson said at first he knew nothing about the contract.

"Does this mean we are contemplating an army of 4½ million men?" asked Vandenberg.

"No, not today," Stimson replied. "We are planning an army of 1 million 400 thousand men and eventually an army of 2 million."

"Will you provide us with a memorandum on this tag order?" Vandenberg asked. "I think you'll agree that it excites curiosity."

Asks Stimson to Explain.

Late in the day, Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], who has been designated by the President to pilot the dictator measure thru the senate, again brought up the subject of the medical tags. He asked Stimson to explain it.

"Why, it was just a routine order," said Stimson, referring to a report before him. "The tags are for mock combat in peacetime maneuvers. Certain soldiers are designated as wounded, given a tag, and told to go to the rear."

"How many coffins have been ordered?" inquired Senator Hiram W. Johnson [R., Cal.].

Stimson did not answer. It was recalled that the army last September admitted it was conducting a survey of the casket industry with a view to ascertaining its capacity in time of emergency.

"I have it on the highest authority," remarked Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.], "that the President has asked the Red Cross to have 4 million surgical dressings ready by April. Those are not for use in maneuvers, are they?"

"I am quite unaware about that request," said Stimson.

"I am glad," remarked Clark, "that even if we are short of tanks, guns, and planes, we have plenty of medical tags and surgical dressings."

"The medical corps of the army has been greatly enlarged in anticipation of war, has it not?" pursued Johnson.

"It has been done in preparation for our defense," declared Stimson.

The medical tags provide space for identification by name, serial number, army unit and rank, and request information on types of wounds and treatments. "Killed in action" is reduced to "KIA" and "wounded in action" to "WIA" in a detailed list of abbreviations provided for the men who fill out the forms.

Identification Instructions.

Those engaged in identification work also are instructed thus:

"Full identification of the organization of which the patient is a member is highly important in connection with his military record and is necessary for studies of battle casualties and planning for medical service in combat. Make the record as complete as possible."

Each tag asks for essential facts concerning the disease or injury, description of the wound, causative agent, treatment applied, and whether operation is urgently needed. The tags are to be placed on casualties "over the breast or as near it as possible."

Each linen casualty tag has a paper duplicate for the records. Secretary Stimson told the committee they were "mere pieces of paper."

Retracts His Description.

"Probably the soldier will roll them up into a cigaret after he is sent to the rear," he remarked. When Senator Johnson referred repeatedly thereafter to the tags as "cigaret papers," Stimson retracted his sarcastic description and admitted the tags "probably wouldn't make good cigaret papers."

"If the patient dies en route," the instructions on the medical tag state, "Note here the time and place of death. Note the hospital where the patient was admitted for definite treatment or the disposition of the body."

Other abbreviations are provided for a variety of wounds, fever, fractures, and causes.

Secretary Stimson refused to answer in public hearing questions about the present state of the army's equipment. Frequent reports have described the army as poorly equipped and sadly lacking in modern weapons.

Asks About Britain's Needs.

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] sought to learn what military equipment Great Britain needs most.

"Airplanes in particular, tanks, both classes of artillery, and small arms," replied Stimson.

"What is the state of our own supplies in those weapons," asked Nye.

"I'd rather take up questions of that nature in executive sessions," said Stimson. "I do not want to be a channel of information for parties whose interests do not lie with the defense of the United States."

The committee agreed to question Stimson secretly tomorrow if he could obtain, by that time, the data needed to answer Nye's questions.

Stimson was questioned by several members of the committee concerning the wisdom of the provision in the bill which opens American ports to British ships for repair, outfitting, and other services.

"Will not the inevitable effect of that provision be to bring the war right to our very doors?" asked Clark. "You have been talking about keeping the war away—this seems to be inviting it here."

Defends Port Proposal.

"On the contrary, I think that provision will be one of the most effective ways of keeping war away," insisted Stimson, "by aiding Britain in its defense."

"We can hardly expect enemies of Britain to keep out of our waters if British ships make a base in our ports," commented Clark.

"The attempts to enforce the 300 mile neutral zone have not been effective 100 per cent thus far," Stimson replied.

Clark referred to the period when Stimson was secretary of state under President Hoover and reminded him of the protest he had made against the invasion of Manchuria by Japan.

"Since we are now about to be thrown into the arms of his British majesty's government," Clark remarked, "I should like to ask what was the reaction of that government to your protest. Is it fair to say that the British got us out on a limb that time and then sawed it off?"

Takes Paradoxical Stand.

"It would be short-sighted," Stimson replied, "to take an attitude of resentment on account of that incident which would hinder any benefits we can now obtain in this much greater emergency by aiding Britain."

While Stimson insisted that the bill does not authorize the President to order American naval convoys for British supply ships, he adopted the paradoxical stand that the measure should contain no provision specifically prohibiting the President from ordering such convoys.

"I feel very strongly that such an amendment would be unfortunate," he said. "No one can tell what will happen in the course of a war which is getting nearer and nearer to this country."

"Is there any doubt in your mind that with the sending of convoys we would actually be in the war?" he was asked.

"It's all speculation," was the reply.

Refuses Personal Opinion.

"The terms of this bill make us engage in much speculation," commented Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.]. "Do you personally believe we should convoy British ships?"

"My personal opinion is irrelevant," Stimson replied. "When I accepted this appointment, I became a subordinate to the President. My duty is to follow out his policies. I don't think you would want to put me in the position of being disloyal to him."

"The President would have the power under this bill to 'transfer' planes by having them flown across the Atlantic?" Stimson was asked.

"As commander in chief of the army and navy he already has that power," the war secretary replied.

"Has he the power to order convoys?"

"He has very full control of the movements of the fleet. You should ask that question of the secretary of the navy."

"Does not the bill open our ports to the British navy as bases of operation?"

"Not unless the President authorizes it."

Recalls Stimson Speech.

Senator Vandenberg reminded Stimson of a commencement day speech he made in June, 1940, at Yale university just before he was appointed to the cabinet, in which he urged that all American ports be thrown open immediately to British ships for refueling and other naval services. Stimson conceded that his views on this subject had not changed.

The war secretary interpreted the word "commodity" in the provision permitting the President to lease or give away defense articles to include food supplies if they should be determined to be vital to the defense of Great Britain.

He said he did not think that the President, under the proposed bill, could turn over to Great Britain foreign ships [owned by Denmark, Holland, etc.] which are now lying in American ports.

"I haven't considered that phase of it," he said. "I think it is a forced construction of the bill."

Concedes Right to Give Away.

"The President may, under this measure, give away any defense article?" he was asked.

"Yes, if he deems it vital to the defense of the United States to do so," Stimson replied.

"Could we finance the entire British war effort under this bill?"

"That is an assumption which has never entered my head."

Senator Vandenberg asked whether the bill did not carry a statement of undeclared war against certain countries and inquired why congress could not identify the nations to be aided.

"For example," Vandenberg noted, "the President could aid Russia under the terms of this bill?"

"Yes," said Stimson.

"Do you think it necessary to take so much power away from congress and lodge it in the White House? Is it not in reality the power to select our allies?"

"If you excluded Russia specifically, you might make trouble," was Stimson's reply. "Would congress today want to put in certain portions of North Africa as territory to be aided? Yet that might be vital in the future. It is better to leave it open."

FOUR DICTATOR BILL LIMITS ADOPTED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—A proposal to place an outright ban on the use of United States naval vessels to convoy supplies to Britain was rejected by the house foreign affairs committee today as it neared the end of its consideration of the lease-lend program for aiding countries battling the axis.

The committee did, however, approve an amendment stating that the measure neither authorizes nor permits the use of American vessels as convoys. This action was taken with the approval of administration members.

The committee also adopted amendments fixing June 30, 1943, as the expiration date for the Presidential powers the bill contains, requiring that the President make periodic reports to congress on the lease-lend program, and stipulating that he consult the ranking officers of the army and navy before sending any war materials abroad.

F. D. R. REBUKED FOR DIVERTING DEFENSE FUNDS

House Committee Protests Improper Spending.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—President Roosevelt, who is seeking an unlimited blank check to carry forward the war against Germany, Italy, and Japan, was rebuked by the house appropriations committee today for improper expenditure of part of the 200 milion dollar blank check already given him.

Not within the memory of the oldest denizen of the capitol has a President been reprimanded by a committee of congress dominated by members of his own party. The rebuke was contained in the committee's favorable report to the house of the independent offices appropriation bill for the 1942 fiscal year, totaling $1,404,576,838.

Given 200 Million Dollars.

When the German blitzkrieg in the Low Countries last spring startled the administration into feverish activities the President obtained from congress a 200 million dollar blank check for emergency defense expenditures, of which 100 millions was in cash and 100 millions more was allowed for contract authorizations.

In the current bill it is proposed to vote the President another 100 millions in cash and 25 millions more for contract authorizations. In recommending the allowance of these additional amounts the committee nevertheless admonished the President for expending emergency funds for nonemergency purposes for which he properly should have asked specific appropriation by congress.

Funds Diverted.

"While it is not the purpose," said the committee, "to hamper or obstruct the President in the expenditure of this new $100,000,000 emergency fund, the committee feels very strongly that it should be reserved for use in connection with items which are unusually emergent in character, which are of prime importance to our national defense, and which require immediate action on the part of the chief executive.

"During hearings on the bill the attention of the committee was called to allocations from emergency funds for activities which were not so intimately connected with national defense that a specific appropriation could not have been requested from congress in the usual way."

The text of the hearings, released by the committee with the report of the bill, shows that it was Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth [R., Mass.] who voiced the original criticism of the President.

Nondefense Items Cited.

"I just want to observe," said Mr. Wigglesworth, "that while I am in full sympathy with doing everything humanly possible for national defense purposes, it seems to me, having gone over the items in the list we have been furnished, a great many of these items are not for strictly national defense purposes, or emergent in character, and that these items could and should have been presented for the consideration of the congress instead of being taken out of these funds. I hope, so far as further funds of this chcaracter may be made available, that their expenditure will be limited to those of emergency character."

Chief among the expenditures were the following:

Navy department: For training of personnel in American republics, $300,000; for special consultant services, $25,000. ["Personal training" refers to expenses of army and navy officers who have been training Central and South American military forces as part of the national defense program.]

War department: For the training of personnel in American republics, $500,000; for reconditioning of the ship America, $400,000; for surveys of power requirements, St. Lawrence river, $950,000.

State department: Trans-Isthmian highway, $3,675,000.

Office of coördinator of commercial and cultural relations: For promotion of cultural and commercial relations with the American republics, $2,375,000 cash appropriation and $1,050,000 contract authorization.

LADY TENNYSON.

Redwood City, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—Lady Carroll Elting Donner Tennyson was granted a final divorce decree yesterday from Lionel, Lord Tennyson, grandson of the late poet-laureate of England. Under the decree she dropped the title and will resume her previous name of Mrs. Joseph W. Donner.

Lord Tennyson did not contest the action. He is in England. The interlocutory decree a year ago was obtained on grounds of mental cruelty.

Mrs. Donner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elting of Chicago, and Lord Tennyson were married in Santa Barbara, Cal., April 14, 1934.

DICTATOR BILL HITS OPPOSITION IN LEGISLATURE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29 [Special].—Congress will be asked to defeat the dictatorial lease-lend bill if a joint resolution introduced in the Illinois house today by Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downers Grove] is adopted.

In the preamble to her resolution, Mrs. O'Neill declared that the highly controversial measure would vest in President Roosevelt "unprecedented powers of disposition of the military and naval resources of this nation."

"It is the considered judgment of highly regarded statesmen, educators and observers of international affairs," she continued, "that the enactment of this bill will be tantamount to a congressional surrender of all its constitutional power to define and enforce the peace time status and relationship of this country to nations at war, and will, in the near future, directly involve us in the conflict now raging in Europe."

The resolution was referred to the house executive committee.

CLARIFY DEFENSE (OR WAR) AIMS! HUTCHINS URGES

If the people of the United States are to make sacrifices which war or total defense require and hold out to the end, there must be a complete clarification of the issues involved, Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, declared yesterday. He spoke at a luncheon of 500 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer House as part of the university's 50th anniversary celebration.

Among the questions to be answered, he said, are: Is Hitler wrong? If so, why? What is democracy? Is it the best form of government? Have we got it in this country, and, if not, why not?

"Unless we have clear and defensible convictions on these questions," Hutchins said, "all the materiel in the world will not save us."

Hutchins also warned that our educational system must not be scrapped in building up our defenses.

BRITAIN REFUSES TO GIVE HUMANS RACE HORSE OATS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A demand that oats consumed by race horses in wartime be diverted to human consumption was rejected by Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, parliamentary secretary of the board of trade and son of David Lloyd George, world war prime minister, in the house of commons today. Replying to questions by D. L. Lipson, an Independent party member, Lloyd George said that "the government has not thought it necessary to stop horse racing entirely."

TINKHAM BRANDS RUSS DEAL STEP ON PATH TO WAR

Charges Roosevelt Uses European Tactics.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29—Repercussions of the Roosevelt administration's removal of the "moral embargo" against shipments of airplanes and aeronautical equipment to Russia hit congress today when Representative George H. Tinkham [R., Mass.], member of the house foreign affairs committee, charged the administration with putting the United States on the road to war.

"Homicidal, communistic soviet Russia made war on Finland, occupied half of Poland with her army, and annexed by force Lithuania, Latvia and Esthonia," Tinkham said on the house floor. "She has been a most brutal aggressor. President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull have repeatedly denounced aggressors but, apparently copying the European technique of playing favorites, homicidal, communistic soviet Russia now becomes their favorite.

"Seen as approval in the eyes of the world their recent action will be taken to mean that the United States gives approval to the territorial gains of soviet Russia and to the methods which she has employed in their acquisition.

"Apparently it counts for nothing with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull that communistic soviet Russia is burrowing from within, plotting the collapse of the social and economic structure of the United States and the world.

"Must the integrity and well being of the United States be sacrificed to the fantastic ambitions and calamitous intentions of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull to redesign the pattern of world affairs, even by resort to fire and sword?

"Morals have gone as neutrality has gone; both have disappeared from the foreign policies of the United States.

"The United States has been set on the road to war bereft of character and moral standing."

LINDBERGH EYES CONGRESS SEAT, CAPITAL REPORT

Providence, R. I., Jan. 29 (AP).—The Evening Bulletin says today in a dispatch from Sevellon Brown III., its Washington correspondent, that it has learned from reliable congressional sources that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is seriously considering running for a seat in the United States senate or house of representatives in 1942.

The Bulletin says that during his appearance last week to testify before the house foreign affairs committee on the lend-lease bill Lindbergh broached the subject to several congressmen. The Bulletin's informants said that Lindbergh might decide to run from any of the five states with which he has some connections.

WOOD-GIBSON DEBATE TICKETS NOW AVAILABLE

Joseph W. Cox, commander of the Advertising Men's Post of the American Legion, announced yesterday that reservations are available in room 441 at the Hotel Sherman for the debate at a luncheon next Monday on "What Now, America?" Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, and Ernest W. Gibson, former senator from Vermont and head of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, will debate the question. The debate is sponsored by the Advertising Men's Post.

ANTI-DEMOCRATIC ACTS OUTLAWED AS CUBA'S CHIEF SIGNS DECREE

HAVANA, Cuba., Jan. 29 (AP).—Fifth column activity and anti-democratic manifestations were outlawed in Cuba by a decree signed tonight by President Fulgencio Batista.

The decree outlaws and dissolves all organizations with international connections engaging in propaganda against Cuba.

It was understood the decree would be enforced immediately to dissolve the Spanish Falangist [Fascist] group here and that the communist party would be outlawed.

U. S. IS ON EDGE OF WAR THRU AID, ITALIAN WARNS

'Deliberate' Plan Hit by Gayda.

ROME, Jan. 29 (AP).—Virginio Gayda, foremost editorial spokesman for Fascist Italy, declared today that the United States policy of aiding Britain is a violation of neutrality likely to involve the United States in war thru "legitimate reaction" of the axis powers.

"The increase of American aid to England, far from not drawing the United States into war, brings her nearer the conflict by deliberate plan," Gayda wrote in Il Giornale d'Italia.

The United States, he declared, should not believe she can continue this policy "without finding some unforeseen and quite unpleasant reaction at the end of the path."

Gayda said "Cordell Hull [United States secretary of state] must have known that the policy of the North American government long has been violating the elementary principles of neutrality."

"Aggressive" Stand Assailed.

He added:

"Violation of neutrality without provocation becomes aggressive. As such, it exposes one to the legitimate danger—we say legitimate—of reaction from the offended powers."

Gayda asserted that transfer of American destroyers to Britain was an example of "open violation of international law." He said Italy's policy of "nonbelligerency" before she went to war was justified by the axis alliance with Germany and controversial questions pending between Italy and the allies.

"These two reasons do not exist for the United States," Gayda asserted, "but North American policy already is far beyond that of nonbelligerency; it already is on the edge of waging war."

U. S. Aid Key to War, Say Nazis.

BERLIN, Jan. 29 (AP).—Berlin's afternoon newspapers gave prominence today to a statement of Henry Morgenthau Jr., United States secretary of the treasury, that "there is nothing for England to do but stop fighting" if the aid-to-Britain bill is not passed by the United States congress. They said the statement confirms the German view.

RAISE NEW BARS AGAINST VISITORS TO WAR OFFICES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The war department today issued new regulations governing admittance to its offices and designed to provide greater protection on the offices and files against spies.

Effective Feb. 1, admittance to the building will be restricted, the department said, to persons on duty there and those "who have official business to transact." Furthermore, solicitors and peddlers will not be permitted in the building.

During regular office hours employés admitted must show authorized badges bearing their photographs or badges certifying that they are temporarily on duty at the department. Callers without such badges will be required to report at once to an information and reception office, where their business can be checked and visitors' badges issued to those on approved missions.

KEEP OUT OF WAR DEMANDS PASS MILLION MARK

Gen. Wood Warns Convoys Will Involve U. S.

ner [the late Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois] was during his term as governor, the war making powers are transferred to the anonymous assistants, some of whom may be planning to get us into this war."

Gen. Wood warned that the dictator bill can be defeated only if the citizens are aroused and make known their views to their senators and congressmen.

"It is a sign of the defeatism of the times that the people of this country for the first time seem to believe that they are helpless against a foreign foe," Gen. Wood said.

Competent military authorities agree that no land invasion of the United States is possible, Gen. Wood said. He recalled that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Maj. Al Williams, both aviation experts, have shown the present impossibility of successful air raids. Germany was unable to do appreciable damage to England until air bases were obtained in France, less than 100 miles from Britain, Gen. Wood said.

Gen. Hammond Urges Action.

Gen. Hammond told his audience of women that "we have been brought, entirely against our will, to the very brink of war. Who will stop this march to national suicide? Have we the will here in this room? I think so, for what the women of this country do over the next 90 or 120 days—what they think—how they act—may be the determining factor governing our active participation in military operations in Europe, Africa, and Asia—a spree that well informed military men believe will take five years and five millions of our fine young men—your sons and mine—before we can hope for peace again."

Gen. Hammond asserted that the present war is not the United States' war and told his audience that Americans do not even know the war objectives of the country they are asked to aid.

War Vets Name Committee.

An executive committee was chosen at the meeting of war veterans' leaders to carry on the work of organizing their antiwar group. It is made up of Col. Frank Schiller, now living in Chicago, a past commander of the Wisconsin state American Legion; Edward Clamage, past state commander of the Illinois department of the American Legion; Col. Joseph B. McGlynn of East St. Louis, past district commander; Mrs. Helen Sewell, former 7th district commander of the American Legion auxiliary in Chicago; Frank Prete, past commander, 6th district of the American Legion, and chairman of the Distinguished Service Cross association, and John R. Robinson, past commander of the McKinley post, United Spanish war veterans.

Three Chicago labor men were announced as speakers at the labor rally tonight. They are Walter Villier of the Railroad Carmen of America, Daniel Miklazs of the Typographical union, and Mark Enfield of the Plasterers' union. Other speakers will be James Jenkins, chairman of the labor division of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee; Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman, and Gen. Hammond.

National headquarters of the America First committee began distribution of 100,000 copies of a warning by Stuart Chase, writer and economist, that American entry into the war would be futile.

COL. M'CORMICK TELLS OF WARS TO WIN FLORIDA

Speaks on Concert Hour Over W-G-N.

The turbulent early history of Florida was recalled last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in an address on the Chicagoland Concert hour over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Col. McCormick told how the land discovered in 1513 by Ponce de Leon in his search for the fountain of youth became the scene of conquests and reconquests, a pawn in the struggle of European governments for control of America, until it finally was ceded to the United States in 1819.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Following is the text of Col. McCormick's address:

"Every one within the sound of my voice has heard of Ponce de Leon, and his search for the Fountain of Youth. This almost mythical character discovered Florida in the year 1513 and claimed the North American continent for King Ferdinand of Castile.

"Hardly less famous is De Soto who, hoping to emulate Cortez' conquest of Mexico, landed a little army near Tampa, marched up the west coast of Florida, crossed Okefinokee swamp, at that time presumably a lake, and reached the Savannah river at the present site of Augusta, Ga.

"Following this river to its head, he descended into the valley of the Tennessee, and eventually to the Mississippi, where he died. A handful of disillusioned survivors found their way to Tampico.

Other Gold Seekers Follow.

"Other explorers, seekers after gold and conquest, followed—too many to mention—none of whom found gold or a civilization upon which to impose his rule.

"It was for a group of French Huguenots to make the first successful settlement; they built a town and fort at the mouth of the St. John's river in 1564. However, they and their reinforcements were massacred by the Spaniards three years later. Their conqueror, Menendez, founded St. Augustine.

"This city survived many vicissitudes to become the first Florida winter resort—and so, if not the Fountain of Youth, at least the refuge of old age.

"The colony throve. Missions to the natives that conducted not only the religious but a large part of the economic life of the settlements, extended to the present day Tallahassee and into what is now Georgia.

Pensacola 100 Years Later.

"Not until a century later was the government of Pensacola established and then only because La Salle was planning French settlements on the gulf coast.

"An English colony had been planted in Chesapeake bay as early as 1607. Subsequent settlements along the coast as far south as Beaufort brought the English and Spanish into contact and therefore into conflict.

"The Floridas were now threatened from both west and north. Pensacola changed hands four times in one year. There were constant border wars and massacres, but it was not to hostile forces that Florida was destined to fall.

"In 1762 the British navy and troops from Massachusetts and Virginia captured Havana, with a spoil of 20 odd million dollars. An amusing story is told of the disposal of the loot. The bulk of it was kept by the British officers as aristocrats. A small amount was allotted to the Virginians as gentlemen. The Massachusetts soldiers, as tradesmen, received none at all. Among them, Israel Putnam was later to take deep revenge for this insult heaped upon injury.

Florida Ceded to Britain.

"To get Havana back, Spain ceded Florida to Britain.

"As distinguished from colonies settled by companies with charter rights, Florida was taken by force, as was New York before it.

"English governors replaced the Dutch and Spanish governors. English law replaced Dutch and Spanish law. Royal grants to individuals established populations that were loyal to the crown in the revolution. Their descendants are noted for their attachment to Britain to this day.

"As we saw two weeks ago, Spanish armies from Louisiana reconquered Florida in 1781.

"In the peace treaty, Florida went to Spain. Of this transaction, the historian Frederick Dow says:

"'War having ceased with England, one of those numerous deals made in Europe with regard to possessions in America was arranged between the powers there, whereby Florida was again traded off to Spain for the Bahama islands. The interests of the inhabitants of these traded countries seems to have been the least consideration.'

Spaniards Double-Crossed.

"The treaty between America and Britain double-crossed the Spaniards in providing that if Florida should be ceded to Spain, the north boundary should be the 31st parallel, but if retained by England, the boundary should be 88 miles farther north.

"Spain was displeased, but stipulated in 1795 that the boundary should be the 31st parallel, west all the way to the Mississippi river.

"In 1810 and 1812, citizens of western Florida, having revolted, organized a republic and asked admission to the Union. The United States occupied Florida from New Orleans to the Perdita river, claiming, in spite of the treaty of 1795, that this territory had been ceded with Louisiana.

Pensacola Captured in 1815.

"In 1815 the British Col. Nichols captured Pensacola, while England and Spain were at peace, as a base from which to invade the United States, but was expelled by Gen. Andrew Jackson.

"English traders, Indians, escaped slaves, and American revolutionists, at times assisted by American regular troops and warships, kept Florida in turmoil until finally Gen. Jackson invaded and pacified it in 1817, executing a number of disturbers, including two English merchants.

"In 1819 all of Florida was ceded to the United States in settlement of damage claims of American citizens and the abandonment of the American right to Texas as part of the Louisiana purchase, of which we will speak next Wednesday."

"THE ANGELUS" IN MUSIC

Marion Claire, the W-G-N chorus and symphony orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, presented a dramatic musical interpretation of Millet's beloved painting, "The Angelus," on the musical portion of the program.

Miss Claire also sang "One Fine Day" from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," and led the chorus in a medley of Gilbert and Sullivan airs. The orchestra opened the program with "Procession of the Sardar" by Ippolitov-Ivanow. William A. Bacher directed the program.

The concert hour was heard by a studio audience of 600 leaders and directors of the 22 branches of the Y. M. C. A. in Chicago. After the broadcast portion of the program Jeffery R. Short, president, and Dale Cox, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., spoke. Then followed the first public presentation of the Y. M. C. A.'s color movie, "Y Ways Toward Citizenship."

Four Generals Hold Conference

Expect Hardships

Staff officers of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, were warned yesterday to expect some hardships at Camp Forrest, Tenn., to which the division will be sent for training after its induction into federal service on March 5. The warning was given by Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the 2d army, of which the 33d division will become a part.

Gen. Lear and Maj. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, chief of staff of the army's general headquarters in Washington, D. C., spent yesterday in conference with Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33d division, and 35 other officers of the division. Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the 6th corps area, also attended the meeting, in the Palmer House. Plans for the training of the division's 10,000 officers and men were discussed.

Gen. Lear told the guard officers that Camp Forrest will not be completed by the time of their arrival. Roads will not all be paved, and training facilities also will be only partly finished. Construction work probably will continue until well into May, he said.

BERLIN, Jan. 29 (AP).—The German high command's documentary film "Victory in the West" was shown today to the press but it left unanswered the question whether Germany has a secret weapon. The film account of France's defeat revealed a huge amount of mechanical war equipment. But how it went to work on such tough defenses as the Maginot line and Belgium's supposedly invincible fortress, Eben Emael, remained the high command's secret.

The film indicated that the German triumph in the west was no walkaway, that there was spirited resistance by the French—especially in the Maginot line—and by the British and Belgians.

German predominance in heavy artillery, the fleetness and mobility of her mechanized forces and precise cooperation of all arms of the service were strikingly pictured. Some shots showed flame throwers in action.

HOW REGISTERED MEN ARE LISTED ON DRAFT ROLLS

4 Major Classifications Explained in Detail.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

The system used by the government in classifying selective service registrants for military training has proved confusing to many Chicagoans, draft officials said yesterday. They stated that scores of inquiries have been received asking for an explanation of the method.

The government uses numerals to designate the four major classes into which the registrants are classified, according to availability for service. Letters of the alphabet are used to designate subdivisions of the four major classes. The classes and subdivisions, with an explanation of each, follow:

CLASS I.

I-A: available; fit for general military service.

I-B: available; physically fit for only limited military service.

I-C: a member of the land or naval forces of the United States, including National Guard and various reserve organizations.

I-D: student [college or university] fit for general military service; available not later than July 1, 1941.

I-E: student physically fit for only limited military service; available not later than July 1, 1941.

CLASS II.

II-A: man necessary in his civilian occupation.

CLASS III.

III-A: man deferred because of dependents.

CLASS IV.

IV-A: man who has completed military service and who has an honorable discharge from such service.

IV-B: official deferred by law. [Vice President of the United States, members of congress, state governors, state legislators, judges, coast guardsmen, etc.]

IV-C: nondeclarant alien [registrants who are aliens and have not filed declaration of intention to become citizens].

IV-E: conscientious objector available only for civilian work of national importance.

IV-F: the physically, mentally, and morally unfit [men convicted of treason or a felony come under this classification; also men dishonorably discharged from the armed forces].

Draft officials reported yesterday that 1,864 Cook county draftees were inducted into the army during January at the induction depot in the 122d Field Artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue.

422 Men Rejected.

Army physicians and psychiatrists who examined the draftees rejected 422 other Cook county men for physical reasons. Married draftees were found to be more healthy than unmarried ones. More men [128] were rejected for bad teeth than for any other reason. The second most important cause for rejection was mental maladjustment. On this ground 101 were rejected.

Capt. Charles C. Buczynski, medical officer in charge of the depot, said 987 of the Cook county men accepted for training were draft volunteers, men who elected to take their army service immediately rather than to wait for their order numbers to be called. The rest of the Cook county group were regular draftees.

Fifty of the draftees were married men. Only 2 per cent of these men were rejected for physical reasons, while more than 19 per cent of the unmarried draftees were rejected for such reasons.

In addition to the 1,864 Cook county men inducted during January, 168 men from other counties in this area were accepted for army training.

METAXAS' FIGHT GOES ON, PLEDGES NEW GREEK CHIEF

Banker Made Premier as Dictator Dies.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 29.—An iron determination that his policies will be carried on was sounded unanimously in Greece tonight as the nation which is fighting Italy for its life mourned its "iron dictator," Premier Gen. John Metaxas, who died this morning at the age of 70.

Alexandros Korizis.

While throngs of Athenians gathered in the National cathedral to pay tribute to the man who was "premier for life," his successor, Alexandros Korizis, pledged thru King George II. to continue the war until "victory over the enemy, and afterward the serving and promoting of the working classes, which constitute the productive power of the nation." That was the legacy of Metaxas whose dying words, "I place my hope in Greece," voiced his firm confidence that Greece would fight on.

For three weeks Metaxas had fought a throat ailment in secret while his countrymen battled the Italians. On Sunday blood poisoning developed and he was given three blood transfusions in the next two days. However, the stout heart which, as the king said, trumpeted "a proud 'no to the brazen invaders on Oct. 28 [when Italy invaded Greece] failed."

Successor Chosen Quickly.

Within an hour after Metaxas' death the king summoned the cabinet, all of whose members will retain their posts, and named Korizis, former governor of the national bank, as premier.

The new premier, who is 55 years old, also will hold Metaxas' portfolios as minister of foreign affairs, war, aviation, marine, and education. He is credited by the Greeks with knowing more about the country's affairs than any other man. A close colleague of Metaxas, but lacking any of his extensive army or political experience, Korizis became governor of the National bank in 1939. Under Metaxas he previously had directed the ministries of public assistance and agriculture.

State Funeral Tomorrow.

A state funeral will be held for Metaxas on Friday. Metaxas, who had served his country in military and political fields for 51 years, won his reputation as a brilliant soldier early in life. It is said that when he studied at the German war college in Berlin, his fellow students said, "If anything can be captured, Metaxas can do it." Soon he put this ability to work, becoming Premier Eleutherios Venizelos' chief aid in 1910.

He won brilliant notice in the 1912 Balkan wars, but broke with Venizelos when he opposed assistance to the allies in the world war. When the allies gained control of Greek politics after the war, Metaxas was deported.

Rides Back Into Power.

However, he returned to take a hand in politics and within a few years rode triumphantly back into power as premier when King George II. returned to the throne after a plebiscite in 1935. Metaxas was granted full dictatorial powers Aug. 4, 1936, after he convinced the king that only a strong hand could save the country. He proclaimed himself premier for life on Aug. 30, 1938.

Since then his authority has not been challenged, tho often criticized. However, the country was solidly behind him when he defied Italy's ultimatum last October.

Greek forces, unable to make any gains of consequence in the latest fighting against Italians in Albania, have nevertheless stood off Italian assaults, as indicated in captions on this map.

ITALIANS ATTACK AND THEN GREEKS DRIVE RIGHT BACK

BITOLJ, Jugo-Slavia [at the Albanian Frontier], Jan. 29 (AP).—Italian bayonet attacks on Greek positions in the Devol river valley and Greek assaults on Italian positions in the Shkumbi river valley were reported tonight but the battlefront in Albania was said to be generally unaltered.

Positions changed several times in the Devol valley, with heavy losses on both sides. The Greeks, however, were said to hold several heights won in the last fighting of the day.

Beat Back Klisura Drives.

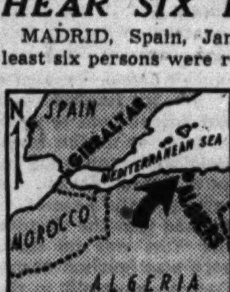
ATHENS, Jan. 29 (AP).—Greek front line troops were reported today to have beaten back two more counter-attacks from bolstered Italian defense lines north of Klisura.

Italians Take Key Position.

ROME, Jan. 29 (AP).—Italian troops have captured an important position from the Greeks on the Albanian battlefront, the high command said today. The communique also reported the Italian air force "struck heavily" at Salonika, at the head of the Aegean sea, and at the railway from Salonika to Athens.

REPORT SOLDIERS RIOT IN ALGIERS; HEAR SIX KILLED

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 29 (AP).—At least six persons were reported killed in riots involving soldiers in Algiers, capital of the French African protectorate of Algeria, dispatches from the Tangier [Morocco] International zone said tonight. First reports described the incidents as grave. Soldiers were said to have broken out of the garrison, mortally wounding six persons. Some were rounded up but others were said to have made good their escape.



Arrow Locates Algiers.

Gen. Maxime Weygand, commander of the French colonial forces, in a speech yesterday said the protectorate was prepared for "any surprise" and referred to "exaggerated rumors" concerning the protectorate.

DECLARES NAZI AIRMEN ARE HELPING ITALIANS IN NORTH AFRICAN WAR

BY LARRY ALLEN.

ABOARD A BRITISH WARSHIP AT TOBRUK, Libya, Jan. 29 (AP).—Approximately 1,000 German technicians and airmen now are stationed in Libya to aid the Italians against the British, an Italian prisoner said tonight.

This prisoner was one of thousands pouring into Tobruk to board British transports shuttling steadily between this captured Fascist port and Egyptian bases. When the British forces began their operations intended to reduce Derna, columns of Italian troops were leaving areas west of Tobruk in lorries bound for that town. They were caught in furious attacks by the Australians near Derna and are said to have surrendered in masses. Reports received here say that 10,000 Italians have been taken in the British drive westward from Tobruk.

In Tobruk harbor is the wreckage of 17 Italian ships sunk or damaged by British bombing and British shelling—including the old cruiser San Giorgio and three destroyers whose masts stick up from the water. The passenger steamer Liguria is still burning.

Call Mexican Envoy Home for Parley on Pact with U.S.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29 (AP).—Informed sources said tonight that President Avila Camacho had urgently ordered Ambassador Castillo Najera to return from Washington, D. C., for a series of conferences preparatory to the signing of an agreement settling all outstanding issues between Mexico and the United States. Conversations have been held recently between Castillo Najera and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles regarding settlement of claims for lands expropriated from Americans in Mexico and various other pending problems.

BRITISH STRAFE ITALIAN TROOPS FLEEING DERNA

English Patrols Already West of Libyan Base.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 29 (AP).—Royal air force planes leading the way for the British desert forces aimed at a cleanup of the Libyan port of Derna were reported by the R. A. F. command to have ground strafed Fascist troops retreating all the way to Barce, 100 miles west of Derna.

With British mechanized forces reported south and west of Derna and threatening Italy's hold on all eastern Libya, the Fascist retreat indicated Premier Mussolini's men apparently had decided against making a fight of it at Derna.

Instead, observers here believed the Italians would move on past Barce and make a stand at Bengazi, 150 miles beyond Derna on the western side of the Cirenaican hump which juts into the Mediterranean.

Protection for Troops.

The R. A. F. command said that in addition to strafing the retreating Italians its planes ranged over the Libyan sands, providing protection for the advancing desert fighters.

On the landing field at Martuba, near Derna, R. A. F. pilots said they found 11 Italian planes abandoned and unserviceable.

The air activity in Libya was but one phase of the latest R. A. F. assaults, which included raids upon Italian outposts on two other African fronts and night attacks upon Naples, western Italian port, and axis air bases on the island of Sicily.

Fires and explosions were reported started at Naples airdrome, the central railway junction, and freight yards there. On Sicily, British pilots said they started fires and explosions at Catania airdrome and at nearby Comiso.

Action in Eritrea.

The middle east command reported operations in the Agordat-Barentu sector of Italian Eritrea, about 80 miles from the Sudan border, were "developing." The capture of 73 more prisoners was credited to British forces pursuing Fascists retreating from Umm Hagar.

"Vigorous patrol activity" was said to be continuing in many areas inside Italian Somaliland. On the Ethiopian front the situation was described as "unchanged."

British Beaten Back: Rome.

ROME, Jan. 29 (AP).—A British armored division striking into Libya south of the port of Derna was beaten back by Italian troops, the high command reported today, with "noteworthy losses."

A British attack also was beaten back in the Gallabat sector along the Sudanese-Ethiopian frontier, the high command said, and Italian troops attacked other British forces along the Kenya frontier.

HITLER TO ADDRESS PEOPLE OF GERMANY OVER RADIO TODAY

BERLIN, Jan. 30, Thursday.—Headlines in the morning press announce that Adolf Hitler will speak to the German people over the radio at 4:30 p. m. [8:30 a. m. Chicago time]. The occasion will be the eighth anniversary of the National Socialist party's rise to power.

What Hitler will talk about was not announced but it may be assumed that the United States and the pro-British agitation there will receive attention.

The German thesis appears to be that only aid from the United States can enable Britain to carry on the war. It would not be surprising, therefore, were the Fuehrer to comment on the so-called lend-lease plan and recent statements of American leaders.

GIVE WORKERS MORE FOOD, CRY LONDON WOMEN

60 Invade Swanky Hotel in Demonstration.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—More than 60 women today staged a food demonstration in the swanky Savoy hotel. One of the witnesses was Wendell Willkie, who had lunch with Sir Robert Kindersley, chief of the government war savings campaign, and other business heads.

Sir Robert Kindersley.

The women for the most part were well dressed; some wore smart fur coats. They entered the hotel lobby by twos and threes, reached the dining room, sat down at tables reserved for others, and over the protests of waiters began ordering food.

It is against the law for hotels to refuse to serve guests, and the maitre de hotel told the women they would have to wait because every table had been reserved and he could not give them preference.

Women Unfurl Banners.

The women held their positions for almost an hour, then, at a signal, congregated in the lobby and unfurled banners with slogans such as "The government said eat less, but the rich get their fill" and "Ration the rich." They chanted "More food for workers" and "Why should the poor starve while the rich get all they need?"

Police tried gently to persuade the women to leave and they refused, saying they were prepared to pay for tea. They tried to cling to stairway rails as the hotel staff began forcibly ejecting them. Several were virtually carried from the hotel. A fight developed when one woman grabbed a six foot reporter by the hair and tumbled backwards, actually throwing him over her head.

An accusation that soldiers were receiving more food than workers in key industries was made in the house of commons by two Conservative party members, W. F. Higgs and Sir Herbert Williams. They said soldiers doing sedentary work were given eight ounces of meat daily, four times as much as men doing hard manual labor on munitions. Investigation was promised.

Willkie Tours Raid Shelters.

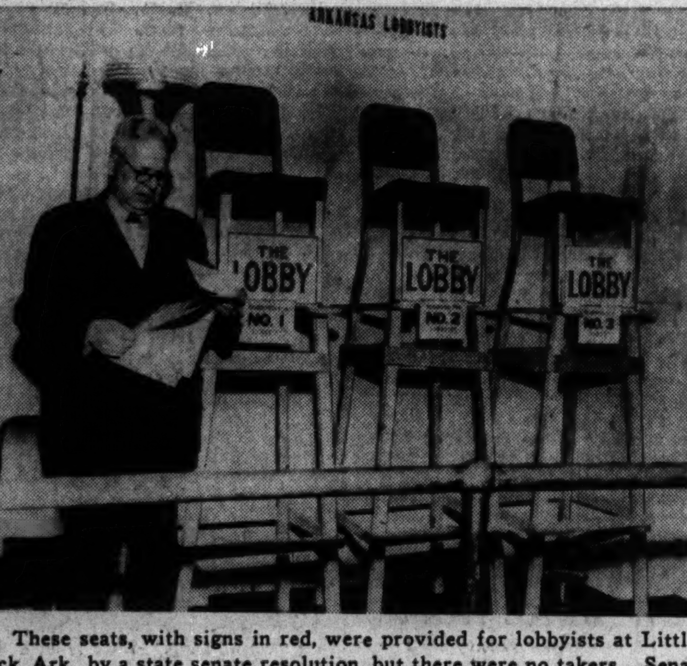
Willkie toured five London air raid shelters in three hours tonight while German raiders soared overhead and defense guns fired at them. Accompanied by Ellen Wilkinson, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of home security, he talked to many in the basement tunnels of two public halls.

Conditions in the shelters, he declared, were generally better than he expected and he did not "hear a single complaint."

Willkie earlier had attended a meeting of the Trades Union council and reported he was impressed with "the unanimous attitude of British labor." He had talks with Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, Polish premier in exile; Dr. Quo Tai-Chi, Chinese ambassador to London; Sir Andrew Duncan, minister of supply; Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, and Prof. Harold Laski, leftist economist.

Willkie indicated he would visit "Hell's Corner," the Dover area, and northern England next week before he cuts short his stay because of plane schedules. His revised plans may prevent him from visiting Ireland.

Lobbyists Refuse Seats



These seats, with signs in red, were provided for lobbyists at Little Rock, Ark., by a state senate resolution, but there were no takers. Senator W. H. Abington (left) drafted the resolution, saying his senate seat had been "appropriated" by an "outsider." [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Move Gallery Seats

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 29 [Special]. —Annoyed over lobbyists occupying their seats, members of the Arkansas senate provided a row of chairs set upon high standards and labeled with red signs "Lobby." Senator W. H. Abington, who drafted the resolution for the seats, complained that his chair particularly had been appropriated by outsiders. However, no lobbyists claimed the gallery seats so senate pages, without chairs, dismantled them and took them over.

4 HOUR BOMBING IS LONDON'S FIRST RAID IN 10 NIGHTS

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—Flares, explosive and fire bombs fell upon London tonight in an intermittent four-hour German air raid, the first to scar the city in 10 nights. The all-clear sounded before 10 p. m. Casualties were reported "not numerous and damage slight." Nazi big guns at the same time bombarded the Dover strait from across the English channel. No casualties were reported in Dover.

In a widespread assault Nazi raiders also were over the western and northern sections of England, East Anglia, central Scotland, and the northeast coast. In one northeast coastal town machine gun bullets spattered in the streets just as the people ran at dusk to the air raid shelters.

The day had been one of scattered, stabbing German forays. At least five persons were reported killed by three bombs dropped by daylight raiders along the Thames estuary. Bombs fell, too, at two points in the outskirts of London itself, but it was said officially that in these instances there were "very few casualties."

BAN JUGO-SLAVIA WEEKLY TELLING OF COL. DONOVAN

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 29.—The Jugo-Slav weekly news feature magazine Novi Svet was suppressed today and police, acting for the ministry of interior, confiscated 10,000 copies containing an article about Col. William J. Donovan, President Roosevelt's special envoy to Europe.

The article was nonpolitical and was devoted mostly to a biography of Donovan.

It is understood the censor objected to references to Donovan's conferences with Prince Regent Paul and to a Serbian farewell to the American. It was "Good-by, good luck, till we meet again!"

The confiscated copies of the magazine may be released tomorrow, it is said, if the objectionable portions of the article are removed.

Find U.S. Captain Shot Dead in Canal Fort Warehouse

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Jan. 29 (AP).—Capt. Robert Bennett, 29 years old, of Fort Worth, Tex., a West Point graduate of 1938, was found shot dead today in the signal corps warehouse at Fort Davis. Officers at the post said he had been ill several weeks ago in a Colon hospital, but had fully recovered. He was understood to have been intending to be married next month. He had been in Panama since last Sept. 17. He was in charge of the warehouse and officers said his affairs and accounts were in perfect order.

IMPOSE TRUCE ON INTERNAL STRIFE, RUMANIA WARNED

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 29 (AP). —Rumania was warned today by her pro-German newspapers to declare immediately a one-year truce upon all ideological conflicts "because of the international situation."

One article, speaking of reports of intensified soviet Russian armament, declared "we cannot afford experiences at home when there are signs of a storm in the neighborhood," even tho "we do not know in which direction it will rage."

Another article predicted that "the motorized German army will sweep thru the Balkan peninsula like a hurricane within a short time to deliver a blow so crushing that the enemy will never recover its sense."

The ministry of the interior announced that casualties in the Iron Guard revolt last week totaled 370 dead and 444 wounded in Bucharest alone. A special list issued tonight showed that 498 Iron Guardists had been arrested thus far for fomenting last week's revolution.

BRITISH PLANTS SHUT; NO COAL; MINERS ARE IDLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Reports from Lancashire tonight disclosed that coal pits in that area were being closed because of a lack of miners and that cotton mills were being shut from lack of coal. At the same time, thousands of miners in the Durham area were workless and pits were lying idle.

Operators and miners' leaders said attempts to transfer the miners from Durham to Lancashire had failed because of the men's reluctance to leave their home towns.

In the house of lords all parties criticized the government for the coal shortage muddle. The earl of Listowell condemmed "the deep seated maladjustment of the system of transportation and distribution."

BRITAIN CALLS UP BOYS 18 AND 19 AND MEN 37 TO 40 FOR WAR SERVICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A proclamation today compelling youths 18 and 19 years old, and men of 37 to 40 to register for military service, coupled with a conference on industrial man power led by Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin, form part of a new scheme to put every fit man in the nation from 18 to 41 "in the forces or in work of national importance." On top of this, Bevin also made another appeal to women to volunteer for work to replace men taken from key industries for military service.

Ernest Bevin.

Bevin today met representatives of the Trades Union congress, Federation of Employers, and other government officials, to lay down a program for the coördination of military and industrial man power requirements. Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production; Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, minister of supply; A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, and Capt. Oliver Lyttleton, president of the board of trade, attended the conference.

Negro Jazz Players Quit Parisian Clubs for U. S.

BRITISH TO PROBE SPECULATION IN BOMBED AREAS

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—A committee is being set up to investigate land speculation by brokers buying up bombed sites to resell to municipalities after the war, the government announced today in the house of commons.

A CBS broadcast from London yesterday said that the fire ruined "City," or financial section, was undergoing the "most hectic land speculation activity in its history."

"The speculators hope that, when the time comes for reconstruction in London, they will be able to name their own price for the land which they have snapped up while it remained useless," the broadcaster said.

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WORLD'S LEADING HAIR & SCALP EXPERTS FORTY-FIVE OFFICES

DANDRUFF means "trouble ahead"

● Dandruff clogs the hair follicle, causes itchy scalp, falling hair, and keeps new hair from replacing hair which has dropped out. Because there are several types of dandruff infection, cure-all surface remedies may spread rather than check your dandruff.

Thomas experts know how to recognize and check the various types of dandruff. They know how to stop your abnormal hair loss, how to overcome scalp itch, and how to promote natural hair growth for you. They have helped a quarter-million other persons to overcome their scalp troubles. Come in today for a free scalp examination and learn how they can help you, too, to avoid baldness.

INDIANA TROOP TRAIN WRECKED; 27 ARE INJURED

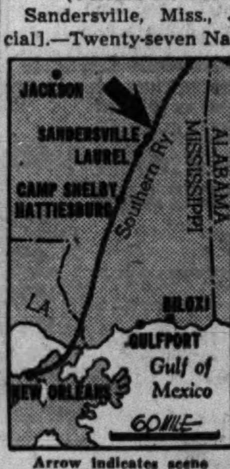
Sandersville, Miss., Jan. 29 [Special].—Twenty-seven National Guardsmen from Indiana were injured and a railroad fireman was killed today when a special troop train overturned near here while en route to Camp Shelby, Miss.



Arrow indicates scene of troop train wreck.

Nineteen of the soldiers were in hospitals tonight but most of them were believed to have escaped critical injuries. The most seriously injured was Corporal James Parker of the 151st infantry antitank company who was still unconscious nine hours after the accident.

Hosey L. Brown of Meridian, Miss., engineer of the train, told of his locomotive "bucking like a bronco," but asserted he was at a loss to explain the cause of the mishap. He escaped injury when the engine and eight cars overturned, killing Fireman A. V. Smith.

Engine 'Begins to Jump.'

"The train wasn't moving very fast," Brown related, "as I had slowed down to get a water tank signal at Sandersville. It was when I opened her up to go on thru after making the curve that I felt the engine begin to jump.

"For several hundred yards the engine careened madly. Then we went over."

The dispatcher's office at nearby Hattiesburg said no defects were found on the demolished engine and that there was no sign of any tampering with the tracks. It was suggested that rail spikes may have become loosened.

Camp Sends Ambulances.

Ambulances rushed here from Laurel, nine miles away, and from Camp Shelby, 35 miles southwest. An emergency first aid station was set up at the scene for the treatment of those not hurt badly enough to go to hospitals. Nineteen were taken to the General hospital at Laurel, but 16 later were moved to the army camp hospital.

Gov. Paul B. Johnson sent Maj. Thomas J. Grayson here to investigate the wreck. State highway patrolmen at the scene said three federal bureau of investigation agents were here.

Railroad men said the wrecked train was the sixth or seventh section of the troop transport from Indianapolis, the other special trains having passed safely over the track within the last 12 hours. The troops were part of the recently mobilized 38th division from Indiana, West Virginia, and Kentucky, en route to Camp Shelby for a year's training.

American Troops Landed for Base in Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 29 (AP).—The United States troop transport Edmond B. Alexander, bearing soldiers who will man the American defense base under construction here, eased thru the narrow channel into St. John's harbor today and was moored at her special berth. The 21,000 ton former German liner will be used as a floating barracks for the troops until living quarters are completed ashore at the new base.

STATE FARMERS DISCUSS ROLE IN DEFENSE DRIVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 29.—More than 4,000 farm leaders of Illinois convened here today for the 25th anniversary convention of the Illinois Agricultural association and its affiliated organizations. The main interest of the convention will be centered on the relation between the farmer and the defense program, in an attempt to establish the rôle that agriculture will play in the nation's defense.

Among the speakers who will address the group during the three day convention are Gov. Dwight H. Green, Chester C. Davis, member of the National Defense Advisory commission and member of the Federal Reserve board; Earl C. Smith, president of the association; and H. P. Rusk, dean of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

The first day was devoted to meetings and conferences of the 11 cooperatives and corporations owned and controled by Illinois farmers.

Boy, Watching Crew Lift Truck, Falls Into Lagoon

When George Waters' park district snow scraper broke thru the ice in Jackson park lagoon yesterday he didn't get a bit wet. Waters, who lives at 910 West 50th place, heard the ice cracking and leaped in time. But Edwin Karminsky, 12 years old, 5515 Everett street, a spectator, wasn't so lucky. He crowded too close as the park department was retrieving its motorized scraper and fell thru thin ice. He was hauled to safety with a rope.

HIGHWAY BUREAU UNDER FIRE IN HATCH ACT PROBE

Find Flagrant Violations of Clean Politics Law.

An investigation was reported yesterday to be pending into alleged violations of the Hatch clean politics law by employés both of the Illinois state highway department, during the Democratic administration, and of the Chicago Sanitary district. The Hatch law prohibits political activity by workers in state and local governments using federal funds.

Evidence of the inquiry was disclosed in Washington, D. C., when the federal civil service commission released reports of hearings before a house appropriations subcommittee in which Cecil E. Custer, finance, budget, and planning officer for the commission, told of reported flouting of the law in recent elections.

Find Widespread Coercion.

Custer said that preliminary investigation disclosed a widespread program in the highway department for forcing and collecting political contributions, including coercion of underlings by department officials. The prospective investigation may involve hundreds of state employés engaged in construction of roads partly financed thru federal funds.

"There is a possibility," Custer testified, "of a long and costly proceeding in which the commission may very likely have to work with the department of justice in the investigation and possible prosecutions under both the civil and criminal sections of the Hatch law." The civil service commission institutes only civil proceedings against violators.

Active in Elections.

Regarding the sanitary district, which uses federal funds for various Public Works administration projects, Custer said several employés were active recently in connection with elections in Chicago. A preliminary inquiry was started last Oct. 17, but has not been pressed, it was reported, because of the question of whether federal funds received by the sanitary district were provided for in contracts between the district and government prior to passage of the Hatch act.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney here, declined to comment about current or impending inquiries.

In recent months and long before passage of the Hatch act in 1939, a barrage of charges have been made from various sources of scandalous conditions in the state highway department. Evidence has been presented of pay roll paddings just before elections and numerous workers in the department have protested against their forced activities in violation of both the Hatch and civil service laws.

ART FILLED MANSION OF LORETTA HOWARD DESTROYED BY FIRE

Dayton, O., Jan. 29 [Special].—Fire today destroyed Maxwelton, the palatial 34 room home of Mrs. Loretta Hines Howard and burned paintings and art objects of undetermined value.

Mrs. Howard is in Aiken, S. C. She is the daughter of the late Edward Hines, Chicago lumber magnate. Her husband, Howell Hoffman Howard, who died in 1937 of injuries suffered in a polo game, was the son of Col. H. Maxwell Howard, Dayton publisher, sportsman and paper manufacturer.

The Howards' marriage in Chicago was a glamorous event of the 1925 social season. The ceremony was performed by the late Cardinal Mundelein at Holy Name cathedral before 2,000 invited and 1,000 uninvited guests.

REVEAL U. S. PAID FOR RADIOS IN 13 NEW DEAL HOMES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Thirteen members and division heads of the Federal Communications commission aren't above doing a little home work as long as Uncle Sam pays for it, congress was informed today. Secret hearings before a house appropriations subcommittee, made public for the first time, reveal that each of these officials has at home a phonograph-radio which was purchased at government expense and turned over to the members on custody receipts.

The sets were deemed necessary for "test" purposes, James L. Fly, chairman of the communications commission, said in reply to questions as to the authority of officials to spend public money for personal use. He said the officials wanted mainly to listen to the new frequency modulation broadcasts, an ultra high range recently opened to commercial use.

Fly described the radios in glowing terms, according to the transcript of the proceedings. They are capable of getting short wave reception as well as domestic broadcasts and are equipped with antennas to enable the individual commissioner "to receive almost anything that can be received by an ordinary receiver in this location."

It is only a coincidence, Fly insisted, that the outfits include phonograph turntables.

Dentist, 69, Is Found Dead of Gas Piped Into His Auto

Dr. D. M. Somerville, a dentist who lived at 202 West Main street, St. Charles, was found dead yesterday in his gas filled automobile south of the Cook county fair grounds in Melrose Park. Dr. Somerville, a widower, 69 years old, had attached a hose to the exhaust pipe of his car, placed the other end inside, and left the motor running.

SWITCHMAN CRUSHED BY TRAIN.

Lawrence L. Kirkwood, a switchman for the Illinois Central railroad, was crushed to death yesterday between a train and the loading platform at 16th street and Wabash avenue. He was 28 years old and lived at 258 North Hamlin avenue.

PAINTS FORD AS READY TO LEASE PLANTS TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—Representative Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.] said today he had been informed that Henry Ford had told government officials he would turn his automobile plants over to the government for operation at $1 a year rather than permit labor unions to have a closed shop.

Hoffman said "a man from Michigan" gave him that information last week. He declined to identify the man further. "But I do know that Henry Ford was reported to have made such a proposition," Hoffman said. "My understanding is that William Knudsen tried to get the Ford people to confer with Sidney Hillman, but they refused to do it."

Knudsen is director general of the office of production management and Hillman is associate director general.

Discounted in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29 (AP).—In the absence of Henry Ford from his offices at Dearborn today, sources close to the manufacturer said they had no knowledge of a statement attributed to him to the effect that he would turn his plants over to the government for operation rather than agree to a "closed shop." Ford is on a vacation.

REVIVE HEART ATTACK VICTIM.

An inhalator squad commanded by Lieut. Harry Mohr revived Mrs. Mabel Johnson, 43 years old, last night after she was stricken with a heart attack in her home at 4631 North Keating avenue.

LINES TO REJECT CITY'S TRACTION FRANCHISE TODAY

Negotiators to Tell Court Terms Are Impossible.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Chicago's 14 year attempt to establish a modern unified local transportation system will be dealt the stiffest jolt in more than a year this morning when a seven man board representing the city's transit lines will make an uncompromising report to Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. The federal court has jurisdiction over the transit lines.

The seven representatives have been negotiating with city officials since December, 1939, in an attempt to agree on a unified traction franchise. The franchise would set up a single transit company to undertake the long delayed purchase of modern transit cars and buses.

Franchise to Be Rejected.

This morning the seven officials in a unanimous report to Judge Igoe will reject the proposed franchise that was approved this month by the city council transportation committee and placed before the council after 13 months of negotiations. The report will state flatly that the franchise is unacceptable because it is not financially feasible.

This was learned on excellent authority last night, altho the seven transit negotiators themselves refused to disclose any of the contents of their report.

Today's statement, it was learned, will contend that the franchise plan, as drafted by city officials and submitted to the council, contains some provisions to which company officials did not agree.

See Modernization Barrier.

The report will state that these conditions impose financial burdens which would make it impossible for the proposed new company to raise credit, and that without credit the company could not carry out the 100 million dollar modernization program required under the franchise proposal.

The seven negotiators are Walter A. Shaw, traction adviser to the federal court; Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines; Edward E. Brown and Walter J. Cummings, surface lines' receivers; M. H. MacLean, representing surface lines' bondholders; Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the elevated lines, and Sidney M. Castle, representing elevated lines' bondholders.

The next move will be squarely up to Judge Igoe, observers said. They conceded that he might instruct transit officials to try further negotiations with the city, but recalled that the judge asserted previously that the many franchise conferences apparently have proved futile.

City officials are expected to defend the franchise at today's hearing.

Stork Visits Brenneckas Again; 20 in Family Now!

Another child, a daughter, was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brennecka, whose farm home is on route 173 west of Hebron in McHenry county. Her advent raised the total of the children of the couple to 18—nine boys and nine girls. A 19th child died in infancy. Brennecka is 53 years old and his wife, who was married at 16, is 43. The eldest son, Henry, is 26.

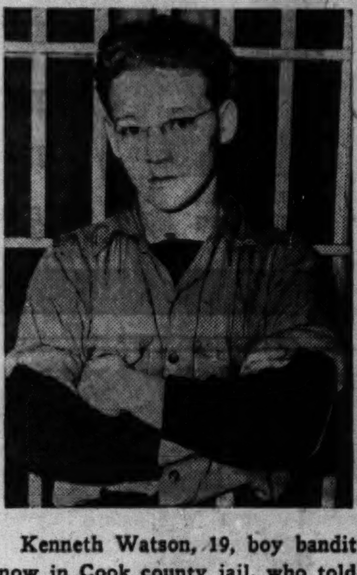
Leno Colonelli, age 16, New York girl who vanished from home six months ago. Shortly after she disappeared her father discovered that his $4,700 life savings was missing.



Kenneth Watson, 19, boy bandit now in Cook county jail, who told police that he eloped with the girl to Philadelphia and helped spend $2,000 within a few days.

Military Secrets Stolen from Army Officer's Car

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—Lieut. Joe K. Ellsworth, U. S. army, reported the theft of papers he said contained secret tactical data on antitank gunnery and new military regulations. The papers were taken from his automobile last night during a stopover here en route from Fort Benning, Ga., to Fort Lewis, Wash.

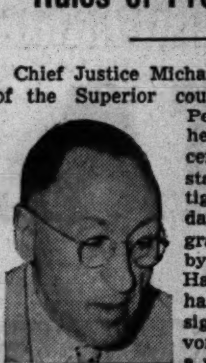
JUDGE'S DIVORCE HEARINGS PROBED BY COURT CHIEFS

Report Haas Violated Rules of Procedure.



Judge John F. Haas.

Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Superior court and Judge Peter H. Schwaba, head of the chancery division, started an investigation yesterday into divorces granted recently by Judge John F. Haas. Judge Haas has not been assigned to the divorce calendar, and Judge Schwaba said his action in hearing divorce cases was a violation of court rules.

Judge Haas' procedure was discovered when reporters were ordered out of his chambers about 9:30 a. m., before regular court hours, while he was hearing the petition of Mrs. Louise J. Varconi, 24 years old, of 29 Quincy street, a show girl. She filed suit Saturday for a divorce from her husband, Carl, charging cruelty.

Case Ordered Reassigned.

When Judge Schwaba was informed of the action, he ordered the case reassigned to another court. He and Judge McKinley said that divorce cases, which are matters in chancery, may not be heard by judges sitting in law, as Judge Haas is, except when transferred by the judges' executive committee.

An Illinois Supreme court ruling has held that divorces so granted in violation of Superior court rules are void, Judge McKinley said. However, all the divorce cases known to have been heard by judges sitting in law were default cases, and it is unlikely that either party would demand that the decree be vacated.

"I feel certain that Judge Haas was governed merely by a desire to be accommodating to attorneys," Judge McKinley said, adding that the investigation is not aimed directly at Judge Haas.

Judge Haas said he had granted 13 divorces since Dec. 1, and that the hearing of divorces by judges in the law division was a common practice.

Transfers Were Proper, He Says.

"All the divorce cases I have heard were properly transferred," he said. "The decrees are valid. I have heard these cases merely to be of assistance to lawyers, whose cases would not come up for a month or more on crowded divorce calendars. I have never undertaken to handle cases which were improperly transferred."

Judge Schwaba replied to this last evening that he believed circumstances in some of the cases had been misrepresented to Judge Haas, who has been a Superior court judge only a year, by attorneys seeking early action.

"He was just a good fellow," said Judge Schwaba. "Some cases were regularly assigned to law judges just before the holidays, when few jury trials were being held, and Judge Haas might have assumed that later ones were assigned to him when, in fact, they were not."

Judge Roger J. Kiley, assigned to the divorce calendar, refused to hear the Varconi case yesterday after the hearing before Judge Haas was halted. He set a hearing for Feb. 17.

Seek to Revoke Citizenship of 2 Who Went to Germany

Petitions requesting cancellation of the American citizenship of two former members of the German-American bund who have returned to Germany were on file yesterday in federal court. Those named are Alfred Ernst Willy Bennin, who formerly lived at 2125 School street, and Rudolph Carl Roeper, formerly of 1325 North Waller avenue.

Charges Fox Plot

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. AMANDA SODERBERG.

Arthur Turnipseed, 60 years old, was arrested in his apartment at 188 West Randolph street by state's attorney's police yesterday on a charge of violating the state securities act.

Arthur Turnipseed.

A warrant was issued on complaint of Mrs. Amanda Soderberg of 1635 Fargo avenue, who told officials that she and her husband, Bernard, a janitor, paid Turnipseed $2,000 for the ownership and keep of two breeding foxes.

The foxes were to remain on Turnipseed's silver fox farm at Richfield, near Crystal, and the Soderbergs were guaranteed a litter of three cubs yearly, she said. Last fall, she added, Turnipseed sent them a check for $750 as the sale price of two foxes, but took the check back later with the explanation that the purchaser had reneged. Turnipseed denied the charges.

CITY GETS 1½ OUT OF 50 MILLIONS FOR U. S. HOUSING

An allocation of $1,500,000 for the Chicago Housing authority was included yesterday in $49,862,000 earmarked for such projects thruout the country by the United States Housing authority at Washington, D. C.

No details were made public as to where the money would be expended in Chicago. Milton Shufro of the information service of the local authority said, however, that the $1,500,000 might be used for expansion of the north side housing project at Larrabee, Division, and Sedgwick streets.

Other such projects in the city are the Julia Lathrop homes at Diversey parkway and the river, the Jane Addams homes at Roosevelt road and Racine avenue, the Ida B. Wells homes, bounded by 35th and 39th streets and Cottage Grove avenue and South parkway, and the Trumbull park homes at South Chicago.

Michigan Avenue Tavern Closed by Police; 12 Seized

Police from the commissioner's office and the detective bureau late last night closed the Waldman tavern at 164 North Michigan avenue and arrested Albert Waldman, the owner; two employés, and nine male patrons. Sergt. Frank O'Sullivan of the comsioner's office said he will recommend revocation of the license. The detectives made the arrests, they said, after observing the conduct of some of the male patrons.

INSURANCE AGENT ROBBED.

Myron Michel, a life insurance agent, was robbed of $182 yesterday by a gunman who halted him as he left his home at 2814 Arthur avenue.

CURB ON STRIKES ON NAVY SUPPLY WORK DEMANDED

Vinson Introduces Bill to Provide Open Shop.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—Legislation to curb strikes on naval defense projects and outlaw attempts to compel workers on such projects to join or refrain from joining labor unions was introduced today by Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval committee.

Carl Vinson.

The measure, patterned in some respects after the national [railway] mediation act, would make strikes on naval projects unlawful until 30 days after a naval defense labor board had filed a report on the merits of the dispute.

Naval contractors involved would be prohibited from making any change in wage rates or other working conditions of their employés during the same period.

Author Explains Purposes.

Vinson, who has a reputation for getting his bills thru the house, said the antistrike measure would make it unlawful for any naval contractor by discrimination to encourage or discourage membership of his employés in any labor organization during the existence of the current national emergency.

It also would forbid any one to attempt to force workers to join labor organizations as a condition or prerequisite of employment on naval projects. The latter provision would affect the practice of defense workers being required to pay initiation fees to labor unions before being permitted to work.

Halt Wright Field Expansion.

Dayton, O., Jan. 29 (AP).—Work on a $1,550,000 army air corps expansion program at Wright Field was halted today when 400 A. F. of L. workers struck in protest against the employment of four electrical workers not members of the A. F. of L. Col. Lester Miller, field commandant, said Isaac Penner, president of the Penner Installation company of New York, contended the electrical workers belonged to the C. I. O.

Still Talking in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Jan. 29 (AP).—Officials of the strikebound Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company and the C. I. O. automobile workers said today they would resume conferences with federal conciliators tomorrow in an attempt to negotiate the eight day old work stoppage which has tied up work on 40 million dollars worth of defense orders.

Ask Strikers to Return.

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 29 [Special].—The management today asked 200 men involved in a strike in the rolling mill and steel press departments of the Simmons company plant to return to work tomorrow morning while negotiations are being continued. No response was received. The men went on strike Monday after negotiations on their demands for a 15 per cent wage increase broke down. Twenty-six hundred other employés were at work today as usual.

FIRE STARTS IN BEAUTY PARLOR.

Fire swept a two story building at 4714 South Ashland avenue yesterday and did damage estimated at $10,000. The blaze started in a second floor beauty parlor and threatened for a time to spread to an adjacent building.

SERVICE CREWS ASKED FOR 50,000 AIRPLANES IN 1942

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The army air corps has called upon the civil service commission to provide ground crews for 50,000 planes in 1942.

Commissioner Arthur S. Flemming told the house subcommittee on appropriations there are now 8,000 civilians employed as mechanics in the air corps and that 20,000 more will be needed to take care of plane servicing next year.

At the same time he said the navy's figures indicated that during the 1942 fiscal year 8,000 additional civilian workers will be needed to take care of operations at air bases.

$800 STOLEN FROM PURSE.

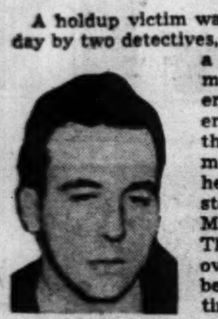
POSSE SPRINTS THRU LOOP AND SEIZES A BANDIT

Thief Finds Both Victim and Law Are Fleet.

A holdup victim was joined yesterday by two detectives, two patrolmen, a traffic policeman, and a passerby, and together they caught the bandit a few moments after he held up a hat store at 126 West Madison street. The chase was over in a hurry because the victim is a former city playground track star and one of the policemen is the department's sprint champion.



Joseph Spence.

The bandit, who gave his name as Joseph Spence, took $18 from Edward Hyman, manager of the store, then ran as Hyman began shouting for help. Hyman, holder of several medals for the 100 yard and 220 yard dash, followed.

Cops Spring Up Everywhere!

Toy revolver taken from Spence.

Detectives Edward Dennis and Lawrence Podesta, waiting at 24 South Wells street with the drunk, left him as they heard Johnson fire a warning shot.

Spence was finally run down at Washington and Wells streets. Albert C. Luttich, 60, of 4615 Grand avenue, Western Springs, a Chicago Surface lines supervisor, helped the posse by spreading his arms and gathering the bandit in.

Pleads Family In Need.

When the winded bandit got his breath he said he had held up the store and committed 12 other robberies to get money for clothing for his wife and infant daughter living in Chatham, Mich. He admitted, tho, that in the last six months he had sent them only $20.

A card found on Spence showed he had been placed on probation Oct. 16 for passing bad checks. He said this also was done for the wife and child. A toy revolver was found on him. Two other men, Bert Jacobson, 949 Madison street, which Spence also gave as his address, and Robert Sherlock, 109 West Elm street, were arrested later as robbery accomplices.

And the drunk? He waited patiently until Detectives Dennis and Podesta came back for him.

SHOVEL TURNS UP BODY; BELIEVED VICTIM OF GANG

New York, Jan. 29 [Special].—A new chapter in the year long investigation of Murder, Inc., the Brooklyn ring accused of 83 underworld slayings, opened today when a steamshovel turned up the lime-encased body of a man believed to have been Peter Panto, a foe of racketeering longshoremen.

District Attorney William O'Dwyer, of Brooklyn, under whose direction workmen unearthed the body near Lyndhurst, N. J., has said that if he could find Panto's body he was prepared to prosecute the murderers, whose identity O'Dwyer knows.

Panto is believed to have been slain because he led a rank and file movement against extortion and "kick back" methods of gangsters along the Brooklyn waterfront. His disappearance has been the subject of mass meetings by longshoremen.

No Records Played

MRS. EDITH FEILER.

Lawrence Feiler, radio engineer who announced last Friday that he wanted to produce phonograph records in the court of Judge Rudolph Desort to prove his wife, Edith, had been carrying on a romantic affair with another man, withdrew the request yesterday. Mrs. Feiler, who is 24 years old and lives at 8855 Lowe avenue, has filed a divorce bill, and Feiler has retorted with a cross bill.

The records were not taken to court yesterday and the wife's attorney, Norman Becker, demanded that they be put in evidence. Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr., for Feiler, said that his client did not want to injure his daughter, Jean, 4 years old, by bringing in the evidence. Jean's custody is being sought by both parents.

Judge Desort ruled that unless the records were brought in next Tuesday he would issue an attachment for Feiler's arrest. Feiler asserted he got the conversations as he stood at the door of a room occupied by Mrs. Feiler and the other man.

CALIFORNIA GETS ALIMONY ROW'S SLAYING SUSPECT

Harold Kirk, 45 years old, the alimony row prisoner who was discovered recently to be wanted in California on a 16 year old murder charge, was turned over to Sheriff Emmett L. Shay of San Bernardino county, California, by an order of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in Circuit court yesterday.

Sheriff Shay planned to leave today with his prisoner. Kirk faces prosecution for the murder in 1924 of James Winn, a taxicab driver.

A guarantee was received from California authorities that Kirk's return fare to Illinois will be paid if he is acquitted.

CRUSHED BY COAL TRUCK, SHOVELER DIES OF INJURIES

David Schneider, 54 years old, 5112 Strong street, a coal hiker, died in Swedish Covenant hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Jan. 21 when he was crushed by a truck backing into the yards of a coal company at 5838 North Pulaski road.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 77 persons had been killed in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these 58 died in Chicago, where 1,747 were injured during the same period.

Housewife Gets 10 Days in Jail as Drunk Driver

Mrs. Frances Reed, 45 years old, 6230 Vernon avenue, housewife, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty for driving while intoxicated. Mrs. Reed was so shaken by the sentence that Judge Dougherty gave her a stay of mittimus until tomorrow. Police testified she was driving down Western avenue near 55th street Jan. 12 sounding her horn loudly despite the absence of any other traffic. Her driving privileges also were suspended for 60 days.

33 ARE INDICTED FOR ALCOHOL TAX LAW VIOLATIONS

Two Millions in Revenue Lost, Says Official.

The federal grand jury returned 18 indictments yesterday charging 33 sugar dealers, cookers, helpers, truck drivers, and distributing agents with violation of alcohol tax laws.

The massed indictments are the second major attack on the new type bootleggers. Two weeks ago 35 men were indicted in Detroit. Of these 21 were Chicagoans.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, said the new indictments are only the beginning of vigorous prosecutions "which will be continued until the bootlegging business is stamped out." How profitable the business is was described by Martin S. Gerber, assistant United States attorney:

"Legitimate alcohol of the grade turned out in these stills bears a tax of about $5 a gallon. Profits to those who evade the tax are as much as 200 to 300 per cent of the cost of production, which is about $1 a gallon.

"The stills operated by the defendants produced enough in the few days they operated to deprive the government of 2 millions in taxes."

NAMED IN HOLDUP CASE

One of those indicted in the government's drive against bootleggers yesterday was Mike Battiato, 6103 Evans avenue, who figured in another Chicago crime story during the day.

Two young robbers shot a patron during an attempted holdup of the Players' club, a night life spot at 75 West Randolph street.

They told police Battiato had furnished them with revolvers and had suggested the robbery, and he was arrested. The robbers are Robert Trent, 20 years old, 630 West 55th street, a two weeks' bridegroom, and Thomas Hetherington, 23, of 3403 Hirsch street.

They were arrested after they fled from the club, where Hetherington shot John Meyer, a brick salesman from La Due, Mo., when the latter disobeyed his orders.

First they leaped into the cab of George Mattran. The latter pretended he had motor trouble and the robbers hailed another cab. Mattran called his cab company supervisor, John Bangert, and the latter, with an accident prevention squad car, caught up with the robbers.

Hetherington admitted firing the shot and the pair also said they committed two robberies on Jan. 10, in which they obtained $400. These also were suggested by Battiato, they said. Hetherington met and planned a crime career with Trent while both were in the Bridewell, Trent for a 30 day sentence on a disorderly conduct charge and Hetherington for a year's term for robbery. They were released recently.

$909,000,000 NAVAL EXPANSION MEASURE APPROVED BY SENATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The senate today passed and sent to President Roosevelt a 909 million dollar authorization for expanding naval construction facilities and building 400 new small craft for the navy.

Previously passed by the house, the bill authorizes 400 millions for building the 400 small craft, including submarine chasers and mine sweepers, 315 millions to provide equipment and facilities for government and private shipbuilding plants, and 194 millions for expansion of facilities manufacturing armor plate, munitions and ordnance material for the navy.

INQUEST DELAYED IN ALIMONY ROW DEBTOR'S DEATH

An inquest into the death of Gerhardt Andersen, 60 years old, who died Tuesday while waiting in the county building to be transferred to alimony row of the county jail, was continued until Feb. 19 yesterday to await completion of the analysis of vital organs by the coroner's chemist.

Dr. Paul G. F. Schmitt, coroner's physician, said in his opinion Andersen's death was caused by poison. He submitted a report indicating there had been no heart or other organic ailment. Joseph Di Leo, a deputy bailiff, testified that he found a three ounce bottle containing strong smelling liquid in the sheriff's lockup, where Andersen died.

Andersen had been ordered to alimony row by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington for contempt of court because of $1,680 arrears in temporary alimony due his wife, Annie, 2240 Granville avenue.

105 YEAR OLD IOWAN DIES.

Humboldt, Ia., Jan. 29. [Special].—Ole Johnson, 105, said to be Iowa's oldest citizen, died last night at Sioux Rapids.

Mayor Asks Help of Aids in Filling School Board Job

Mayor Kelly yesterday asked members of his citizens' school advisory committee to recommend a list of prospects for the school board vacancy created by the recent retirement of Mrs. W. S. Hefferan. Members of the committee who met with Mayor Kelly were Dean William F. Clarke of De Paul university school of law, chairman; George McKinley, and John Nering.

Good Moos
by Elsie,
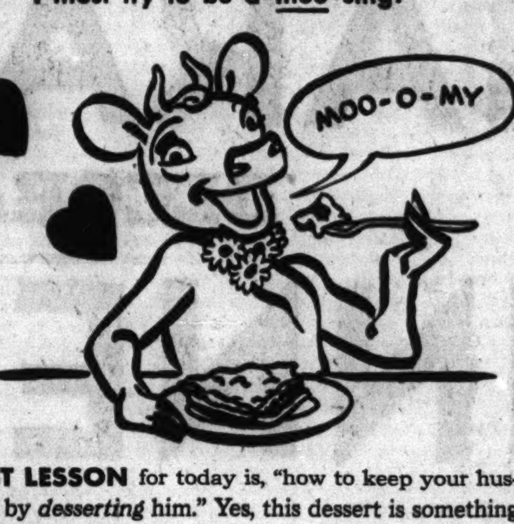
THE BORDEN COW

I confess I'm all a-jitter,
And my cownfidence I'm losing.
Pen in hoof, and heart a-twitter,
I must try to be a-moo-sing!



FIRST LESSON for today is, "how to keep your husband by desserting him." Yes, this dessert is something you can call "the berries"!

It's tasty Black Raspberry Ice Cream Pie, made with luscious, juicy raspberries sandwiched between creamy rich layers of Borden's vanilla ice cream. Each pie makes five ample portions. It's just the most grandelicious dish that ever set a man moo-eyed! As healthful as it is heavenly—and only 35¢! So run to your nearest Borden Ice Cream Dealer today!

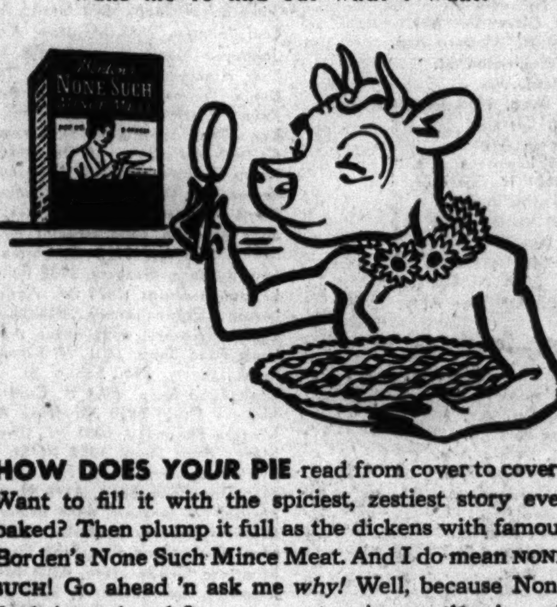
"Bake in low oven", the recipe cried,
So, taking the legs off the stove,
she complied.

IT'S COWLOSSAL!

SO YOU THINK a cow's tongue is rough, do you? Well, I'll be mighty smooth-tongued when I can pronounce "Homogenized"! Gracious, what a word! But our doctor says Borden-Wieland's new Homogenized milk is the most *cow*lossal development in milk since Pasteur! Means the cream's all broken up and mixed evenly throughout the bottle, to make the flavor grander than ever—and double-easy to digest. Say "boo!" (or "moo") to our milkman, or call BITtersweet 8600 for a bottle today. Only 1¢ more than ordinary milk.

MILK BOTTLE MAIL

"Please leave extra half pint of whipping cream this morning, but if the rain spoils this note please do not wake me to find out what I want."



HOW DOES YOUR PIE read from cover to cover? Want to fill it with the spiciest, zestiest story ever baked? Then plump it full as the dickens with famous Borden's None Such Mince Meat. And I do mean NONE SUCH! Go ahead 'n ask me why! Well, because None Such is conjured from a secret recipe, so there's positively no substitute for its fragrant, special delushusness. A million-dollar difference for only a few pennies more! Get a package and see—oh lucky, lucky you!

MAN OR MOUSE?

Bill Todd's wife claims she caught Bill by baiting a "man-trap" with Borden's Cheese!

EVER WANT to give a party all of a sudden? Why didn't you tell me? I'd bring up all seven of Borden's cocktail cheese spreads, for a real party! Vera-Sharp... Pimento... Relish... Roquefort... Pineapple... Limburger... Olive-Pimento! We'd make snappy sandwiches and colorful canapes—quick as the flick of a tail!

So you phone the guest—the guest gets the spreads—and what do you get? You get the lovely Swedish-style glasses the spreads came in! Beautiful modern-designed re-usable glasses—just what you'd select if you were buying glasses instead of their delectable contents!

Oh Mrs. O'Leary, that famous old dearie,
Had a cow—but it wasn't me.
For I am boardin' in the barns o' BORDEN,
So I've no kick coming, you see!

Make a Mocha Refrigerator Cake—and save some for me! Snip this recipe and save it like precious, girls! It's got more come-on than a gallon of perfume! And it calls for just one 15-ounce can of Borden's Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed milk. (Many other "Magic Recipes" on the folder that comes with every can, both the large can or the new half-size, half-price can.)

MOCHA REFRIGERATOR CAKE

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1⅓ cups (15 oz. can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
½ cup strong coffee
½ cup Brazil nut meats, finely chopped
24 vanilla wafers

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes or until mixture thickens. Add coffee and nut meats, blending thoroughly. Let cool. Line narrow, oblong pan with wax paper. Cover with layer of chocolate mixture. Add layer of vanilla wafers, alternating in this way until chocolate mixture is used; finishing with vanilla wafers. Chill in refrigerator 12 hours or longer. To serve, turn out on small platter and carefully remove wax paper. Cut into slices or squares to serve. Garnish with whipped cream. Serves 8.

See you next week...

SCARED SILLY.

A gentleman who has been devoting a good deal of time to studying the testimony in support of war bill No. 1776 says he has finally figured it all out. Mr. Orson Welles has reported by radio another landing of the Martians in New Jersey and a Gallup poll has been taken in the midst of the panic.

It is a charitable explanation. It assumes that the gentlemen of the cabinet have been scared out of their wits but may yet recover them. They are behaving like the terror stricken crowds which, in the middle of the night, took to the open spaces a year or so ago to escape Mr. Welles' Martians. Mr. Hull isn't waiting to put on his pants. Mr. Morgenthau leaps off the front porch, throws the keys to the treasury to a passing stranger and jumps into the car. Then he remembers to go back for the parrot and a box of marshmallows, just in case. When these have been tossed into the back seat, he joins the westward procession, steps on the gas, and tries to remember why he forgot to say good-by to the cat. The Gallup man is stationed at a red light. Everybody answers his question the same way. They are in favor of everything short of nothing.

That would explain such remarks as Mr. Morgenthau's assertion that if bill 1776 doesn't pass the British will at once stop fighting. Without it, they have been winning the war in Africa and Albania and holding off the threatened invasion of their island, but unless President Roosevelt is given precisely the powers specified in the bill the British are going to quit and invite Hitler to march his army down Piccadilly. If that idea, repeated by Mr. Morgenthau on several occasions in his appearance before the senate committee, is to be regarded as his sober judgment of men and events, Mr. Morgenthau will be the better for a protracted rest.

With the very general approval of the American people, the British have been drawing military supplies from this country, and their resources are by no means exhausted yet. They can continue to supply themselves here for many months to come before they scrape the bottom of their barrel, and this can be demonstrated on the basis of Mr. Morgenthau's figures of the limits of British purchasing power. There is no panic in London and no occasion for a panic in Washington.

And then there is Mr. Hull. He has generally been regarded by his countrymen as a moral man. Mr. Hull has denounced Hitler as a treaty breaker and as a man who has no respect for international law. On the stand Mr. Hull was asked whether the provision of No. 1776 which granted the President the power to outfit and repair belligerent vessels in our ports was in violation of international law. He said it was, but added that "the law of self-defense and self-preservation comes before all others." That is Hitler's story, too, and he has used it, as Mr. Hull is now using it, to justify him in doing what he wanted to do.

Herr Hitler has been condemned—and properly so—for violating treaties into which he had solemnly entered. He had pledged himself, for example, not to invade Poland for 10 years and to respect the neutrality of Belgium. When these pledges got in his way he forgot them. A few months ago Mr. Hull, for reasons which never impressed us, persuaded our Latin American neighbors to join the United States in a declaration establishing a neutrality zone about the Americas. The 1776 bill tears this treaty of ours into small bits. In Washington it is reported that the requirements of "self-defense and self-preservation" justify the disregard of our treaty obligations. Mr. Hull finds himself in the position of holding Hitler to a code of morality which Mr. Hull himself feels free to disregard at his pleasure.

It might add greatly to the reputation of these cabinet gentlemen for sanity and dignity if some one would sit down quietly with them for half an hour and explain to them that this country is in no immediate danger of invasion. Nobody, not even the Martians, is preparing an expedition against the United States. The Germans have not won the war. Their navy is negligible and their planes cannot fly the Atlantic. The Japanese navy is not designed to cross the Pacific. Our continental position is strong, protected as it is by island bases, and it is getting stronger as we acquire more of them in strategic positions hundreds of miles, and in some cases thousands of miles, off our shores.

We are sitting pretty. Today, of all the nations of the world, we have the least reason to fall into a panic. The people of other countries might be excused for thinking that unless No. 1776 is enacted at once the bottom will drop out of everything, but we know, or ought to know, that that isn't so.

GRANDPAS AND THE BOYS.

Among the men who testified in favor of war bill No. 1776 before the house committee on foreign affairs there were none, so far as we can recall, who were of fighting age or anything like it. Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Bullitt are 50 years old. The others are all nearing 70 or, like Mr. Stimson, have passed that mark.

Mr. Hull will be 70 at his next birthday; Mr. Stimson, 74; Col. Knox, 67; Gen. O'Ryan, 67; William Green, 68.

It is curious that the New Dealers didn't, just for the sake of appearances, hunt up a couple of young men to create the impression that those who will run the risks are in favor of the bill. Perhaps the men who are managing the bill thought that Miss Dorothy Thompson, the Brunnhilde of the Bronx, would do just as well. Or Mrs. Harriman, whose name carries weight in what is often called society.

Still, it would have been interesting to hear what the young men might have to say about risking their lives to force every country in the world to grant liberty to every man in the world, even to those who never had it and wouldn't know what to do with it if they had it.

FROM KAISER TO FUEHRER.

Wilhelm II., whose abdication ushered in the German republic, had a birthday anniversary Jan. 27; the anniversary of the régime which destroyed the republic is Jan. 30, when in 1933 Adolf Hitler became chancellor—82 years of life for the former kaiser and eight for Der Fuehrer in power. Between the flight of the Hohenzollern and the arrival of Hitler lie the events which prove the futility of the effort to make Germany a country of free people in a peaceable Europe.

President Wilson called Wilhelm the ruthless master of the German people and head of a government which had secretly determined to conquer the world and to sweep on to its purpose in a tide of blood. The former kaiser is now an old man at Doorn and the words which were applied to him are applied to Hitler who, with fewer restraints and fewer scruples, rules in Berlin and has his hands on countries the older war lord did not intend to touch.

The problem presented by the events leading from kaiserism to Nazism has many explanations and cannot be simplified, altho there is an effort to do so. That effort at explanation was made when Mr. Wilson turned the fire of his strong declarations against the rulers of Germany in 1917. The cause so found might yield to a simple remedy. It did not. The overthrow of the Hohenzollerns did not make a free people in Germany. The course of events, however they may be explained, produced another master more tyrannical, more powerful, and more dangerous.

H. G. Daniels in his history, "The Rise of the German Republic," observed as the result of his study of events still developing as he wrote: "The weakness of the republic was reflected in the psychology of the German people toward freedom. In their hands freedom was the negation of order, and they showed by unmistakable signs that they preferred obedience." The author completed his work in 1927. Hitler was on the horizon; and in less than six years he was in power, but at the time he wasn't an inevitability. However, he made good the prophecy.

Eight years ago the Nazis began compelling the obedience which the historian said the people preferred to the privileges of a freedom which was a negation of order. With their new political institutions they had been unable to arrive at the sufficiently broad base of common agreement upon which divergent political opinions could be debated, voted up or down, and accepted. Their parties were too numerous, their hostilities too bitter, and their prospects of compromise too remote. Altho no one thing wholly explains the downfall of the republic and the eight year rule of Hitler the reason advanced by Mr. Daniels cannot be left out of consideration. It could help explain why one "ruthless master," as the kaiser was called in the war talk of 1914-'18, was succeeded by one still more ruthless.

To simplify the cause was to miss it. We dramatized and personalized it. We found a demon, sent him packing, ignored why he existed, and got another. We found a person and closed our eyes to a people. It was a sin against reality to be blind to the potentials of the German people, to think that they would not unite, to think they wanted popular government, and to build a Europe on such sands.

CUBA FOREVER LIBRA.

In what certainly was not one of the higher flights of statesmanship Senator William H. Smathers, New Jersey Democrat, introduced a resolution proposing the admission of Cuba to the American Union as a state. This may have been a graceful acknowledgment of favors received, a tribute to pleasant days on the island, and the bow of a guest to his hosts. Mr. Smathers' sentiments need not be examined. Undoubtedly he meant well.

Curious as it may seem, there was a disposition in the Cuban parliament, congress, or general assembly to take the proposal as an insult delivered by Yankee imperialism. A resolution was introduced to put the arrogant usurper in his place. A Cuban lawyer of distinction, the president of a Cuban bar association, having said that he favored the idea, has been ordered arrested by the minister of the interior.

What goes on here? Mr. Smathers proposed for Cuba an honor beyond its expectations. The insult has not followed. That would be the rejection of the proposal. The United States senate, as a good neighbor, will avoid the issue. Cuba's liberty is not endangered by the possibility of becoming a constituent part of the United States. If this is all it fears it is forever free. Calm yourselves, señors.

Editorial of the Day

A PHONY.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The pious action of the joint legislative committee, headed by Senator L. N. Searcy of Eminence, is phony and nothing less.

It looks good on its face, but Missouri has surely learned enough from the disgraceful proceedings at its state capitol to know that things can no longer be taken on their face.

What the Democratic leaders now propose—what they propose in virtual contempt of the State Supreme court before which Donnell's mandamus suit is pending—is to open, recanvass and recount "all legal ballots cast in the November election."

But who is going to say which ballots are "legal" and which are "illegal"?

The answer is that those who are trying to steal the governorship will decide this vital point.

Under such a political arrangement, what is going to assure Missouri that an honest recount in one county will be duplicated in the next?

What the Searcy committee proposes is that a partisan committee have the power to throw out ballots before the final recount. In other words, a nonpartisan recount, but a partisan judgment as to the legality of ballots.

Missouri cannot accept a farce like that.

There are two courses for the Democratic leaders who have got Missouri into this jam.

One is to seat Donnell and agree to a complete and honest recount to which no one will object.

The other is to abandon the whole conspiracy to steal the governorship.

War and its strange standards of legality are well summed up in the cry lately overheard in a schoolyard soccer game, "Hey, you got to cheat fair!"—Detroit News.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

JOHN BULL, MUSICIAN.

A columnist drags his work around with him like a galley slave, and wherever he goes his words of yesterday or the day before pursue him like harpies. For example, the Linemaster repaired to the bar of his club, seeking there naught but a small cup of aquavit to prepare his appetite for the smorgasbord, but before he could order these refreshments a small group of wayward hecklers sprang up to charge him with having falsified the story of the origin of John Bull [Jan. 23].

They claimed that John Bull, the cartoon character symbolizing England, originated in a musician named John Bull, who was the composer of the British national anthem, "God Save the King," or queen as the case may be. When asked where they had found this fine bit of folklore, they stated that they had read it in the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Well, we'll have to teach those babies how to read the encyclopaedia. . . . It is a curious fact that a composer named John Bull is credited with a share, a slight share, in the air that goes with "God Save the King." He was an organist who flourished in Shakespeare's time and left a batch of manuscript compositions.

More than a century after his death, or in 1740, a certain Henry Carey appears to have sung "God Save the King," words and music, as his own composition. Later on his authorship was questioned, and scholars dug up earlier forms of the words and music, including an "Ayre" of 1619, attributed to the aforesaid John Bull. Other early ditties into which Henry Carey may have dipped are a Scottish carol, "Remember, O thou man," 1611; a ballad, "Franklin is fled away," printed in 1669; and a piece in Purcell's "Choice Collection for the Harpsichord," 1696.

We fail to see how all this turns John Bull, the organist, into John Bull, the pen and ink beefeater of Britain. . . . May we now give our undivided attention to the smorgasbord?

EAGLE ABOVE THE GULLS.

[Referring to Charles Augustus Lindbergh.]

Time and distance
Are very small things
To the swinging beat
Of a young eagle's wings.

A young eagle's soul
Is up in the sky;
Something demands of him:
"Fly, eagle, fly!"

An eagle, grown older,
May soar or may rest
Upon a high crag—
If there is a nest.

The fierce urge to sweep
Still presses him hard;
But instinct is saying:
"Guard, eagle, guard!"

Below, gulls may scream
In endless commotion,
As gulls always do,
From this or that notion.

Let us remember
That gulls shrilly crying
Are always just gulls,
Guarding or flying.

Memories of a Boy Next Door.

Johnny was our next door neighbors' son, typically American. We always felt that we had a part interest in Johnny because we had known his parents for years and had watched him grow from infancy to manhood. A manhood he felt called upon to prove by joining his country's forces when war came.

Then one day a letter came to Johnny's home, a very official letter; a letter whose lightness could hardly disguise the weight of sorrow its message brought. In some far battlefield Johnny had paid a high price for his patriotism, and perhaps mine, and his parents would pay for it over and over again in heartaches. The spirited boy that had made the house next door so bright and gay was gone.

The house next door is a different one today—a quieter one. Age has suddenly crept over our two fine friends. Of course they are still gay at times but the old sparkle is lacking. It is not the gayety that once we knew.

Today, as I read the headlines and realize my war fever is rising, a name stirs in my memory, an old familiar one—Johnny. And my conscience whispers, "What part did you play in Johnny's death?" I recall the old patriotic saws—high sounding phrases about moral issues, defense of home and country, all spoken so glibly. I remember how I thrilled to the news that Johnny had enlisted and how little my enthusiasm was shared by his parents. Ah yes, my conscience, you are an evil partner to stir such thoughts in me just as the fever is coming on again. Ward Monte.

TO BE WRITTEN ON WATER.

Not love, not love, shall light my evening star
Nor touch my face with gentle wanderings
Nor make my gaze irresolute and far
Nor garner me the songs a lover sings. . . .
—But since I sang a pattern has been cut
Like to no other that my life has known.
If this be love, my heart might well be put
To burning like a candle lit alone
Before a stranger shrine than any know,
A shrine to elder gods than I adored.
A passive victim stands before you, Lord.
The landmarks shiver and the hills fall down . . .

WE STILL HAVE SCURVY.

WITH the ready availability of fruits—particularly oranges, lemons, grapefruit, and limes—there would seem to be no reason to call attention to the absence of vitamin C in the average diet. Even tho deprived of citrus products, we can depend upon cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, spinach, new potatoes, turnips, peas, lima beans, tomatoes, and pineapple to furnish generous amounts. Why, then, should any one become a victim of scurvy?

A recent series of cases points to the fact that despite all the information at hand, some persons will insist on limiting their menus, excluding most of the C elements. Perhaps we fail to recall that we can and do destroy the vitamin by prolonged heating, cooking in uncovered kettles with free access of air, or by adding soda. Then, too, we are likely to throw away the "pot" water, which contains most of the C, as it is soluble and may thus be lost in the routine preparation of food.

Fortunately, we do not encounter the horrible examples of scurvy that were described among sailors two or three centuries ago. Obliged to subsist largely on salt meats, few, if any, vegetables were supplied, with the natural result—sore mouths, loosened teeth, and bleeding gums.

But we do find, all too frequently, a large number who do not obtain enough of this essential. The disorders which these patients present include loss of weight and appetite, muscular weakness, general lassitude, and even irritability. Some will assert that every breath is an effort. Then, too, wounds, cuts, and scratches may heal slowly. While there are many causes for these important signs, by and large the most common responsible factor is too little C.

There is one simple test—namely, to so modify the diet that a considerable quantity is provided. Then observe the result. Naturally, the state of the digestive tract must be studied, as individuals may differ in their power of absorption. If an accurate estimate is desired, it is now possible to determine the percentage of C in the blood. The procedure is not difficult, and it is generally agreed that if there is less than .50 milligrams in each 100 cc. of the circulation, reinforcements are in order.

In a series of 48 babies who were artificially fed, and who received insufficient orange juice, figures as low as .12 milligrams were discovered. As we would expect, several instances of scurvy appeared in this group.

But regardless of the blood levels, it is well to consider the patient's own behavior and to analyze his symptoms, as occasionally those exhibiting low readings of the vitamin will complain of no disturbance of any type. To be on the safe side, however, there is every reason to believe that a fair proportion of our population needs more C.

Of course, it is far easier to prevent this form of deficiency than it is to apply the remedy after the ailment is discovered. In the first place, we do not know how much damage to vital organs may take place thru upsetting so complicated a machine as the human body by means of a poorly balanced diet. This emphasizes all the more the value of adhering rather strictly to a well planned régime, which comprises not only an adequate ratio of C, but all other food accessories.

DIABETES.

T. L. writes: Are there mildly active cases of diabetes in which sugar shows only occasionally in the urine?

2. Do these patients require the same treatment and diet as do those with the more severe type?

REPLY.

1. Yes.

2. They should. An examination of the sugar in the blood will probably show a high level.

IODINE FOR MOLES.

M. C. writes: Will the persistent application of iodine remove a mole? Is this a safe remedy?

REPLY.

Not advised. An iodine burn may result. Furthermore, brownish blemishes, such as moles, should not be tinkered with as their cells are potentially cancerous. Only a skilled physician should be permitted to remove them.

PARAPHRASE.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Adapting President Lincoln's words as written to Horace Greeley, giving his views on saving the Union, to make answer to the arguments for intervention in the present European war we have:

> If there be those who would not save America and the American way of life unless they can at the same time save every government in the world, large or small, called a democracy, I do not agree with them.
> If there be those who would not save America unless they could at the same time destroy totalitarianism in the world, I do not agree with them.
> The burden of my argument is that we save American democracy and the American way of life, and not either to save or destroy any present European political philosophy.

This is a statement of conclusions the martyred President might well have urged in the present crisis.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTE.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—An interesting little article in a recent issue of THE TRIBUNE told of the discovery, in a load of junk, of a copy of the Ulster County [Ireland] Gazette, dated Jan. 4, 1800.

This is unquestionably one of the innumerable reproductions or facsimiles of a little newspaper printed, not in Ireland, but at Kingston, Ulster county, New York, by Samuel Freer & Son. This Kingston newspaper carried an account of the death of George Washington which, for some reason, found favor with editors and publishers. It was reprinted again and again in forms which purported to be reproductions or facsimiles of the original issue. These reprints were issued as souvenirs on all kinds of occasions. A hundred thousand copies or more of one of these reprints were distributed at the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. Literally millions of copies have been put in circulation from time to time. Some 65 varieties of these reprints are known.

There is just exactly one copy in existence now of the bona fide original issue of Jan. 4, 1800, printed at Kingston. It is in the Library of Congress. After years of search and the patient examination of thousands of the reproductions, hopefully submitted by their owners in the expectation of getting a fantastic sum of money for their "old newspaper," a genuine copy of the original was finally discovered and acquired by the Congressional library in November, 1930.

ALBERT H. ALLEN.

WHO'S WHO.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Isn't it rather strange that we do not find any of our war heroes among the groups of interventionists?

And why is it that the overwhelming majority of those who are extoling the merits of the dictatorship bill are either too old to serve or never saw naval or military service? STANLEY CARLETON.

FOR NO. 1776.

Pleasantville, N. J., Jan. 18.—Can any one name a major political crisis in history thru which a people were safely guided by a divided responsibility of leadership?

Does not the prosecution of full all out aid to those fighting totalitarian powers and the strengthening of our defenses require the most liberal and unusual freedom from restrictions and limitations so that in emergencies there will be no confusion, interval of time or fatal delay in action taken? For instance, if Britain fell, would we have to start a palaver in congress to allow the British navy access to our harbors and navy yards when this navy is our chief protection in the Atlantic?

Is Adolf Hitler correct in stating that democracies in general and ours in particular cannot achieve in time to protect itself the necessary national determination, unity of action, and coördination of effort for its own defense?

While the world burns we see a coterie of little men inside congress and out seeking to delay, confuse, and any wise obstruct a great nation in its attempt to defend itself and to send means of defense to those fighting democracy's battle, which battle is ours now or later. We see now and are promised more later that all parliamentary strategy and cloak room trickery will be brought to bear against the lease-loan bill to weaken, emasculate and if possible to prevent enactment of this our charter of defense.

I do not want war for personal reasons. I have two sons of military age and am a world war veteran myself. One son is now in the United States navy and the other has completed a term in the regular army. But I believe we must give the administration all power of action for our defense and aid to others to keep out of active participation ourselves. Half hearted measures will fail. If we cannot trust our elected commander in chief we might as well acquiesce in Hitler's plan of world dominion and become the yes men of the dictators.

We will very shortly learn if Hitler has shrewdly gauged the democracies and has once again called the turn.

HIGH WATER MARK.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—The radio address of Dr. Hutchins, of Jan. 23, is the high water mark in the discussion of America's policy in the present European affairs. For clarity and sheer intellectual honesty it represents something refreshing, after the propaganda from either side. With no personal gain, or inducement, Dr. Hutchins boldly points out our present status and our future destiny. I once had a colonel in the last world war, on whose staff I served as regimental gas officer, who stated "there are many smart men in America but very few big ones." Dr. Hutchins' remarks single him out as a "big American."

FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—At the elections each year we go to the polls to vote for our representatives in congress and in the senate and other bodies. Now, then, say after election, the representative elected does not do what the people who elected him want him to do, or is contrary to their best interests.

1. What can be done?
2. Can he be recalled?
3. Can a new vote be taken and a new representative be elected?
4. Can he be impeached?
5. Can a poll be taken of all the people in the district, the results of the poll submitted to him, and he be made to do according to the dictates of his constituents?
6. An illustration: Say there is a district in my state with a voting population of 1,000 people. At the election we elect a man to congress. He goes to Washington and immediately starts clamoring for war when of the 1,000 people in his district 995 do not want to go to war. Are these people powerless to do anything or must they stand still while this hysterical bigot, whom they have created by their vote, proceeds to destroy them or at least every fourth son?

G.O.P. STEPS INTO FULL CONTROL OF ILLINOIS SENATE

Republicans Assume Role Over All Committees.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—The full measure of Republican control of both houses of the Illinois general assembly was emphasized today with the appointment of the standing committees of the state senate.

The G. O. P. took over the house of representatives two years ago, therefore the committee assignments there did not show a great change. But there was cause for a hearty post-election party chortle when the senate replaced Democratic chairmen and majorities on all committees with Republicans.

Some changes looking solely to efficiency were made in both houses. Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross and Majority Leader Arnold P. Benson reduced the number of senate committees from 35 to 28. Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg reduced the size of many cumbersome bodies, allotting seven places on each to Republicans and five to the Democrats. The reductions eliminated a total of 110 committee memberships,

New Chairmanships.

Agriculture—Lantz, Congerville.
Appropriations—Gunning, Princeton.
Banks, Building and Loan Associations—Beckman, Kankakee.
Civil Service—Knox, Chicago.
Education—Downing, Macomb.
Efficiency and Economy — Laughlin, Freeport.
Elections—Flagg, Moro.
Enrolling and Engrossing — Droste, Mount Olive.
Executive—Searcy, Springfield.
Forestry, Fish, and Game—Crisenberry, Murphysboro.
Industrial Affairs—Thompson, Harrisburg.
Insurance—Bidwill, River Forest.
Judiciary—Barr, Joliet.
License and Miscellany—Ewing, Douglas.
Military Affairs and Aviation—Peters, St. Joseph.
Motor Vehicle and Traffic Regulation—Leonardo, Chicago.
Municipalities—Dixon, Dixon.
Oil and Gas Conservation—Carpentier, Moline.
Parks and Playgrounds — Arnold, Quincy.
Public Health and Welfare—Benson, Ottawa.
Public Utilities and Railroads—Serritella, Chicago.
Revenue—Baker, Davis Junction.
Roads and Bridges—Paddock, Round Lake.
Rules—Benson, Batavia.
Contingent Expense—Speakman, Danville.

The three other senate committees are those to visit the charitable, educational, and penal institutions. The Republican chairmen, in that order, are George C. Armstrong, Lawrenceville; Wilbur J. Cash, Towanda, and Robert W. Lyons, Oakland.

Every Republican a Chairman.

The lowered total of committees—28—exactly tallies with the Republican membership so that each Republican has a chairmanship, but none has two.

In naming committee chairmen in the house, Speaker Schnackenberg faced an unusual difficulty. He was elected unanimously and therefore was under obligation to give consideration to each of the 79 Republicans in the house. When a speaker is chosen thru a mere caucus majority, he is expected to give preference to his supporters. Under these conditions, Schnackenberg is said by disinterested observers to have done a good job, an important part of his task being to hold the party majority united and avoid splitting it into factions.

The chairmen of some of the important house committees are:

Agriculture—Collins, De Kalb.
Appropriations—Green, Jacksonville.
Banks and Building and Loan associations—Granata, Chicago.
Civil Service—Clabaugh, Champaign.
Education—O'Neill, Downers Grove.
Efficiency and Economy—Thon, Oak Park.
Elections—Sandquist, Chicago.
Industrial Affairs—Keller, Waukegan.
Insurance—Topping, Kankakee.
Judicial Practice and Uniform Laws—Jenkins, Chicago.
Judiciary—Swanson, Chicago.
License and Miscellany—Petrone, Chicago.
Motor Vehicles and Traffic Regulation—Broche, Chicago.
Municipalities—Van der Vries ,Winnetka.
Public Utilities—Nowlan, Toulon.
Revenue—Saltiel, Chicago.
Roads and Bridges—Hunter, Rockford.

Speaker Schnackenberg told job seekers today that altho the house has authorized the customary number of payroll positions, many of them, such as those of committee clerks, will not be filled until needed.

HOUSE ADVANCES PEGGED LEVY BILL TO THIRD READING

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

James B. McCahey.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—The house, after several hours of argument, today sent to third reading the bill pegging the Chicago Board of Education's tax levy at $52,000,000 for 1941, 1942, and 1943. The roll will be called tomorrow on third reading, the passage stage, and indications are that the measure will be passed with the 102 votes necessary to make it effective immediately. The bill passed the senate last week.

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, outlined the bill before the house, sitting as a committee of the whole. He declared the bill to be of an emergency nature, and that the board will be without funds on Feb. 1 unless it is passed.

McCahey said the board managed to pay teachers' salaries for January only by not paying bills for supplies. He explained that the pegged levy had been limited to three years following a conference with Gov. Dwight Green.

Cuba Jails Lawyer for Urging U. S. Statehood

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 29 (AP).—Rafael Calzadilla, Cuban lawyer, was arrested by secret police today on a charge that he had expressed himself as favoring the admittance of Cuba as a state of the United States. Calzadilla, president of the bar association of Guanabacoa, near Havana, was said to have sent to the United States senate the association's approval of a resolution proposing statehood for Cuba.

BLOWTORCH CAUSES FIRE.

AIRPLANE WILL HELP SPOT LANES IN ICE TO SPEED ORE FLEET

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—Representative Fred Bradley [R., Mich.] today was informed an airplane would be assigned to Traverse City, Mich., about March 1 in an effort to get the ore fleet going as soon as possible.

"There is a terrific demand for the ore in connection with the national defense program," Bradley said.

Capt. L. T. Chalker of the coast guard wrote Bradley that "one of the first duties of the plane will be the obtaining of full information on ice conditions and keeping steamship companies advised of them in order to expedite the early opening of navigation this spring."

It was hoped to get the boats out by April 1 with the help of the airplane spotting movement of ice fields, Bradley added.

NEGRO HOLDS UP HOUSE PRAISE OF U. OF I. BAND CHIEF

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29 [Special].—As the house of representatives was about to adjourn today, Representative Charles J. Jenkins [R., Chicago], one of the Negro members, protested immediate consideration of a resolution sent over from the senate which praised the 40 year career of Prof. Austin Harding, director of the University of Illinois band.

"Prof. Harding," Jenkins declared, "has been director of the band for almost 40 years, but not once has he seen fit to include a colored student in the band despite their preëminent musical ability. I don't say now that I will not vote for this resolution eventually, but I think it should have the committee consideration accorded most other resolutions."

MORE BILLS POUR INTO HOPPERS OF STATE ASSEMBLY

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29 [Special].—Another batch of bills were presented in both houses of the legislature today. Some of them, with their sponsors, are digested below. In the house:

Edward Hayne [D., Ottawa]—Would make it unlawful for buses carrying seven or more passengers to travel on highways unless they are capable of attaining a speed of 28 miles on a 7 per cent upgrade.

William J. Lawler [R., Springfield] and W. O. Edwards [D., Danville]—Railroad full crew bill.

Edward P. O'Grady [D., Chicago]—Would prohibit employers from refusing to employ persons solely because they were more than 45 years old.

Paul Powell [D., Vienna]—Would impose a tax of 5 cents per barrel upon the production of each person engaged in the business of producing oil, receipts to be earmarked for old age assistance.

Paul Powell [D., Vienna]—Would impose a tax of 5 cents per barrel upon oil imported into Illinois after Sept. 1, 1941.

Digest of bills introduced in the senate:

Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago]—Would repeal three day notice of intention bill substituting a one day wait after marriage license is obtained.

Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago] sponsored a bill seeking authorization for the Chicago board of education to operate a four year college course, rather than the two year Junior College courses now permitted.

LOS ANGELES IS CENTER OF LONG, SHARP TEMBLOR

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—The metropolitan Los Angeles area was jolted late today by a sharp earthquake lasting about 10 seconds. No property damage nor loss of life was reported.

The shock began at 7:34 p. m. [Chicago time] and was felt in Alhambra, San Gabriel, Monrovia, Glendale, Monterey Park, Temple City, Santa Monica, Pasadena, Hollywood, Arcadia, and on the Los Angeles county coastline.

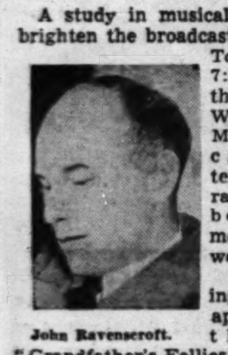
BOOGIE WOOGIE TO BARBER SHOP ON W-G-N SHOW

In Chicago Tonight Offers Evening of Contrasts.



John Ravenscroft.

A study in musical contrasts will brighten the broadcast of In Chicago Tonight from 7:30 to 8 o'clock this evening over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. Music will range from barber shop harmony to boogie woogie jazz.

The Six Singing Waiters, who appear nightly in the show, "Grandfather's Follies," at the Blackhawk restaurant, will present highlights from the show. The Singing Waiters are Billy Barron, Arthur Equilio, L. Harlen McCoy, George Gramlich, E. Equillo, and Sydney Pepple.

The broadcast then will move into the field of hot music, as purveyed by the King's Jesters, and their queen, Mary Ruth Milam, and so onward into the realm of incandescent rhythm of Roy [Little Jazz] Eldridge, the trumpet virtuoso, and Maurice Rocco, the swing and boogie pianist. The Jesters are Francis Bastow, John Ravenscroft, and George Howard. Miss Milam sings with them.

Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra will provide the music for the show which is directed by William A. Bacher.

VICTIM OF HOAX, GIRL, 14, AIDED BY ROOSEVELT

Anna Skiepovich. [AP Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 [Special].—Anna Skiepovich, a shy school girl of Gary, W. Va., received a letter from a White House secretary congratulating her on her 14th birthday tomorrow, since it falls on the same day as President Roosevelt's 59th. But some prankster—she suspects her brother Steve—had opened the letter first and added a postscript suggesting she visit the President.

In high excitement, Anna traveled the 400 miles here by train and went immediately to the White House. From brusque officers who sent her to a receiving home she learned she was the victim of a cruel joke. But the President read about her in a newspaper and decided to turn the tables.

At his direction she was brought to visit him. Now, in the manner of a Cinderella, she has been established in a luxurious room in one of Washington's finest hotels. Chaperoned by a policewoman, she will attend a series of Presidential birthday balls tomorrow night and see movie stars and capital celebrities.

TRIBUNE STUDIO COLOR PHOTOS ON SHOW IN CAPITAL

Occupying an entire wing of the art gallery, the 40 prints, all mounted for exhibition, have drawn the attention of downstate photographers and art lovers.

The prints, in beautiful natural color, range from portrait matter, including a group of motion picture stars, to reproductions of famous paintings, still life effects and landscapes.

The exhibition will be available to the general public all thru the month of February. No charge is made for admittance to the gallery.

THREE PAY ROLL BANDITS TAKEN TO JOLIET PRISON

Nine prisoners left the county jail for Joliet penitentiary yesterday, including three sentenced for the $9,174 pay roll robbery last July 19 of Harry Walsh, chief guard for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The three are Peter Allegretti and Anthony Lullo, who received terms of a year to life, and Neal Rizzo, sentenced to one to ten years. The first two pleaded guilty of robbery recently before Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court. Rizzo, who pointed out the Tribune car to the others, was found guilty of larceny. Walsh was shot several times when he sought to protect the pay roll.

BADEN-POWELL POST AS HEAD OF SCOUTS FILLED

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—Lord Somers, deputy chief Boy Scout for Great Britain since 1936, was appointed chief Scout of the United Kingdom today in accordance with the wishes of Lord Robert Baden-Powell, the founder, who died three weeks ago.

Lord Somers, 53 years old, served in the world war and was acting governor of Australia in 1930-1931.

Lord Hampton, chief Scout commissioner, said "there will never be another world chief Scout" to succeed Lord Baden-Powell. "We feel," he said, "that title should be kept for our chief and founder for all time."

BOYS PLAN JOKE ON TEACHER; 3 GO TO HOSPITAL

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 29 [Special].—Six grade schoolboys, each 11 years old, decided to play a joke on a substitute teacher by causing themselves to fall asleep in class. Each swallowed a tablet from a bottle one of the boys had brought from home, believing it to be sleeping medicine.

They were delighted—at first—with the attention they received when one, asked why he was pacing the floor, answered in mock seriousness: "You'd be nervous if you had just taken poison." Then things began to happen.

Parents, physicians and the school nurse were summoned. An ambulance rushed them to General hospital for emetics. It was disclosed that what the boys thought were harmless sleeping tablets were emergency heart stimulants containing a dangerous poison. Physicians said one could have induced convulsions in a child and an overdose might have proved fatal.

James H. Rand Suffers an Attack of Influenza

North Falmouth, Mass., Jan. 29 (AP).—James H. Rand Sr., 82, retired industrialist, lay seriously ill of influenza at his summer home here tonight. Members of his family said complications had set in and his condition was "very low." Rand was head of the Rand company, which later became Remington-Rand, Inc.

College Girls Get Brief Rest After Exams

BY JUDITH CASS.

EXAMS have college students from coast to coast burning the midnight oil these nights, but once the long agony is over most of them have a few days' vacation in which to recover from the grind. Miss Marjorie Alexander, the John Alexanders' daughter, is luckier than most, for her Bryn Mawr examination schedule gives her time to come home for almost a week. Miss Alexander arrived in Chicago yesterday morning and will be here until next Tuesday.

Her cousin, Elizabeth, isn't quite so fortunate, for she's still poring over her books at Bryn Mawr. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Alexander, are giving a tea for Miss Marjorie Sunday.

Miss Barbara Warner, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Warner, is spending her breathing spell from Erskine junior college on a skiing jaunt into New Hampshire.

The Justus Chancellors' daughter, Patty, may have time to come home for a "how do you do," but she'll be going right back to the University of Wisconsin to attend the junior prom parties next week-end.

Exams still have Miss Jane Hardy "hitting the books" at Sweet Briar, but she's looking forward to spending three or four days in New York between semesters. The Francis H. Hardys won't see their daughter until Easter vacation, when they will meet her in Florida.

Miss Jean Matthiessen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Matthiessen, is another debutante who's looking forward to Easter in Florida. Her Vassar exam schedule doesn't allow for a trip home now.

William Pomeroy Jenkins and Bride to Reside on Sloop.

Miss Mary Seymour Pynchon and William Pomeroy Jenkins will not be bothered by the prospect of "pulling up stakes" when they wish to change addresses. Following their marriage on March 1, their home will be a boat anchored in Long Island Sound off Stamford, Conn., and instead of keeping house in "land-lubbing" fashion the bride will be keeping things "shipshape" in the cabin of her husband's sloop, the Comrade.

Miss Pynchon, daughter of Mrs. John T. Rowland of Cove Island and of Harold C. Pynchon of Chicago, will be given in marriage by her brother, William Hyde Pynchon. The 4 o'clock ceremony will take place in the Round Hill Community church, Greenwich, with the Rev. Harold Wilson officiating.

Miss Evelyn and Miss Priscilla White, daughters of the Sanford Whites of Chicago, will be in the east to serve as bridesmaids for Miss Pynchon. Miss Aurelia Brown, Miss Dorothy Barlow, and the bride's sister and maid of honor, Miss Hester Pynchon, complete the feminine attendants.

Alston Jenkins of White March, Pa., will be his brother's best man. The two young men are the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Sinclair Jenkins of Stamford.

James Forkner Jr.'s Find Warm Welcome in Honolulu.

When Lieut. and Mrs. James Forkner Jr. reached their new home in Honolulu last week they found a warm welcome awaiting them, thanks to letters of introduction which had been written for them by Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk. Young Mrs. Forkner, a niece of Mr. Kirk, has a number of friends in Chicago, as she made a long visit here in 1939 as Miss Gladys Kirk.

The former Miss Kirk met her bridegroom when she first came to this country on a visit which lengthened into a long stay. Later they renewed their friendship, and it was at the estate of the bride's aunt in Pensacola, Fla., that they were married last September.

Until Lieut. Forkner was transfered to Hawaii, with the United States Naval Aviation corps, the couple had a house in Coronado, Cal. His parents, former Virginians, now own a large ranch near Monterey.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk, too, have travel plans on their calendar. They will depart about Feb. 25 to remain in the south until April.

J. Paul Claytons Go East to Greet Their Son and Bride.

The J. Paul Claytons are in New York for a doubly exciting event on Monday. Not only is their son, Hugh, coming home on that day after two years' study in Paris, but he is bringing a bride with him. The new Mrs. Clayton, the former Mlle.-Marie-Françoise Genevieve Antoinette de Bellisen, daughter of Count and Countess Bernard de Bellisen-Durban of Paris, and niece of Lady Eardley-Wilmot of London. The countess is the former Virginia Chapman of New York.

Young Mrs. Clayton ["Toni" is her nickname] studied at the Sacred Heart convent in Rome and at the outbreak of the war volunteered as a nurse and was stationed at the

Promoting Maternity Center Benefit Ball

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Nelson G. Wettling of Evanston has been helping this week with the final details for the Cheruball, to be given on Saturday night at the Drake by the North Shore auxiliary of the Chicago Maternity center. Here Mrs. Wettling cuts out one of the cherubs which will form the motif of the ball.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—Jean Renoir, noted French director whom Darryl Zanuck recently signed, plans as his first production on the 20th-Fox lot a story of the evacuation of Paris, in which he took part. Renoir, who writes his own scenarios, won't start right away. He's busy now learning English. . . . Methodist Episcopal church dignitaries are worried about what parts of "One Foot in Heaven" go into the Warner movie of the book, and what parts stay out. They would prefer soft-pedaling of the chapters dealing with church politics. . . . An early John Steinbeck story, "The Red Pony," will be filmed by the new 20th-Fox independent unit headed by William Hawks, Ronald Colman, Lewis Milestone, Charles Boyer, and Irene Dunne. . . . Journalists are off on the costliest movie junket yet—clear from here to Florida for the première of "Back Street." One of the feminine columnists wanted much to go—but her radio sponsor wouldn't allow it. The sponsor is a California orange outfit!

There's talk of teaming John Barrymore and Mae West in a picture. That should bring Mae back, all right, all right. . . . Republic plans a "million-dollar" A picture for Gene Autry to be called, with Hollywoodian genius, "Down Mexico Way." Our hero will have not one but three leading women, one of whom will be Susan Hayward. Negotiations are on for shooting location stuff in Mexico and for staging the opening in Mexico City. . . . The Southern California Children's Symphony orchestra was up to here in celebrities at its rehearsal the other day. The kids were being led by John Barbirolli of New York's Philharmonic-Symphony, and a pair of kibitzers who were calling for request numbers were Nelson Eddy and Robert Montgomery. . . . Schubert's "Ave Maria," which is the stirring finale of Walt Disney's "Fantasia," will also be a big number in Ilona Massey's "New Wine." Speaking of "New Wine," Sterling Holloway will act a rôle on "period" crutches. He'd been signed for a rôle before he broke his leg, so the fracture has been written into the plot. . . . William Wyler has been assigned Shirley Temple's bungalow on the Fox lot and has been working on production plans for "How Green Was My Valley." But work suffered because William got the willies. He got the willies because the bungalow is papered in pink elephants. He wanted to repaper the place, but studio heads turned him down, so he persuaded the scenery department to send over some flats to prop against the walls.

Paul Hartman forwards one about the gambling pigeon who quit betting. Three months of laying off the horses and fights and his bookie called asking why he was laying off. "Well," said the pigeon, "I never paid any attention to bad omens. Did a black cat cross my path, it made no difference. Should I walk under a ladder, I should worry. Might I break a mirror, so what. But, by gonnies, when I lay a black egg with an eight stamped on it—I quit!"

One of the film colony's most enthusiastic workers for British relief found the burden of work was getting him down and sent out word that he needed a secretary. Among the applicants was a girl whose experience and ability seemed just right. Then the dear chap asked the lass what she weighed and she told him. "I'm afraid you won't do?" he said. "You see, my wife and I do quite a bit of entertaining in connection with our relief work, and you're just a few pounds too heavy to look well in a bathing suit at our pool."

Nobody could have been more surprised than Robert Rossen when Rossen, veteran Warner scripter, was told he'd been chosen to do the screen play for Edward G. Robinson's Jack London yarn, "The Sea Wolf." Because Rossen hates the sea. He was on the ocean only twice in his life and it was an experience never to be repeated. He'd have been on it only once, but he had to get home.

When Rossen was in college he was a drummer in the school band. A Mickey Rooney kind of drummer. One summer a chum off[illegible]d him a job on a trans-Atlantic [illegible] Rossen was immediately and [illegible]y seasick, but he drummed and he drummed until the boat hit the highest wave on the Atlantic. Down crashed Rossen's sticks—right thru the drumhead. Even in those days of luxury crossings liners didn't have stock drumheads, so the band was never quite the same the rest of the voyage. And nobody would talk to Rossen.

Charles Coburn, who plays a department store owner in "The Devil and Miss Jones," used to be a department store shipping clerk in New York. . . . First assignment Columbia gave Patti McCarty—up to last week, Dorothy Lamour's secretary—was posing for stills. The fashion department sent to a local store for a batch of dresses, size 12, not saying whom they were for. And the first garment to come out of the box was a sarong evening dress. Patti wouldn't wear it. Said she had promised Miss Lamour and Paramount that she wouldn't capitalize on her old boss during her new movie career. . . Ray Bolger and John Carroll are having such a deadly gin-rummy game on the "Sunny" set that they won't even stop for interviews. . . . Frank Capra would give a lot for a usable print of the first picture he ever made — "Fultah Fisher's Boarding House." He made a one-reeler of the Kipling poem for $1,600, acting, directing and producing it, and sold it for $3,500. The print he saved fell apart when he tried to run it thru his home projector a few nights ago. . . . Gilbert Miller and Lester Cowan would like to pry Lillian Gish out of Chicago's "Life with Father" company to play one of the two main rôles in the screen version of "Ladies in Retirement." And Judith Anderson is first choice for the other rôle.

Spalding School Pupil Has 'Private' Graduation

Jeanette Jordan, 5703 Lafayette avenue, a 13 year old student of the Spalding school, had a graduation all to herself yesterday. Comfortably settled in her room at St. Luke's hospital, she was presented with an eighth grade diploma by Mrs. Olive Bruner, principal, and received congratulations from Maj. Frank Beals, superintendent of special schools for the board of education. Jeanette, whose spine was broken several years ago in an automobile accident, has continued her education thru the special schools system despite confinement in various hospitals over a long period.

Greatest Goya Exhibit Thrills Opening Crowd

BY MARCIA WINN.

The Art institute, in opening its great exhibition of the works of Goya last night, limited its guest list to members, but even so, such an assemblage trooped in within the space of two hours that if any one wanted to study rather than merely peep at a painting he fought for standing space.

No one did, of course. It was an assemblage well versed in the amenities, and even when the doors closed at 10 o'clock people still were politely apologetic when they obscured their neighbors' views.

And ecstatic, most of them, over the 161 examples of the work of Francisco Goya, the most important Goya exhibition ever to be held in this hemisphere, at which they had just peeped. One exception was overheard.

"You know what I think is the trouble with all of us?" one young woman observed as she went out.

"No," came her companion's unsurprising answer. "What?"

The young woman pondered a minute, then replied, "I think we try to see too much."

Most of the guests were unable to see enough. Three other exhibitions opened concurrently in adjacent galleries—a collection of 140 rare prints from the first century of printmaking [1400-1500], a collection of 20th century French paintings, including distinguished work by Matisse, Picasso, Utrillo, Leger, and Braque, and 24 paintings and gouaches by Peppino Mangravite—but the eyes of most of the 1,750, altho they drifted into the other rooms, were on Goya.

If the pictures could have burst with pride they would have, but Goya might not have been flattered by the comment, heard several times, in the crowd always surrounding his self-portrait when 65, depicting a gentle, tragically torn face. "Why," came the comment again and again, "it looks like a woman."

Goya's portrait of Queen Maria Luisa, portraying her faithfully as a vain old frump wearing diamonds as large as soap bubbles, drew great attention [sometimes surprising, as the woman who cried, "I know some one who looks just like her!], as did his portrait of the duke of Wellington, painted at the close of the Napoleonic wars and showing him as handsome but pop-eyed with slightly protruding teeth.

The gallery containing Goya's many court portraits, revealing their subjects in rich attire and shallow mien, was repainted for the show in soft blue, rose and gold stripes to enhance their stylized elegance. That containing the later, earthier pictures, such as his fine study of a sad-eyed bull fighter and of a bull fight, was redone in a deep puce.

Altogether, 51 paintings are included in the show, 32 drawings and 78 prints. Crowds gathered always around Goya's famous "The Disasters of War" series of etchings, but probably the most unseeing remark of the reception was that of the woman who, lingering on the threshold of the gallery containing such drawings as "Woman Murdering a Sleeping Man," "Hunting Rice" and "Tortured Prisoner" [four scenes], said, "Come, let's go in here where all the pretty pictures are."

Many notables, among them President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and Mrs. Hutchins; Potter Palmer, president of the Art institute; Lessing J. Rosenwald, owner of 100 of the 140 old prints, and Edwin L. Ryerson Jr., attended the opening. The shows will continue thru March 2.

Illinois Tech Holds First Graduation; 67 Given Diplomas

The first commencement exercises of the Illinois Institute of Technology, which was formed thru amalgamation of Armour and Lewis institutes last July, were held last night in the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park. Fifty-seven students who formed the first graduation class of a five year coöperative plan started in 1936 and 10 other seniors, who completed a regular four year course, received diplomas.

Under the coöperative plan, the students worked in industrial shops 26 weeks of each of their five undergraduate years and attended classes the remainder of the time.

Arranging Dance

Miss Betty Biety, recording secretary of the St. Xavier Academy alumnae, is in charge of reservations for the alumnae's annual dinner-dance to be held Saturday night, Feb. 15, in the Marine dining room of the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Two Choruses Give Evening of Sacred Music

An evening of sacred music, sung in the sincere, open hearted manner which the Lutheran tradition demands, was offered in Orchestra hall last night by the Concordia Seminary chorus of St. Louis, William D. Heyne directing, and by the Lutheran Hour radio chorus under Ronald R. Ross.

The music used ranged in time from the 16th century almost to the present day. The best represented composer, naturally, was J. S. Bach, who was himself a Lutheran choirmaster.

Midway in the program there was a short talk by Dr. Walter A. Maier, a professor at Concordia and a regular speaker on the Lutheran hour.

This was the first concert of a seven concert tour which will take the choruses all the way to the eastern seaboard. The Lutheran Laymen's league sponsored the Chicago concert.

The Littlefield ballet has dropped "Barn Dance" from the program it will give at the Civic Opera house next Saturday night and has added "Moment Romantique."

Hospital Benefit Ball.

A charity ball for the benefit of St. Bernard's hospital and St. George's hospital will be given at the Trianon ballroom on Wednesday.

WEDDINGS

Miss Juanita Berger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. Berger of Surf street, will become the bride of Joseph Lieb on Sunday at 7:30 o'clock in the Grand ballroom of the Knickerbocker hotel. Mr. Lieb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lieb of West 12th place. A reception will be held after the ceremony. After their return from a wedding trip to the south, Mr. Lieb and his bride will reside on Surf street.

Henry Winter of Sullivan, Ill., announces the approaching marriage of his daughter, Ada, to R. O. Dick Helwig, son of John Helwig of West 59th place. The wedding will take place on Feb. 4 at the Helwig home and will be followed by a reception there.

Infant Welfare Sets New Low in Baby Deaths

The Infant Welfare society reported its lowest record in infant mortality during its 30 years of service to Chicago yesterday at its annual meeting in the Stevens hotel.

"While the nation concentrates on defense our task has been to help to improve the generation of tomorrow by giving healthy bodies and wise training to the children in the congested areas of Chicago," Philip D. Armour, president, stated. "A year ago, with an infant mortality rate of .47 per cent, then the lowest in our history, it seemed that the saving of infant life could go no further. But in 1940 we reduced the seemingly irreducible to an infant death of .41 per cent."

During 30 years the decline in infant mortality among babies cared for by the society has been steady. It shows that while 42 to every 1,000 babies cared for died in 1911 there were only 4.1 to 1,000 in 1940.

Dr. Heyworth N. Sanford, medical director, reported that respiratory disturbances were the greatest single cause of mortality among infants during the last year, accounting for 49 per cent of the deaths.

The prenatal department, with 1,374 expectant mothers registered, reported that five more out of each 100 patients had hospital care and an additional four more had care thru outpatient departments in 1940 than in 1930. Not one prenatal patient was unattended last year and only one-twentieth as many were attended by midwives in 1940 as in 1930.

"In the preschool group we had 8,721 children last year," Miss Sara B. Place, superintendent, stated. "In the group we have come to look upon the family rather than the individual as the unit of health service and thus nursing, nutrition, mental hygiene, and medical service contribute to the well being of entire families, rather than to just the members of a family who are registered with the society."

In addition to the preschool group, 7,503 infants were under the care of the society's physicians, nurses, and nutritionists in 20 stations in the overcrowded districts of Chicago. There were 78,120 conferences with physicians and nurses in the stations and the nurses and nutritionists made 101,305 visits to the homes to teach the mothers the principles of health.

The society's growing income has permitted an increase in its staff from 23 professionals in 1911 to 97 in 1940, adding nutritionists and a mental hygiene supervisor. The cost of work in 1940 was $184,200 with an income of $183,484, leaving a deficit of $716.

Voluntary contributions make up the income. The woman's auxiliary, of which Mrs. Vincent P. Oatis of Evanston is president, raised $98,192 last year. Members of the auxiliary also gave 7,276 hours of volunteer service and made 25,634 articles of clothing for the babies.

Officers of the society, all of whom were reëlected, are Mr. Armour, president; Lynn A. Williams and Mrs. Eugene S. Talbot Jr., vice presidents; Erskine Wilder, secretary, and Donald B. Douglas, treasurer.

Baby Statistics

1941 Galoshes Are Trim, Neat and Colorful

BY REA SEEGER.

Yes, they've got galoshes! Dozens of them just in time for sloppy weather, future blizzards, and rainy weather. If you have cold feet you can buy them with fur trim bands that keep the ankles cozy. Trim streamlined units made of rubber fit as sleekly as a glove, curve smoothly over the insteps, and hug the heels. Artfully concealed zippers that work instantly do their bit toward keeping the footlines almost the same as without this extra comfort layer.

The dull black affairs, totally lacking in anything that might be dubbed decorative eye appeal, are gradually disappearing from sight. The blacks these days are dull and have textures resembling leather, or shiny to look like patent leather.

High heeled shoes are easily inserted in these models without the old struggle. Some one rates a chest medal for this trick! Beige and brown galoshes click with the gals who wear brown like some people wear black.

Rubber boots are galumping all over the place, white, red, bright blue, black, brown and gray. Some are long, almost reaching the knees; others are shorter, and all have fuzzy checked or plaid linings. The bright giddy red affairs, together with the whites, are beloved of the campus crowds and the high school "teensters."

Bright colored toe rubbers come in yellow, white, red, green, and blue. These are fascinating finds, smooth and dull with an oval hole to accommodate the heel of the shoes. And if these high colors seem sort of gaudy there are limitless supplies of the calmer brown and blacks that come folded compactly in a matching envelope.

Who Is This Girl?

By Helen Topping Miller

[Copyright 1941: By Helen Topping Miller.]

SYNOPSIS.

Dining at the home of his employer, Harp Greenlee, a sheepman who has grown soft with city ways, Dan McCullough, manager of the ranch San Mateo, meets Storm, whom Harp introduces as his niece. Mac falls in love with her, but is dubious as to just who she is as he has heard Harp introduce so many women as his nieces that it has got to be a gag. Beatrice Abney, whose artist ex-husband is drinking himself to death near San Mateo, tells Mac that Storm is living at Harp's home, but they both cannot understand who she is as she is young, pretty and innocent appearing. Mac decides to have it out with Harp, but finds him dead. Storm tells Mac that she doesn't know who she is, as Harp placed her in a convent when she was a small child, promising to tell her on her 21st birthday who she was. She is now 20. Gertrude, Harp's latest girl, arrives the night of Harp's death and insists on staying. Storm realizes they all think she is like Gertrude and when Steel Dunlap, Harp's lawyer, reads Harp's will, Storm has been left San Mateo and a tin box that has no key. To Mac, Harp left his horse and $1,000. Dunlap wants to be Storm's guardian and asks her for her birth certificate.

INSTALMENT XVI.

DISAPPEARANCE.

Storm shook her head. "I've never had a birth certificate. I don't even know where I was born. Harp knew, but he never told me."

"That will make things slightly awkward," Dunlap said. "We'll have to establish your legal age."

"I know that I was 5 years old on March 6, 1924. I remember my birthday. My mother was living then."

"And what was your mother's name?"

Again she shook her head. "I have never known her name. Harp promised to tell me—when I was 21. But Harp is dead."

Dunlap drew in his lips and the greedy tentacles in his eyes seemed to reach out their metallic strands toward her.

"You," he said, "have inherited property enough to make you a rich woman. With no reservations. You'll come into the whole of it when you are of age. But until then the law requires that your affairs shall be handled by some competent person—legally competent, I mean. Of course I will be glad to do this for you. I'm quite sure the court would consider me entirely competent. I've handled Harp's business for several years, I can merely go on as I have been doing."

She still looked at him, gravely, then her eyes cooled a little and a stony look came into her face.

"I did not want property—from Harp. I wanted only one thing from him. He would not give it to me, he died without giving it to me. If he had reasons he never told me what they were. When I asked questions I got no answers. Property does not make up for that."

Dunlap smiled, his long lips drawing back indulgently. But his eyes still kept their reaching look.

"Property, my dear girl, makes up for a great many things. For almost anything in fact. You've been very fortunate. You're still young and I suppose you know that you are very pretty. You're free and you'll be independent. Doesn't that make up for the denial of—other things?"

"No," she spoke flatly. "Nothing makes up."

"I'm afraid you've been having dreams," he said, "and harboring illusions and—hopes. There are some things about Harp Greenlee that I knew, better than you, perhaps. I knew that he was not a marrying man."

She sprang up, and her eyes flashed.

"So—you thought that about me, too? You would, of course. You only know people like that. People you can buy! You think that I'm—like Gertrude!"

His smile moved up into his eyes, his brows lifted a little.

"Much prettier than Gertrude. And you had better luck than Gertrude did. She was not mentioned in the will."

Her body seemed suddenly to vibrate with anger like the small enraged body of a bee. She was a golden fury, drawn up tall, flame in her eyes.

"Get out of this room!" Her voice cut like a whip.

He stood up, amiable, still a little amused.

"My dear girl, I came here to bring you good fortune. I deserve better treatment than this."

"If you don't go instantly I'll telephone downstairs and have them put you out!"

"Why not sit down and talk this over calmly? I'm a lawyer, I came here to talk business."

"I don't want to talk business with you. I won't be insulted by you."

"You're being fantastic, Storm. I'm your friend. And because you're very lovely—even angry as you are now, and because you're quite lonely—you haven't any family at all, have you?—I thought we might be very good friends. I would make a good friend."

"I don't want you for a friend."

"You might change your mind, you know, when you know me better."

"I'd never change my mind. I suppose," her lip curled with bitterness, "you've done this before? I suppose Harp sent you—other places—to pay off his women?"

"On the contrary," he was bland, "he handled his own personal affairs with remarkable discretion—alone. Don't you want to look over the will?"

"I think," she said savagely, her face very white, "that I never want to hear of Harp Greenlee again."

Quick as a flash she flicked past him, snatched up her purse, and darted out the door. It closed behind her with a little slam of finality.

Steele Dunlap folded the blue paper slowly, put it back into his pocket. He went to the table, picked a cigaret out of a box and lighted it with a glistening lighter. He strolled along the wall studying the pictures hung there, picked up his hat finally and went out. He was unworried. She would come back. They made scenes, but where there was money concerned, they came back. Ignorant little thing—but sweet. She would be beautiful when she had lived a little, learned a little. He could wait.

He went back to his own house. Not for days did he remember that he had left a tin box in a taxicab. A box wrapped in brown paper, without a key.

Dan McCullough had telephoned the Abney apartment twice without getting an answer. The tin box stood on the table, and twice he had an impulse to call a messenger and send it back to Steele Dunlap, but each time he put the receiver back on the hook without ringing.

He would put the box into Storm's hands himself. He had a feeling that it was vital to her, he wanted to be certain that she had it. At 7 o'clock he called the Abney apartment again, but again there was only silence at the end of the wire. Probably Beatrice had taken her out somewhere. At least he knew that Storm was safe. Safe and gently treated. Beatrice Abney was a splendid woman.

He began to pack his bags. His train left at midnight. In two days and two nights he would be back at San Mateo. Mom Terrell would broil a steak for him, and old Bart and Plume would sit around the fire smoking. They would be somber, they would not like the things that were going to happen to the ranch. For all that he was younger McCullough knew that the old hands liked him. He had been competent and had been fair. And lately he had stood between the people on the place and the impatient irritability of Harp, the greedy demands of Steele Dunlap. They knew that he had come to New York to fight for San Mateo. Now that he could fight no more they would be gloomy. Going back was not going to be pleasant.

He jerked a strap tight and then remembered the tin box. Somehow it had to be delivered to Storm. He wanted to see her again, and he shrank from seeing her. To look into her eyes would be to be torn again, to carry a hurt away with him. But he had to make her see—he had to make clear to her how wrong she had been in thinking he held her lightly.

He wrapped the box again and looked up Beatrice Abney's address in the telephone book, went downstairs and called a taxi. He would go there and wait till they came in. Beatrice would see that Storm got in early, she would know the strain the girl had been under for two days. Her face, when McCullough had seen it last, had been drained and bleak with strain.

The elevator took him up, and he found the door with Beatrice's card on it, and pushed the buzzer. The door opened quickly and he saw Beatrice standing there, still with her hat on. She looked at him with wide troubled eyes.

"You've seen her——" she began.

McCullough's puzzled face must have answered her, for she gave a little cry.

"Storm—she's gone!"

"Gone?" repeated Mac, bewildered. "You mean—she's gone back—to Harp's place?"

"She isn't there. I telephoned. There's no one there but the servants. They haven't seen her since the funeral. She's gone!"

"But—where could she go? She went out perhaps—she went to a drug store for something——"

★ ★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★ ★

You'd have to go a long way to beat the good old rule of exquisite cleanliness when it comes to solving the average complexion problem. Cleanliness is certainly the starting point to skin beauty and at no stage in a woman's life is it so important as it is during adolescence, when the action of oil glands is apt to be whimsical.

Scrubbing is, in general, the best of all rituals for the young girl and the young boy.

The complexion brush is a wonderful aid. The friction is helpful in itself. If soaps seem too harsh there are, nowadays, marvelous bland cleansers that remove every bit of grime without parching the skin. One specialist, who makes the young skin her particular interest, has a beauty. Not only adolescents can use it profitably. Any women with a skin that is sensitive, but inclined to oiliness, will find it one of the best of all beauty aids. Just moisten the complexion brush [this manufacturer has a good one] and add a few drops of the white liquid. Then scrub. You have a lather, you have a cleansing—and your skin is stimulated just enough to leave it radiant.

If the skin seems a little dry afterward—and this is more apt to be true in the case of older women than young girls — there's a greaseless lubricant to use that smooths and soothes.

A great many women with delicate complexions make the mistake of thinking that the skin needs coddling. As a matter of fact, stiff scrubbing with the right kind of cleansing agents is probably just what it needs to bring it up to normal function and resistance.

Curry powder, used with a judicious spoon and in the right piece of cookery, can make the difference between an ordinary dish and an exotic one. Curry is a combination of spices, about 16 of them, varying in proportion according to the manufacturer. Ginger, red pepper, turmeric, and fragrant oriental seeds go into the making of curry powder. I think that overspicing a curried dish is a common mistake. Too "hot" seasonings in any food spoil the flavors of other foods which make up the meal, and sometimes defeat their purpose of adding interest to the dish in which they are used, but just the right amount of curry powder usually gets a royal reception.

Curry Sauce.

2 tablespoons butter
1 medium onion, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 cup beef broth, bouillon, or consommé

Melt butter in skillet or saucepan, add onion, and let cook until tender. Stir in flour, let it brown slightly, then add curry and liquid. Cook and stir until sauce is thickened and smooth. A hint of garlic may be added to this sauce. A clove may be cooked for a minute with the onion.

A real curry addict likes a hotter curry than that, but a novice, or a person who likes fairly bland flavored foods, will object to higher seasoning.

This dish is "currier," in fact, it's plenty "hot," altho one may adjust the amount of curry to suit the palates being catered to. Personally, I'd cut the amount of curry powder by half.

Curried Lamb [Highly Seasoned].

[Serves Eight.]
2 pounds lamb, cubed
6 tablespoons butter
1 large onion, sliced
½ clove garlic
½ teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons curry powder
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 cup meat stock

Dredge the cubed meat in flour and brown in butter in which onions and garlic have been cooked. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Remove garlic when meat is added. Add mustard, curry powder, and brown sugar. Add meat stock, cover, and simmer 1½ to 2 hours, or until meat is tender.

A little curry powder often helps the flavor of a French dressing. A trace may be used in vegetables or fish soups with good results. And a sprinkling worked into the creamed butter which one uses to spread canapes injects a bit of pleasant sharpness.

The South Shore Service league will sponsor a supper-dance on Saturday, Feb. 8, at the Windermere East hotel. Mrs. Arthur Erickson is chairman of the party.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Jan. 30, 1941.

Universal day—Make this an active, get-things-started day.

Vocations—Three as a vocation number is always expressive and with the zero added it elevates the expression and gives it added power. The written or spoken word is raised to his fullest expression. So it isn't surprising to find our third-time President in this group along with the forcefully spoken Winston Churchill. It is interesting to note that Princess Juliana of Holland was born on the 30th, too, and so we may expect to hear more from her later. Among the writers in this group are Rudyard Kipling, Mark Twain, Dean Swift, Gertrude Atherton, and many other well known writers. Those of you who were born on the 30th ought to brush up on your vocabulary if you aren't making the most of your talent for writing and speaking.

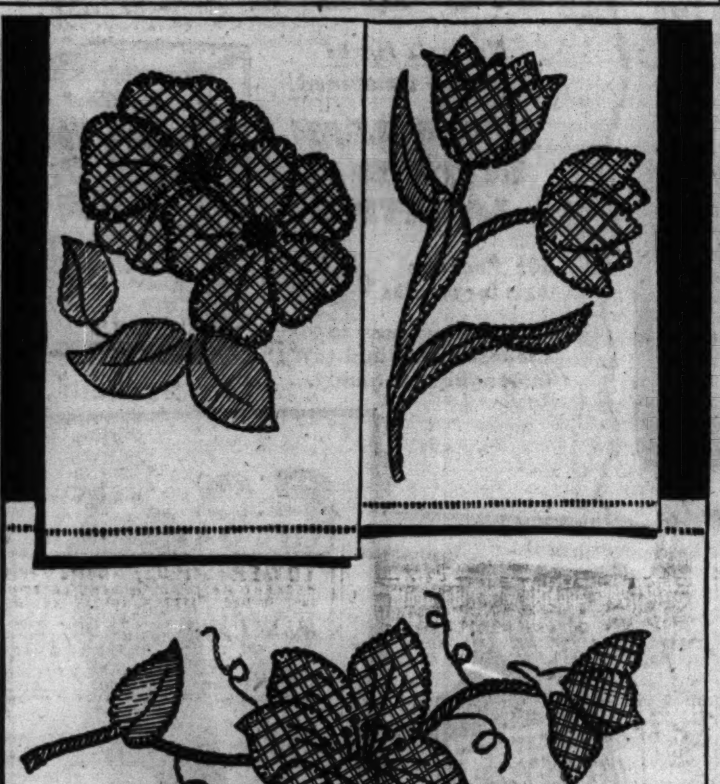
Handsome Applique Flowers



BY NANCY CABOT.

These good looking applique flowers for guest towels may be cut from printed or plain materials and embroidered in outline. The hot iron transfer pattern contains three motifs measuring approximately 5 by 6, 5 by 11, and 6 by 6 inches. The instructions include complete details for attractive applique designs.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of applique flowers, No. 725, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The prime consideration of most opening leads should be safety, or, to put it another way, the leader's main thought should be not so much to gain a trick as to avoid the loss of a trick. Against slam contracts, however, this philosophy must often take a back seat. Rarely will a "waiting" lead be effective against a slam, assuming, of course, that the slam has been bid by players who know what they are doing.

In today's hand West needed only a little vision and courage to discover the killing opening lead.

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	2 spades
3 clubs	3 spades	6 clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

After North's free raise in clubs South decided that the slam would be an excellent gamble. Naturally he hoped for a spade opening which he could control. Then, even if North had nothing in hearts, he might very well have a good diamond suit which would permit heart discards. South did not want to warn the opponents away from a spade opening by cue-bidding the suit. Of course he might have tried to discover whether or not North held any heart controls, but, as South later admitted, he had privately decided to take a flyer at a slam, come what may, and hence bid it in one fell swoop.

West responded to South's hope rather than to his own and partner's interests. With never a second's thought he led out the king of spades. Dummy's ace won, and declarer made no mistake in the matter of the correct discard from his own hand. He threw away a diamond, not a heart. The club jack was then led and taken by West, who promptly shifted to a heart. The ace won, one more lead of trumps drew the outstanding trump, and the diamond suit was then established by the lead of the ace, king, and a ruff of the third round. Dummy, of course, had a third club for entry to the established diamonds.

West had an opportunity to distinguish himself but failed miserably on his opening lead. Holding first-round control of trumps he should have seen that the greatest chance of defeating the contract lay in a heart opening. If a spade trick existed for the defenders it must be the ace and, therefore, no spade establishment was necessary. A heart trick, however, might be the defenders' only salvation, and that might [and did] require establishment. A diamond lead was unattractive. Presumably South had a fit with partner's diamond suit and, therefore, the defenders' diamond tricks, if any, hardly could escape. Obviously an opening heart lead would have made the contract impossible of fulfilment.

Tomorrow's Hand.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

Halo, Symbol of Holiness, Once a Square

The halo, altho defined in the dictionary as circular, a circle, or a disk, usually of glory, frequently was painted as square by artists of the middle ages, Dr. Gerhart B. Ladner told the College Art association yesterday.

Dr. Ladner, who is a professor at the Institute of Medieval Studies in Toronto, Ont., adddressed the 29th annual meeting of the association at the University of Chicago. The square halo, he said, is found in paintings as early at 700 A. D., and as late as 1600. The shape, he asserted, carried the same suggestion of perfection or holiness of its wearer.

The first recorded use of a square as a symbol of holiness, he revealed, is in the writings of Plato and Aristotle. Here a good man is likened to a "square without a flaw" and possibly, Dr. Ladner suggested, gave rise to the modern phrase, "a square guy." In the works of Clement of Alexandria, Dr. Ladner said, a good Christian is described as "quadrilateral" or "equal on all sides" in his goodness.

By the 15th century, however, the geometrical aspects of holiness began to change. Theologians came to regard the square as a shape less perfect than the circle, Dr. Ladner said. Thus Christian saints were given round halos and old testament personalities, supposedly being perfect in character, since they lived before the time of Christ, were given square ones.

Reports on medieval art and architecture vied with modern art and architecture for interest on the opening day of the four day session which 250 artists, critics, and historians are attending. Such varied subjects as a 10th century stone bas-relief of Daniel in the lion's den and city planning of the 21st century were discussed.

Planning for the industrial city of the future should take its cue from the typical little American town which ribbons its way along two sides of Main street, Prof. Ludwig K. Hilberseimer of the Illinois Institute of Technology declared. The ribbon system, he said, first advocated in 1882 by the Spaniard, Soria y Mata, provides an ideal form for the city of the future which should be built along a main artery of communication.

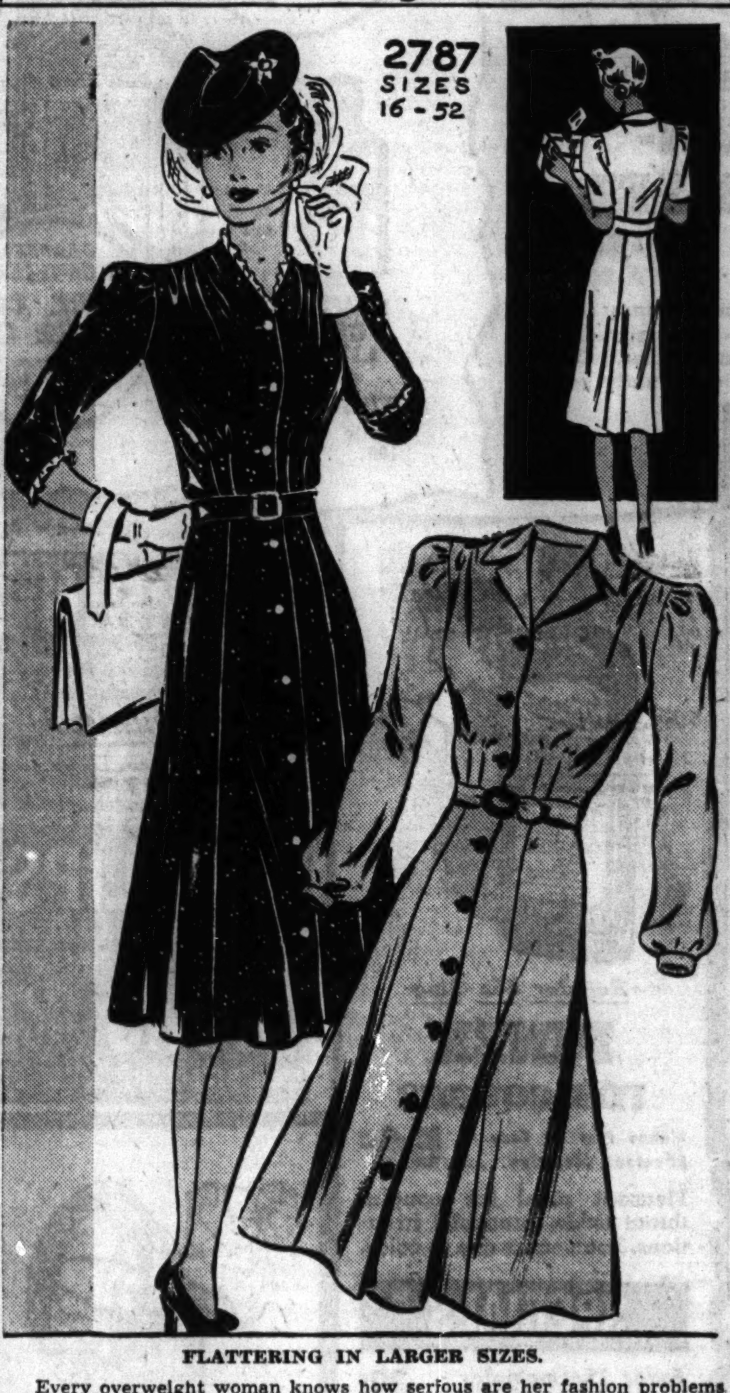
Solves Overweight Problems



FLATTERING IN LARGER SIZES.

Every overweight woman knows how serious are her fashion problems. We would like to suggest that by making her own wardrobe with the aid of patterns designed especially for her, she'll achieve smartness at small cost. Today's figure-flattering dress is an example of what we mean. It's a princess style frock which may be made shirtwaist fashion or be dressed up with simple lace or ruching at throat and sleeve cuffs. All types of silks and sheer woolens make up well.

Style No. 2787 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material for long sleeved dress; 3⅝ yards for short sleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

ENGAGEMENTS

Dr. Kermit F. Knudtzon of Highland Park announces the engagement of his sister, Frances, to Albert William Schroeder Jr. of Oxford, Neb., son of Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder of Eustis, Neb. Miss Knudtzon attended Jennings seminary and was graduated from the University of Nebraska. Mr. Schroeder is also a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wright of Winthrop avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Jayne, to Robert Leonard Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wolfe of Waveland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Brown of Springfield avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude, to Robert A. Elkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Elkin of North Monticello avenue.

Party for Crippled Children.

The Freda Komaiko Stone Heart club will give a party today for the 60 little patients at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, 2211 North Oak Park avenue. Stage and radio stars will give a program. Miss Buddie Shackette has arranged the party.

Gare du Nord in Paris. Mr. Clayton studied at the University of Michigan before going to Paris and has been attending the Ecole Libre des Politiques since then. He and his bride will reside in Winnetka.

Wedding Plans of Count Made Uncertain by War.

Young Count Jean de Gramedo and his fiancée, Mlle. Bernadett Gourlex de La Motte may be married already, for all that his many friends in Chicago know. The count and his fiancée were separated when France was invaded and he found her in occupied France just a short time ago. According to a letter Mrs. Ralph Otis has received from his grandmother, Mrs. Harry Spenser-Brown, the marriage was to take place as soon as Mlle. de La Motte and her family could be moved into unoccupied France. Since the letter was dated Dec. 11 the marriage may have taken place.

The count's mother was the former Ethel Spenser-Brown and she and her son and daughter, Consuelo, visited here several times. Her daughter, now Mme. Geoffrey Goetz, and her husband were to go from Paris to the Chateau de Born for the wedding.

The enthusiastic tales which the Leo Malcolm Nicolsons brought back from Kansas City last week-end concerning their new grandson will serve as a forerunner to the baby's visit here in the spring, when his young mother, Mrs. James Logan Abernathy [Caryl Nicolson], brings him to Chicago.

The baby, who has been named for his father, was born last Thursday in St. Luke's hospital, Kansas City. Mrs. Nicolson spent the last month with the Abernathys.

Harold Ferris Whites Name New Son Stephen Mather.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ferris White Jr. have named their latest fifth generation Chicagoan Stephen Mather White. The Whites' third son, who was born on Sunday at St. Luke's hospital, has been named for the late Stephen Mather, a close friend of the baby's family and a former assistant secretary of the interior.

The center of attraction in the Lake Forest home of the Harry McIntosh McLeods is their new daughter, who has been named Penelope for a great-great-great-grandmother. Since 5 months old Penelope was brought home to her nursery on Saturday, she has claimed all the attention of her devoted parents and grandmother, Mrs. Eugene B. Jackson, who is here on a visit from Brookline, Mass.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Two decades ago, Rector's was the crossroads where glittering names from the Great White Way and Park Avenue dowagers outstared each other as they consumed a special ham for which Rector's were famous. Today, believe it or not, a child of ten can prepare a ham more tender and of far better flavor. All said child has to do is heat a WILSON'S TENDER MADE HAM, in a moderate oven (350° F.) five minutes per pound. The succulent, melt-in-your-mouth result is all due to the Wilson's secret process.

George Rector
Food Consultant, Wilson & Co.

NEW "HAM AND SWEETS" RECIPE

Boil and mash 5 medium-sized sweet potatoes. Add salt, butter, milk, and 2 tablespoons of orange juice.

Cover a slice of Wilson's Tender Made Ham with this sweet potato mixture, and top with another slice of ham. Dot with Clear Brook Butter. Heat in 325° F. oven until the ham is a delicate brown.

Remember, only Wilson & Co. makes TENDER MADE HAM, "the ham you cut with a fork"

NOT TOO SPICY ... NOT TOO MILD That's why folks like MOR

Try these with Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links

Make a delicious meal-in-one platter by broiling together sweet potatoes (boiled, skinned and halved), pineapple slices and Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage.

HUNCH FOR LUNCH

When you've been up to your ears all morning with housework and suddenly you hear the children clattering up the steps, remember the can of Wilson's Certified Chili Con Carne on the pantry shelf. It takes just a minute to heat, and if you get the kind with beans, you have a complete meal for them and for you.

For smiles at breakfast, try serving him the new Wilson's Certified Family Style Sliced Bacon, in the handy 2-pound package. It's cut from lean young porkers, given that rich smoke cure, then sliced to he-man thickness and packed, upright, back on the rind. The result is a "stay-fresh," sliced bacon.

Good to keep on hand for breakfast, lunch or dinner.

I will be with you again (as they say on the radio) at the same time, same place, next week. G. R.

THE ONLY GENUINE—WILSON'S Tender Made Ham is now being featured by an AUTHORIZED DEALER in your locality. It's better than ever—tender and delicious. Serve it and enjoy it.

TURF BILL'S COST TO FANS SET AT $1,065,820

ILLINOIS USES 21 MEN TO BEAT MEXICO, 53-30

Evers, Sachs Ruled Ineligible.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 29 [Special].—Walt [Hoot] Evers, forward, and Henry Sachs, guard, were missing from the University of Illinois lineup when the Illini defeated the National University of Mexico, 53 to 30, tonight.

Both became scholastically ineligible for this game and the Purdue game at Lafayette Monday night, at least. Competition in remaining Big Ten games depends upon their obtaining permission to take and pass the customary special examinations accorded any student recommended for the additional test.

May Sign with Tigers.

However, Evers, who is also an outfielder on the baseball team, is reported undecided whether to remain in the university or enter professional baseball. Several big league teams, including Detroit, are said to be interested in him. Evers planned to go home to Collinsville to discuss his future with his parents.

Evers, who led Illini basketball scorers with 42 points in four Big Ten conference games, batted .353 last season. He led the Big Ten in runs batted in with 16, scored the most runs, 20, and had the most total bases, 33, which included five triples and three home runs.

Illini Use 21 Men.

The Illini, returning to play following semester examinations, triumphed easily over the Mexican five, 21 men participating. The regulars, with Vic Wukovits and Harold Shapiro filling the vacancies caused by Evers' and Sachs' ineligibility, played only a few minues. Capt. John Drish accounted for 16 points with eight baskets. Lineups:

MAROONS VS. LOYOLA

Chicago's Maroons meet the Loyola basketball team in the Midway fieldhouse tonight in Chicago's final nonconference basketball game of the season. The game begins at 8 o'clock.

Sparked by Mike Dougherty, high scoring sophomore center, and Mickey Rottner, the Ramblers will be out to avenge the 33 to 28 defeat they received last year at Chicago's hands. The game will be the first after a lapse of more than two weeks for Loyola. Chicago has lost four straight, three in the Big Ten and one to De Paul.

Loyola has won five games this season, while losing four, a better record than Chicago's six losses to four victories. Lineups:

GAMES TODAY.

1 p. m.—John Fitzpatrick vs. Herb Peterson.
2:30—Arthur Thurnblad vs. Tiff Denton.
4:15—Joe Chamaco vs. Joe Moriarty.
8—Willie Hoppe vs. Irving Crane.
9:30—Allen Hall vs. Earle Lookabaugh.

Willie Hoppe made another stride last night in his race to make up for lost time in the world's three cushion tournament. The defending champion, making his second appearance, defeated Len Kenney of Chicago, one of the tournament tailenders. The score was 50 to 12, and the 55 minute match required only 36 innings.

The champion's victory thus was more decisive than on Tuesday night when he made his tournament debut with a 50 to 15 victory over Herb Peterson of St. Louis. The New Yorker, slow to get started, made a whirlwind finish by scoring 32 points in the final 10 innings.

Meets Crane Tonight.

Hoppe had a 28 to 11 lead at intermission. He steadily worked toward his ultimate point total, all the while leaving such difficult shots when he missed that Kenney was able to score only one point in the last half. Hoppe's high run was seven.

Hoppe's third opponent tonight will be Irving Crane, newcomer from Livonia, N. Y., who is expected to offer stronger opposition than his two predecessors. Crane has won five of 13 matches.

Welker Cochran encountered a stubborn foe in Paul Lewin of Chicago in the final night game, winning, 50 to 44, in 58 innings. It was the Californian's sixth victory in seven games.

Schaefer Stays in Running.

Jake Schaefer, runner-up in 1940, took over undisputed possession of fifth place when he scored his sixth consecutive victory, 50 to 44, in 51 innings in the second match of the afternoon session. His victim was Tiff Denton.

Schaefer has seven victories and one loss, while Denton has four victories against five defeats. Schaefer's best run was a six in the 23d, which gave him a permanent lead. Denton's best inning was the 42d when he scored four to put him back in the match, trailing only 40 to 38. Schaefer made six in the next two frames to draw away and concluded the match in the 51st with a difficult cross-table shot. Score by innings:

Draft Questionnaire on Way to Hank Greenberg

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29 (AP). — Hank Greenberg's draft questionnaire is in the mail, officials of board No. 23 said today, and the big Detroit Tiger outfielder will receive it in Honolulu, where he is on vacation. Tho the questionnaires ordinarily must be returned in five days, the time is extended in cases where the person involved is absent from the city.

Greenberg's number, 621, is expected to come up about June 1. He has indicated he will not ask for deferment.

Bomber Bombs a Snow Man

BURMAN BUILDUP IS MOVING AHEAD AT FULL SPEED

New York, Jan. 29 [Special].—If Joe Louis has a sense of humor, he will have cause to emit a few chuckles between tonight and Friday evening when he makes the 13th defense of his heavyweight championship. Opponent No. 13 is Clarence [Red] Burman of Baltimore, Md., and the place is Madison Square Garden. The scheduled route is 15 rounds.

The 48 hours preceding Louis' championship adventures always follow the same pattern—a last minute buildup of his opponent. This one coming up is no different. Jack Dempsey, the old heavyweight champion, who is always ready to help in a good cause, today took the platform for Burman, with whom he has been remotely associated for several years.

Recalls a Few Knockdowns.

Dempsey's theme centered around his contention that Louis can't absorb punishment to the head. He pointed out that Max Schmeling knocked out Joe by centering his fire to the head, that Jim Braddock floored him, and that Tony Galento staggered the champion with blows to the face.

"Furthermore," said Jack, "an unusual boxing style confuses Louis. Remember how Arturo Godoy befuddled him the first time they met? Burman has a weaving style and can punch out of a crouch. And he's game. I think he has more than an even chance."

Odds are 10 to 1 on Joe.

The former champion's stirring speech in Burman's behalf, however, failed to disturb the betting gentry. They were still offering, after Dempsey finished, to put up $10 to $1 that Burman will go the way of all others who have tried to lift Louis' crown.

Louis finished drills at Greenwood Lake, N. J., today and weighed 203 pounds. He will break camp tomorrow and motor into New York. Burman scaled 193¼ pounds after taking road work.

Dempsey apparently did not give Burman an advance copy of his ballyhoo speech, as Red announced he was prepared to launch a two fisted body attack on the champion.

JOE PLANS GOLF MEET.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29 (AP). — Joe Louis will sponsor his own golf tournament next summer, associates announced tonight, with the idea of making the Joe Louis Open an annual golfing event. Bob Seymour, manager of the tournament, said arrangements were being completed to hold it next Aug. 12, 13, and 14 at the Rackham golf course.

Tribune Film Is Booked in Loop Theaters

"The All-American Way," a sound motion picture story developed around THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's sports promotions, will begin a run in loop and outlying theaters this week-end. Dedicated to the American manner of training youth, the picture will be shown in four Essaness theaters.

They are:

North Center theater, 4031 Lincoln avenue, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Produced by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as an appeal for the preservation of the sporting ideal, the picture was enthusiastically received and endorsed by some of the country's leading sports figures and educators at its première in the main studio of W-G-N on Jan. 10.

It traces briefly the contrast between old world and American methods of competition, with THE TRIBUNE's spectacular sports promotions—Golden Gloves, Silver Skates, All-Star Football game and the All-Star baseball game—forming the background for a narrative of sportsmanship.

Outstanding among the shots of the various activities originated and sponsored by the Tribune sports department are those of Babe Ruth winning the first All-Star baseball game with his home run, Max West breaking up last year's game with his first inning homer, and the sensational eighty-one yard pass, Cecil Isbell to Don Hutson, with which the Green Bay Packers tied the score against the College All-Stars before 84,567 last August.

Plunge's 1,737 Takes Lead in Bowling Singles Test

Adam Plunge, a member of the Joseph L. Gill bowling team, took the lead in the Petersen eight game singles test by bowling 1,737 on the first squad last night. His total topped the previous high, rolled by Lloyd Strouse Monday, by 12 pins. Plunge's game scores were 201, 279, 205, 219, 227, 174, 212, and 220. Leo Lunarzi of Davenport, Ia., dropped to third place with 1,720 and George Notz to fourth with 1,711. Leo Faetz, bowling on the late squad, took fifth place with 1,700, pushing Herb Lange of Libertyville back to sixth with 1,693.

More than 500 amateur boxers, whose entry blanks for the Chicago Golden Gloves tournaments were submitted prior to last Tuesday, will report tonight in Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street, for physical examinations. From this group will come the novice boxers who will compete in the south side tournament which opens Tuesday night in St. Sabina's gymnasium.

Others will be assigned to the north side novice tournament which will be held in Loyola university gymnasium Feb. 10, 11, and 12. All experienced boxers, of course, enter the Chicago city championships. These matches will be held in the Coliseum, 1513 South Wabash avenue, Feb. 17, 18, and 19. The Chicago champions then will enter the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium Feb. 24, 25, and 26.

More Examinations Monday.

Golden Gloves boxers who mailed their entries to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last week will be asked to report for physical examinations in Trafton's gymnasium Monday night. The hours for all examinations are from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Each boxer is given a set of tournament instructions and referee's instructions when he reports to the clerks. He also receives a talent ticket for his second and this ticket indicates the time and place he should report. A second physical examination is given on the night the boy boxes. Since several boys have written for personal instructions, some of them are repeated.

Box Two Minute Rounds.

All matches will be made by lot. Drawings will take place not later than a half hour before the first bouts. The bouts will start promptly at 7 o'clock. You weigh in on the night you report. Do not eat a heavy meal just before boxing. Eight ounce boxing gloves will be used in all bouts. The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will furnish the gloves. Each round will be two minutes. All bouts are three rounds.

You must bring your own shoes [tennis or boxing shoes], socks, trunks, towel, athletic supporter, and protection cup. If you do not have a cup, one will be loaned to you.

An experienced professional second, employed by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will be in each corner. You may bring one other second with you if you wish.

Name Tournament Announcers.

All boxers in both the open and novice divisions must be registered with the Central association of the A. A. U. Registration in the open division for one year costs $1. Registration in the novice division is good only for the Golden Gloves tournament and The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will pay the cost of that registration.

Introduction of the boxers in all Chicago tournaments and during the Tournament of Champions, when three rings will be used in the Stadium, again will be made by a veteran group of officials from The Tribune A. A. The announcers are Ted Canty, Frank Kalteux, Sam Abruscato, William Kerwin, Leonard J. Sterling, Dick Mastro, and Chester C. Coyner.

PROPOSED LAW WILL LIFT TAKE TO 11 PER CENT

Track Owners Are Noncommittal.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Lantz bill, which proposes a drastic increase in state revenues from horse racing, will cost Chicago turf fans an additional $1,065,820 a year. This was the conclusion of local followers of the sport yesterday after they had studied the measure introduced in the Illinois senate on Tuesday by Senator Simon E. Lantz of Congerville.

The bill provides for a state levy of 2½ per cent on the mutuel betting pool in addition to the 7½ per cent which the track gets as its share. The total handle at the five Chicago area tracks last season was $42,632,809. Two and a half per cent of this would amount to $1,065,820.

Must Guarantee Bigger Purses.

Heretofore there has been no state tax on the mutuel pools. Each track has paid a flat license fee. This has amounted to $2,500 a day at Arlington Park, Washington Park, Hawthorne, and Sportsman's Park and to $1,500 a day at Lincoln Fields. Fairmount Park, in the St. Louis area, pays $500. The money collected in this way from the five Chicago area tracks amounted to $320,000 last season.

Under the Lantz bill the flat daily license fee would be abolished, but the tracks would be required to guarantee that this $320,000 would be devoted to increased purses and stakes for the horsemen. Thus there would be a 23 per cent increase over the $1,382,285 which was distributed by the five Chicago tracks in 1940.

Many who discussed the bill yesterday remarked on the fact that this $320,000 had formerly gone into the Illinois state treasury. If it were converted into purse money, it would be dispersed among visiting horsemen who would vanish toward all points of the compass as soon as the racing season ended.

Agriculture Fund Gets Half.

Of the $1,065,820 derived from the tax on Chicago area betting pools, half would go into general Illinois revenues and half would be earmarked for the agricultural premium fund, which supports activities remote from the concerns of most local turf fans.

It was remarked that Illinois horse racing fans have been living in a paradise compared to betters of other states. Up to midsummer of 1939, the take was only 6½ per cent, all of which went to the track. In July, 1939, this was increased to 7½ per cent with the understanding that the additional 1 per cent was to be devoted to increased purses. Breakage on the dime brings it up approximately another 1 per cent to 8½. With the proposed Lantz bill adding another 2½ per cent, the total would be 11 per cent.

If the takeout is set at this figure and if the mutuel handle stays at $42,632,809 the community would be spending $4,689,608.99 on its annual race track betting.

Under the present system of 7½ per cent takeout, plus 1 per cent breakage, the figure comes to $3,623,788.76.

The New York pari-mutuels, legalized for the 1940 season, are tapped for 10 per cent plus breakage on the dime. Five per cent and half the breakage goes to the track and the same amount to the state.

Higher Everywhere Else.

In Florida, the total takeout is 10 per cent, of which 3 per cent goes to the state. In California the legal takeout is 12 per cent, of which 4 per cent goes to the state. Florida breaks to the nickel and other states to the dime. Kentucky, which formerly broke to the dime, now pays to the penny.

Thus the raising of the Illinois percentage will bring the total no higher than that of the other states. Some track operators see in this a better chance to compete on an equal basis with these rival centers. They Waller High school's junior basketball team yesterday took undisputed possession of first place in the north section of the Public School league when it defeated Von Steuben, 43 to 21, in Von Steuben gymnasium. The quintets were tied for the lead before the contest, each with three victories and no defeats. The setback sent Von Steuben into a deadlock with Sullivan for second place.

Allen Felske, center, led the Waller attack, contributing 19 points on eight field goals and three free throws. Waller held a 10 to 6 advantage at the end of the first quarter, 23 to 15 at the half and 34 to 18 at the third period.

Schurz Wins in Overtime.

The Schurz junior team was forced into two overtime periods before it finally conquered Lake View, 30 to 29. Andy Dunwoody, Schurz forward, sank a field goal in the final seconds of the regulation game to tie the score. In the second extra session, Charles Peppi, guard, scored on a free throw for the winning point. Lake View led at the half, 14 to 9.

The DuSable and Manley senior quintets remained tied for the lead in the central division, scoring their fourth consecutive victories. DuSable, led by Nat Clifton, who accounted for 15 points, defeated Tilden Tech, 40 to 28. Manley, with Marty Gray, contributing 13 points, triumphed over Farragut, 45 to 28. Lineups:

SNEAD IS VICTOR IN PRO-AMATEUR GOLF IN PHOENIX

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 29 (AP).—Sammy Snead, Hot Springs, Va., professional, won the pro-amateur tuneup for the Western Open golf tournament today, but yielded individual honors to Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., who shot a 65, 6 under par. Snead's card was 66. He and Barry Goldwater, Phoenix amateur, had a best ball score of 63 to finish in front of the field in the special event.

Demaret, who will defend his Western Open crown in the tournament opening here Friday, ended a brilliant round with a 16 foot putt on the 18th green for a birdie 4. With Kim Bannister Jr. of Phoenix, he had a best ball score of 64.

Bruins Beat Sheboygan Five, 31 to 22

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
Chicago, 31; Sheboygan, 22.
Detroit, 36; Oshkosh, 34.

The Chicago Bruins, with Center Mike Novak leading the way, won their third straight National Basketball league game, a 31 to 22 triumph over the Sheboygan Redskins, in the 132d Regiment armory last night.

Thirty-five hundred fans saw the Bruins take the lead at the start and hold it all the way. Their half time margin was 19 to 14. The victory moved the Bruins into a tie with Sheboygan for third place in the standings.

The Chicago club was without the services of Wibs Kautz, its leading scorer, who is in bed recovering from an attack of flu. Novak took his place, however, by scoring six baskets and two free throws.

The Chicagoans continued their great free-throwing in this contest, making their first seven shots before missing an attempt.

Otto Kolar, captain of the Redskins and a native of Cicero, was presented with a traveling bag by his Windy City league friends.

The Palmer House Panthers defeated the Bronzeville Merchants, 21 to 13, in a Windy City league game which opened the program. Lineups:

DAY CONFIDENT DESPITE SPLIT WITH MANAGERS

Davey Shows Savagery in Drill for Marquart.

Will Davey Day be handicapped without having Sam Pian and Art Winch in his corner for his 10 round bout against Billy Marquart in the Coliseum Monday?

This provided most of the prefight discussion as the rival lightweight challengers continued training yesterday in Trafton's gymnasium. Their match tops a boxing card for the President's infantile paralysis fund.

Pian and Winch, managers of Day, recently announced they will not work as seconds. It will be the first time in eight years Davey has not had one or the other in his corner. A dispute with the fighter following his one round knockout victory over Nick Castiglione in Chicago Stadium on Jan. 10 caused both to withdraw their support n the Marquart bout.

Day Isn't Worrying.

Day's pugnacious attitude as he pounded Jackie Simmons, Kansas City junior lightweight, and Tito Taylor for four rounds yesterday indicated the matter of his second was unimportant to him. Perhaps he is right, but general belief is that he is wrong.

However, in an attempt to strengthen Day's chances for victory, it was learned that John [Scotty] Strachan, veteran handler of boxers, has been added to the force which will be in the Chicagoan's corner. The others are Joe Niedwick and Gus Rock. Strachan has seconded such past and present day headliners as Fritzie Zivic, Jimmy McLarnin, Sammy Mandell, and Mickey Walker.

Pian Predicts Day Victory.

Despite his differences with Day, Pian predicted Davey would beat Marquart, probably by a knockout. Plan pointed out that Marquart's face is easily cut and that Day is a master at hammering an oppenent in close quarters; that his punches are more accurate and his timing is superior; that Marquart usually fights himself out in a few rounds.

Day will rest today, and resume sparring sessions tomorrow. Marquart did no boxing yesterday, but will spar this afternoon.

Jimmy Tygh, Philadelphia 135 pounder, will open training today in Trafton's for an additional match of 10 rounds against Quentin [Babe] Breese. Lem Franklin, International Golden Gloves heavyweight winner in 1937, who has been boxing four rounds daily, will cut his drill to two rounds tomorrow and Saturday for a third 10 round event against Carl Vinciquerra.

Lou Angelucci Rallies to Win I. A. C. Crown

Lou Angelucci, 1940 city Golden Gloves middleweight champion, is the new Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing 160 pound title holder. He won the honor by beating John Johnson of the Savoy Athletic club in the most exciting fight held in the finals of the 11th annual tournament in the I. A. C. gymnasium last night.

The overflow crowd of more than 700 cheered Angelucci after he was awarded the unanimous decision of Referee Tommy Thomas and Judges William O'Connell and Johnny Burke.

Angelucci was on the verge of a knockout in the first round, but he rallied to score points in the second and in the final round found the range with a series of rights to the jaw which clinched the battle for him.

Champions Win Again.

All three I. A. C. champions of last year—Harold Dade, flyweight; Ray Brown, bantamweight, and Hezzie Williams, light heavyweight—came thru with victories. The first two were defending their titles, but Brown scored a double when he stopped Tony Bausone for the featherweight championship.

Bertrand White, C. Y. O. fighter, won Brown's I. A. C. bantamweight crown by defeating Clarence Thurman of Danville, in three rounds.

Robert Satterfield's knockout of Joe Dugo of the C. Y. O. was the most spectacular of the evening. Referee Tommy Thomas completing his count after 59 seconds of the first round.

Bausone Loses in First.

The team trophy was won by the Savoy club, which scored 35 points. The C. Y. O. was second with 25, and Danville third with 8. Mishawaka, Ind., and the Lincoln Turners of Chicago were tied with one point each. It was the first time the C. Y. O. has failed to win the trophy in nine years.

Summaries:

112 POUNDS—Harold Dade, C. Y. O., beat Gene Roberts, Danville [3].
118 POUNDS—Bertrand White, C. Y. O., beat Clarence Thurman, Danville [3].
126 POUNDS—Raymond Brown, C. Y. O., stopped Anthony Bausone, C. Y. O. [1].
135 POUNDS—Robert Earl, Savoy A. C., beat William Jordan, Savoy A. C. [3].
160 POUNDS—Louis Angelucci, unattached, beat John Johnson, Savoy [3].
HEAVYWEIGHT—Clayton Worlds, Savoy, beat Julius Glenn, Savoy [3].

205 Pounds of Pitcher Named Smith Reports

Eddie Smith, the rotund White Sox lefty, showed up yesterday in all of his 205 pounds of splendor. Little Smitty came here from his Jersey hideout in answer to a summons which tonight will see him on his way to Hot Springs for a three week reduction course in which two of his mates, Julius Solters and Taft Wright, also will be subjects.

Smitty's 205 pounds might sound alarming to his public, but it doesn't mean anything to him. When he reported at the Pasadena, Cal., camp last spring he broke the weighing machine at 215, so unless he made a mistake on his last consultation with a scale, he already is ahead of 1940's schedule. And ahead of Smitty, as well as Solters and Wright, are those three weeks of drilling at Hot Springs, not to mention the seven week training trip which follows.

Coach Mule Haas, who will police the Fat Man's club at Hot Springs, also reported yesterday. Solters will reach Chicago today and Wright will join the party tomorrow at the springs.

HAWKS CONFRONT AMERICANS JINX AGAIN TONIGHT

New York, Jan. 29 [Special].—The Chicago Blackhawks, who haven't won a National Hockey league game from the New York Americans in Madison Square garden for four years, will try for the 14th time tomorrow night to end one of the strangest jinxes in major league sports.

The Hawks arrived today from Boston, where they took a 3 to 2 lacing last night from the Bruins, who haven't been beaten in their last 14 games.

The last time the Hawks won a league game from the Americans in New York was on Jan. 26, 1937, and they made it a memorable occasion by trouncing the New Yorkers, 9 to 0.

Tillet Wins Benefit Wrestling Bout in 14:26

Maurice [The Angel] Tillet last night threw the heavyweight wrestler billed as Lord Albert Mills of England in 14 minutes and 26 seconds of their match in the Ashland Boulevard auditorium. Profits of the show were donated to the infantile paralysis fund. Other results:

NEW TURF BILL TO COST BETTERS MILLION DOLLARS

Proposal Would Raise Take to 11 Per Cent.

say that the conversion of the $2,500 license fee into purse money may attract horsemen who might otherwise go elsewhere.

Track operators, horsemen, and politicians received news of the bill with emotions as varied as their interests.

Horsemen, who saw an additional $2,500 a day in purse money, thought it was a good thing.

Track operators, who stood neither to gain nor to lose directly by the tax and purse increase features, were either neutral or in favor of this section of the bill.

Politicians saw it as the means of a substantial increase in revenue.

Eye New $5,000 Jobs.

With regard to the portion of the bill applying for the abolition of the present unpaid racing commission and the substitution of a salaried board, the clash was violent. With big money hinging on its decisions the commission inevitably has become a center of controversy.

Quite apart from approval or disapproval of the present commission was the angle that the new bill provides three $5,000 jobs for political disposal.

The bill calls for the abolition of the present three man commission which is appointed directly by the governor and which serves without pay, and the appointment of a three man board subject to the confirmation of the senate. Each member would receive an annual salary of $5,000.

The effect of the new measure on the mutuel pools would be something like this. The Arlington Park race track had a total handle of $11,765,307 last season for a daily average of about $392,176.

Cost Bettors $10,000 Daily.

Out of this daily pool 7½ per cent was taken. This amounted to $29,413.20. It left $362,762.80 to be divided among the holders of pay-off tickets. Under the proposed new system, with a 10 per cent takeout, the total withdrawn from the pool would be $39,217.60, which would leave $352,958.40 to be split up into pay-offs. In the course of the computation of ticket values, an additional 1 per cent would fall by the wayside in breakage.

WAR SHIPMENTS BOOST EXPORTS TO 11 YEAR PEAK

1940 Volume Tops 4 Billion Dollars.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—Shipments of war materials to the British empire boosted United States merchandise exports in 1940 to $4,021,564,000—the largest total since 1929.

Due partly to purchases of materials needed for defense work, such as rubber, imports also increased to $2,625,445,000. The excess of exports over imports, amounting to $1,396,119,000, was the largest since 1921.

Exports were 27 per cent larger than in 1939 when they totaled $3,177,176,000. Imports were 13 per cent above the $2,318,081,000 1939 total. The export excess in 1939 was $859,095,000.

Latin American Trade Up.

"Since shipments of materials and instruments of defense to the United Kingdom and other British empire countries showed substantial gains," the department of commerce said in announcing the figures, "the effect on the foreign trade total of the practical elimination of German-controled Europe as a market was less marked than might have been expected.

"These gains in the value of shipments to the British empire, together with increased trade with Latin America, largely accounted for the higher total of foreign trade in 1940."

The gains, however, were concentrated in manufacturing industries, and "agricultural exports during the final months of 1940 were at the lowest level since 1869."

Farm Exports Small.

Six vital defense commodities—steel, other metals, aircraft, metal working machinery, firearms and certain chemicals—rose in export value from $706,000,000 in 1939 to $1,492,000,000 in 1940. Shipment of agricultural products, once the mainstay of the export business, amounted last year to only $517,000,000.

Besides the strictly defense products, exports of other types of manufactured and semimanufactured goods increased about 11 per cent altho some items, including passenger automobiles, declined.

The import gain was attributed by the department "to a larger volume of purchases of six leading strategic commodities—crude rubber, raw silk, nickel, tin, antimony and ferro-alloying metals."

Imports of food stuffs and beverages declined from $604,000,000 in 1939 to $563,000,000 in 1940, but this decline was due to a large extent to lower prices for coffee and sugar.

December Below Average.

In December, the report added, exports rose to $368,046,000 from $327,685,000 in November, but were still $13,000,000 below the monthly average for the year. Imports increased from $223,594,000 in November to $246,807,000 in December.

No figures were available immediately on how many airplanes were shipped to England or other countries, but the value of aircraft exports was said to have increased from $117,806,000 in 1939 to $311,757,000 in 1940.

Other important increases were iron and steel semimanufactures which went from $169,123,000 in 1939 to $371,226,000 in 1940; electric machinery, from $280,986,000 to $450,798,000, and firearms, from $5,024,000 to $64,164,000.

BARE U. S. DRIVE ON SUBVERSIVE LATIN ACTIVITIES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The federal government, it was learned today, has instituted an aggressive drive to have United States firms "house clean" their Latin American branches of all anti-American or pro-axis personnel.

Convinced by confidential reports of widespread subversive activities in most of the Latin American republics, state department agencies are applying "diplomatic pressure" to enlist the help of export industries in combating the situation.

The campaign, it was learned, already has brought about the discharge of a number of agents and employés suspected of hostile allegiance and operations.

Experts Clash on SEC Power to Force Bids

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—Attorneys for the two major opponents of a Securities and Exchange commission proposal to require competitive bidding on new utility issues of more than 1 million dollars today disagreed on whether the SEC was empowered to take such a step.

Raymond T. Jackson of Cleveland, O., speaking for the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., declared the commission did not have such authority under the holding company act except where it found that prices were unfair.

"Will Regret It," He Says.

Arthur H. Dean of New York, representing the Investment Bankers' Association of America, said he believed that the commission had the power but that there was no "mandate" in the act to exercise it.

"I think that if you adopt the rule in anything like its present form you are going to regret it," he said.

The legal arguments concluded three days of public hearing. Another session will be held Feb. 5 to accommodate witnesses from California and Texas.

Harrison Expresses Opposition.

An I. B. A. representative read into the record a letter from George L. Harrison, former governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and now an insurance executive, who said that the proposed rule "risked a serious curtailment" of capital facilities at a time "when the facilities of the capital markets should be made available for financing defense."

Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland financier, recommended compulsory competitive bidding as a step to "open and stimulate the capital markets of the country."

SMITH REPORTS FEDERAL PLAN TO RULE INSURANCE

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith tonight said he had "definite information" that the federal government would move to regulate life insurance companies. Addressing the annual dinner of the medical staff of St. Vincent's hospital, Smith, a director of the New York Life Insurance company, said:

"Because life insurance companies have tremendous assets for investment they are considered monopolies. That is the pretext on which they now are being investigated, and that will be the pretext for federal government control unless there is a public reaction."

Smith predicted that "some socialistic group in Washington will give us a form of health insurance that will not be as good as you can give us" if the doctors do not become a "pressure group" to voice opposition.

CHARLES A. WALTER IS APPOINTED TO NEW SEARS POST IN SOUTH

Charles A. Walter.

Charles A. Walter, for many years a merchandising executive of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has been named vice president in charge of southern industrial development, Gen. R. E. Wood, chairman of the board, announced yesterday.

Walter's position is newly created. He will have charge of the development of manufacturing sources in southern states and will coördinate buying arrangements thruout his territory.

A native of Plano, Ill., Walter has been with the company since 1905 and a member of the board of directors since 1928. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and holds degrees of master of science and doctor of pharmacy.

CITIES SERVICE SYSTEM FINALLY FILES WITH SEC

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The $400,000,000 Cities Service company system registered with the Securities and Exchange commission today under the public utility holding company act—the last of the big systems to comply.

The SEC denied Dec. 23 the company's application for exemption from the act because of its tremendous interest in the petroleum industry. Since that time the commission has adopted a special rule exempting in part Cities Service company's petroleum, natural gas and real estate jurisdiction.

The company has been given notice by the SEC, however, that eventually it must divide into two independent groups, one comprising utility properties and the other nonutility properties.

PUT 12 MILLIONS OF PIPE LINE'S BONDS ON SALE

A group, headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., today will offer $12,000,000 of first mortgage and first lien 3 per cent bonds, series B, of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company at 102 and accrued interest. The bonds will mature Nov. 1, 1960.

Proceeds of the sale will be applied toward the redemption of the company's outstanding $22,500,000 first mortgage and first lien 4 per cent bonds, series A, due March 1, 1952. Other funds needed for redemption of the 4s will be obtained from the issuance and private sale of $6,250,000 of new series A bonds and $5,000,000 of serial notes to certain banks and insurance companies.

INLAND STEEL'S EARNINGS SOAR; OUTPUT AT PEAK

Year's Income Up to $8.87 a Share.

Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the Inland Steel company of Chicago, largest of the "independents," disclosed yesterday that the company established new records in production, sales, and employment, both in the last quarter of 1940 and the full year. He issued a preliminary report showing a steep gain in the year's earnings, but a small decline in the quarter's income caused by increased federal tax charges.

The report showed consolidated 1940 net profit of $14,450,385, equal to $8.87 a share on the 1,628,655 shares of capital stock, compared with $10,931,016 in 1939, or $6.73 a share on the 1,624,265 shares then outstanding.

For the quarter ended Dec. 31, net profit amounted to $4,561,901, equal to $2.80 a share, against $4,574,441, or $2.81 a share, for the corresponding 1939 period. A new item of $1,165,551 was deducted during the 1940 quarter for estimated federal excess profits taxes. No such deduction was required a year earlier.

Rate Exceeds 100 Per Cent.

Ryerson reported that ingot production of 2,901,870 net tons for the year was at the rate of 93.8 per cent of theoretical capacity, compared with 77.7 per cent for 1939. The fourth quarter rate was 106.7 per cent, against 101.2 per cent in the third quarter, and 102.6 per cent in the fourth quarter of 1939.

"As of Jan. 1, 1941," he said, "Inland's annual theoretical capacity has been increased by 200,000 tons in order to bring it more nearly in line with actual experience under present operating conditions, even tho no new furnaces were added during the year.

"Preference is naturally being given to orders placed in connection with the defense program, and, up to date, we have been able to work out these deliveries, in practically every instance, in accordance with the requirements of the project."

Sales of Inland and subsidiaries were about 23 per cent larger in 1940 than in 1939. Exports were 7.5 per cent of shipments for the full year and 9.9 per cent for the quarter. The company exported 1.4 per cent of its output in 1939.

Pay Rolls Reach 36 Millions.

"Average number of employés for the last quarter of 1940 was 20,785, and for the year 1940 was 19,868, compared with 17,278 for the year 1939," Ryerson said. "Total pay rolls for 1940 were approximately $36,000,000, and for 1939, $32,281,261."

Inland directors declared a dividend of $1 a share on the capital stock, the usual rate. Directors of the Acme Steel company, another Chicago organization, authorized a dividend of $1 on the common stock, compared with 75 cents paid in preceding quarters.

A preliminary report of the Wheeling Steel corporation, Wheeling, W. Va., showed net profits for 1940 of $5,663,930, equal to $6.59 a share, against 1939 earnings of $5,560,753, or $6.40 a share.

The company declared a dividend of $33 a share on its old 6 per cent preferred stock, of which $31.50 represents accumulations. The stock has been called for redemption at $100 as of April 1. Directors authorized the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the $5 preferred stock.

British to Put U.S. Concerns on Sale Block

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—The British government disclosed tonight it is about to tap another big source of dollar exchange in the United States—British owned and controled business enterprises—to buy warplanes, ships, tanks, and munitions.

A treasury statement said the government had spent "a very great proportion" of its gold and was selling United States securities "steadily."

Now, it was asserted, the treasury plans the sale of British-owned businesses in the United States and interests in United States companies which are controled by Britons' shares.

Peacock Coming to U. S.

A leading expert on such matters, Sir Edward Peacock, will arrive in the United States shortly, and he is expected to knock down such British businesses and companies to the highest bidder.

The treasury said that "in the light of material already supplied and contemplated by the United States of America, it may now be freely published that his majesty's government have realized and disposed of a very great proportion of their gold holdings and are steadily realizing on the American securities owned by their nationals at every opportunity.

"A more difficult problem is presented by investments, such as business in the United States and United States companies controled by companies in this country, whose shares are not quoted on the stock exchange."

Holdings Called Large.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Transfer to American ownership of United States subsidiaries or branches of British-owned companies would involve many properties and a large amount of capital, informed financial sources said today.

Among the larger companies mentioned for possible sale were American Viscose corporation, controled by Courtalds, Ltd., of London; Brown and Williamson Tobacco corporation, a subsidiary of British-American Tobacco, and the American properties of Distillers Company, Ltd.

With operations directed from head offices in the British empire the American subsidiaries and branches are engaged in many manufacturing and trading lines, including paper, chemicals, rope and twine, clothing, whisky, linens, door fittings, rubber, beef cubes, foods, cosmetics, woolens, china, clays and upholstery fabrics.

Two-Thirds of Libby Stock Offering Reported Sold

Glore, Forgan & Co., head of the underwriting group which offered 3,018,639 common shares of Libby, McNeill & Libby, yesterday announced that buyers had taken between 1,900,000 and 2,000,000 shares. About half the underwriters of the issue were reported to have sold all their allotments. Subscription books were still being kept open.

SANTA FE NAMES NEW DIRECTOR AT CHICAGO MEETING

Miniature Railway Is Given Museum.

Merle J. Trees, vice president of the Chicago Bridge and Iron company, was elected a director of the Santa Fe railway at a meeting of the executive committee yesterday. Directors of the road held their first meeting in Chicago since 1920. Meetings are customarily held in New York City altho the road has its headquarters in Chicago.

Board members went to the Museum of Science and Industry, founded by Julius Rosenwald, in Jackson park where Edward J. Engel, president of the Santa Fe, presented a $100,000 miniature railway to the museum. Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, museum president, accepted the gift.

Speaking at a luncheon at the museum attended by more than 600 Chicago business and industrial leaders, Engel asserted that the railroads of the country are in "excellent position" to meet any call that may be made on them under the national defense program.

Engel declared the carriers began preparations to achieve first class physical condition under an improvement program started 20 years ago.

The miniature railway was described by Maj. Lohr as "the greatest exhibit of its kind in the world." Over the 1,000 feet of track of the line run Lilliputian trains, including a streamlined Super Chief, the Grand Canyon Limited—of conventional type—and several freight trains.

The railroad runs thru miniature mountains, across deserts and plains and thru cities and towns. The scenery is typical of Santa Fe territory. There are car shops, locomotive plants, factories, and other structures.

EXCHANGE AID SAYS IT BELIEVED TRADING BAN HAD RECEIVED SEC O. K.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—A New York Stock exchange witness testified today that it had adopted its rule prohibiting so-called multiple trading after receiving an informal opinion that the Securities and Exchange commission had no interest in the matter.

Robert Stott of New York, chairman of the special exchange committee which prepared the report on which the rule was based, said at a hearing called by the commission that he flew to Washington last Feb. 12 and discussed the prospective rule with Walter C. Louchheim Jr., assistant to the derictor of the trading and exchange division.

Informed of the scope of the proposed rule, Stott said, Louchheim commented, "Is that all it amounts to? Well, it looks like a purely internal problem—I doubt if I'll mention it to the commission."

Called to the stand at the close of the day, Louchheim denied the statements attributed to him by Stott.

The first witness for the exchange was its president, William McC. Martin Jr., who said that the exchange was "struggling desperately to keep in business." He noted that the exchange lost $981,000 last year.

Ball Damage Suit Trial Will Be Started Oct. 23

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29 (AP).—Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell today set for Oct. 23 trial of a $5,000,000 damage suit against George A. Ball, Muncie capitalist, and the George and Frances Ball Foundation. The suit was filed by Robert Young, Allan P. Kirby, and the Seaboard Co., Ltd., and alleged the value of stock in the Midamerica corporation was enhanced by market manipulations before Ball sold it to the plaintiffs.

TREASURY NEED OF DEBT LIMIT INCREASE TOLD

Morgenthau Admits U. S. Cannot Pay.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Pleading for another boost in the public debt limit, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today outlined to legislators dangers in the federal government's fiscal condition.

Morgenthau appeared before the house ways and means committee in support of a bill to boost the statutory limit on the federal debt from 49 to 65 billion dollars. His testimony produced the following developments:

1. He indirectly admitted that the federal government will reach a situation by the end of May such that it will be unable to meet its obligations unless the debt limit is raised.

Plans Sale to Individuals.

2. An increase in the limit to 65 billion dollars would only last thru June 30, 1942.

3. Touching on inflation fears if bank deposits are increased further by sales of government obligations to banks, Morgenthau outlined plans for selling savings bonds, certificates, and stamps to individuals in financing national defense.

4. The treasury will be ready to consider a new tax bill after March 15.

5. While the pending bill would subject all federal obligations to all federal taxes, the treasury next will ask reciprocal taxation of federal, state, and municipal obligations.

Avoids Direct Answers.

Morgenthau was subjected to persistent quizzing by Representative Bertrand W. Gearhart [R., Cal.] on the possibility of government bankruptcy.

At first Morgenthau dodged Gearhart's questions by refusing to answer or by reading to him from President Roosevelt's budget message in which Mr. Roosevelt placed the blame for a rising debt on congress and scoffed at the idea of any debt limit. Later, however, Morgenthau gave Gearhart the answer he wanted—that, barring new powers, the government could not meet its obligations after May.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Daniel W. Bell, to whom Morgenthau referred many questions, had said that the present debt limit of 49 billions would be reached by the end of May—the debt is now 45.2 billions—but that prompt action on the bill is necessary to refund 1 billion 220 million dollars in obligations, due March 15, into taxable bonds.

"Do you mean that in May when

STOCKS TUMBLE 1 TO 4 POINTS, LED BY STEELS

Price Index Drops to Low Point Since August.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—The stock market took a decisive downward turn today, with many issues showing losses of 1 to around 4 points. Of 830 issues traded in, only 71 finished with gains.

Starting in steels after overnight publication of United States Steel's fourth quarter profit report, the selling spread thru the list. Poorly supported, the market gave way readily before moderate offerings.

At the close the Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks was down 0.8 of a point to 42.8, the lowest since August.

U. S. Steel Drops 2⅝.

Transactions increased to 599,690 shares compared with 467,730 Tuesday.

Brokers said the decline from the early January highs was accelerated by execution of stop loss orders as leading issues broke thru low points established the last few months.

United States Steel finished down 2⅝ at 64½ and Bethlehem was off 2½ at 82½. Du Pont lost 3½ at 152. Douglas Aircraft was off nearly 3 at 71⅝.

Closing 1 to 4 lower were Republic Steel, Johns Manville, Eastman, American Can, Air Reduction, American Smelting, United States Gypsum, Boeing, Santa Fe, Phelps Dodge, Allied Chemical, General Electric, United States Rubber, and International Harvester.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices moved downward on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transfers of 29,000 shares. Of the 128 active issues, 83 declined, 10 advanced, and 35 closed unchanged. United States Steel, the volume leader, sold off 2⅝ at 64½, and Bendix Aviation, which Tuesday had set a new high, dropped 1¾ to finish at 35¾.

Only three dually listed issues traded from 2 to 3 o'clock changed from the New York close. Bendix Aviation dropped ¼ point to 35¾, Marshall Field gained ⅛ point to 14⅝, and Acme Steel lost ½ point to 47.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—The bond market was affected by pessimism in other financial quarters today and turned down by fractions to 2 points or more. Some industrials were resistant. The Associated Press average of 20 rails dropped .8 of a point to 63.4, the biggest decline in a single day since last August. Declines in other groups were smaller and the low-yields advanced .2 of a point.

United States government issues were mixed with more declines than advances.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares advanced 2 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title, Continental Illinois, First National, and La Salle National each were a point lower.

TREND REVERSED IN COMMODITIES; FUTURES DECLINE

Commodity futures faltered yesterday. Wool tops and Santos coffee, which had reached successive price peaks since the turn of the year, were lower, as were copper, hides, domestic sugar, zinc, cottonseed oil and cocoa. Rubber, on the upgrade after a series of setbacks, resisted the trend and silk was irregular in price.

Wool tops cracked 0.5 to 1.2 cents a pound under further selling to extend Tuesday's losses, May deliveries closing at $1.17 6/10 bid. The cash market lost 1.4 cent at $1.24½ bid. Santos coffee slumped 0.06 to 0.13 cent to 7.55 cents a pound for May, but the cash price rose ¼ to 8¼ cents.

Copper futures were down 0.04 to 0.12 cent a pound at 11.42 cents for May contracts and zinc was unchanged to 0.15 cent lower. There were no lead or tin futures sales. Cash metals remained firm.

U. S. INDICTMENT CHARGES UNFAIR FOOD PRICE RULE

Colorado Dealers, Grocery Chain Accused.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 29—[Special].—The government's first indictment charging price fixing and unfair trade practices in the food industry was returned here today by a federal grand jury. Fifteen individual and corporate defendants were named in the bill.

The food industry has been under the scrutiny of the antitrust division of the department of justice since last May. Other indictments are expected to follow in Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia within a short time. The investigation is similar to that which resulted in hundreds of indictments against contractors, jobbers, and labor unions in the building industry last year.

List of Defendants.

Defendants named in the bill are the Food Distributors association, an association of retailers and wholesalers, eight of its officers and employés, three wholesale jobbers, a local retailer, and Safeways Stores, Inc., one of the largest grocery chains in the west with 56 stores in Denver.

It is charged in the indictment that the defendants engaged in a conspiracy to raise and maintain wholesale prices of food products shipped across state lines into Denver and that they controled distribution so completely that independent retail grocers could not buy except according to terms set up by the defendants.

Leo F. Tierney, assistant attorney general in charge of antitrust prosecutions in the middle west, assembled the government's evidence and presented it to the grand jury.

Charges Arbitrary Margins.

Tierney said the defendants had engaged in their alleged conspiracy under the pretext of conforming with the Colorado unfair practices act of 1937. This act makes it unlawful for a retailer to sell goods below the sum of wholesale cost plus overhead.

As a result of this law, Tierney said, the distributor's association had fixed arbitrary profit margins which rose from 6 per cent in 1937 to 12 per cent last November. Since 85 per cent of the retail and wholesale grocers in Denver were members of the association, the few independents were compelled to respect the price schedules under threats of being forced out of business, Tierney alleged in the indictment.

The indictment further alleges that the practice of buying direct from producers was discouraged by the distributors' association.

PREDICTS CHICAGO ACTION.

Immediately after the indictment was voted Tierney announced from his office in Chicago that this city will "likely be the next center for a grand jury investigation into the sale and distribution of food products."

Investigator's from Tierney's office have been gathering evidence of monopolistic practices in the food industry here since last November. Much of this evidence is said to be ready for grand jury presentment now.

Sarnoff, Nelson to Address Commerce Group Tonight

The Chicago Association of Commerce will hold its 37th anniversary dinner tonight in the Stevens hotel. Prominent persons in industry, commerce, and finance will be given a mass tribute by the more than 1,000 Chicago business leaders attending the dinner. Donald M. Nelson, former Chicagoan and now director of purchases of the national defense advisory commission, and David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, will speak. Sarnoff will speak on "New Horizons of Industry."

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Cattle prices rose 15 to 25 cents yesterday in an active market. The top load of steers brought $16, equal to the highest January price since 1930. The upswing was attributed to an abrupt decline in receipts.

Best grades of steers and yearlings were the most sought. Others were rather slow, but averaged higher than on Tuesday.

Hogs also recovered from the recent slump when volume dipped. Prices registered gains of 5 to 15 cents, despite further declines in wholesale pork markets.

The day's top in Chicago, at $8.15, showed a gain of 5 cents, while the average moved up 10 cents to $7.80 a hundred pounds.

Steady prices were paid for lambs.

Cattle receipts, 8,000; shipments, 2,000.
Sheep receipts, 7,500; shipments, 1,500.

Receipts include 50 cattle, 4,100 hogs, and 1,500 sheep direct to packers.

SUPERHIGHWAYS URGED AS UNITS IN U. S. DEFENSES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Amid much clamor for pavements in the name of national defense, Otto A. Milburn of Rockford, Ill., president of the Illinois Road Builders' association, introduced a resolution at the 38th annual convention of the American Road Builders' association here this afternoon urging that the present highway system be protected from undue excitement.

"In Illinois," said Mr. Milburn, "the precarious condition of state highway finances illustrates my point. The most important cross state routes are deteriorating and becoming outmoded five times as fast as slab replacements and modernization. In cities, including Chicago, the inadequacy of existing pavements is becoming more acute. These problems must not be neglected while so much emphasis is being placed on military preparedness."

Tonight, at an annual banquet of the road builders, Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Michigan, former president of the organization, recommended urban superhighway construction as a national defense measure.

PUT 75 MILLION BUSHELS OF U. S. CORN ON MARKET

To fill "reported feed shortages in some sections of the midwest," the department of agriculture announced yesterday that it would offer for sale 75,000,000 bushels of government owned corn. It placed a minimum price of 69 cents a bushel on No. 2 yellow corn stored in Chicago and 65 cents on grain held in other terminal and subterminal markets.

The open market price for No. 2 yellow corn in Chicago yesterday was 65¼ to 66 cents. Some sales were reported out of the elevators at 68 cents a bushel, 1⅛ cents less than on Tuesday. About 10 million bushels of government owned corn are stored in Chicago, according to the Commodity Credit corporation. This corn was acquired under foreclosure of loans made to farmers. With elevators and country storage bins jammed with government owned wheat and corn and record crops predicted for 1941, storage space thruout the country is at a minimum at present.

GRAIN FUTURES DECLINE UNDER STEADY SELLING

Liquidation by holders of grain futures sent prices downward on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. May wheat broke 1⅛ cents at one time and sold at 82½ cents, lowest since early in November, while September sold at a new seasonal low.

Closing trades on wheat futures were at losses of 1 to 1¼ cents, and corn finished at a decline of ¾ to 1⅛ cents. Rye was ⅞ to 1 cent lower and soybeans finished at losses of 1⅛ to 1¾ cents.

TREASURY'S NEED OF DEBT LIMIT INCREASE TOLD the statutory debt limit is reached the United States government will no longer be able to meet its obligations in due course?" asked Gearhart.

"That's why we're here today," replied Morgenthau.

"Then if we don't pass this new debt bill Uncle Sam won't be able to pay his bills after May?" continued Gearhart.

"I'm not going to answer that question," said Morgenthau.

"Even if congress does not appropriate any more money the situation is bound to arise in May, is it not?" the Californian pressed Morgenthau, who then replied that it would.

Says Burden Is on Congress.

Asked whether he could exceed the debt limit, if congress took no action, Morgenthau said that was a matter for the attorney general to decide. He declared that the responsibility would rest upon congress if the debt boosting bill failed to pass.

Bell said that the debt would be pushed to 63 billion dollars by spending of appropriations made or pending before this congress, and that an additional 3½ billion dollars in supplemental requests to be made for defense will raise the debt to about 66½ billions sometime after June 30, 1942, on the basis of present tax laws.

Representative Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.] asked Morgenthau what effects the pending bill for aid to Britain would have on the fiscal situation in the next few years. The treasury secretary replied that it was "very hard to tell" but that he believed the present debt bill would meet needs to the end of the 1942 fiscal year. Reed then inquired whether the growing debt burden was not disturbing.

Tells of Sleepless Nights.

"The whole question is a very serious problem," said Morgenthau. "I wake up in the middle of the night thinking about it."

"I don't doubt that you have many sleepless nights," commented Reed.

Morgenthau said, however, that he saw no dangers that could not be overcome. He told Reed that the government plans a campaign to sell savings bonds to the general public along the lines of the world war liberty loan drive in 1917 and 1918.

The pending bill, Morgenthau said, would enable the treasury to issue stamps or provide other means to evidence payments for savings bonds and savings certificates, and to provide for the exchange of certificates for bonds. "In times such as these," he said, "it is imperative that the government borrow as much as possible from real savers rather than from banks."

Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the committee, complimented Morgenthau on his statement that the government should economize in nondefense expenditures, but Reed warned Doughton against taking too much faith in that. Doughton expects the bill to be reported by the end of this week or early next week.

SHELL

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION

To the Holders of 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock of

SHELL UNION Oil Corporation

NOTICE is hereby given that Shell Union Oil Corporation, a Delaware corporation, has elected to, and will, redeem and retire, pursuant to the provisions of its Certificate of Incorporation, as amended, and to resolutions duly adopted by its Board of Directors, all outstanding shares of its 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock, of the par value of $100 per share, on March 1, 1941, at 105% of the par value thereof and all dividends accumulated and unpaid thereon to said date.

All holders of outstanding shares of said 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock are required to present and surrender on or after March 1, 1941, their certificates therefor at the office of The New York Trust Company, Paying Agent, Corporate Agency Department, 100 Broadway, New York, N. Y., for such redemption and retirement. The funds necessary to provide for such redemption have been deposited with The New York Trust Company, as Paying Agent, in trust, solely for the purpose of redeeming such stock.

All rights of the holders of said 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock will cease and determine on March 1, 1941, except the right to receive the redemption price of their stock (but without any dividends or interest from and after said date) upon presentation and surrender of their respective certificates. From and after March 1, 1941, the transfer books for said 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock will be permanently closed and no transfers thereof will be made.

By Order of the Board of Directors,
SHELL UNION OIL CORPORATION,
By F. W. WOODS, Secretary.

New York, N. Y., January 30, 1941.

PRIVILEGE OF IMMEDIATE PAYMENT

Preferred stockholders may, at their option, surrender their stock certificates at any time prior to March 1, 1941 at said office of The New York Trust Company and receive the total redemption price including all dividends accumulated and unpaid to March 1, 1941.

HOUSE VOTES 175 MILLION ARMY CLOTHING FUND

Chicago Companies Share in New Defense Orders.

Preparing for the release of a vast volume of clothing and equipment orders, the house of representatives at Washington, D. C., yesterday voted to make $175,000,000 available to the army for placing advance contracts and sent the resolution to the senate for concurrence.

International Harvester company, trucks, $668,546; General Bronze company, hangar doors, $65,273; Ditto, Inc., duplicating machine, $96,831; Reliance Manufacturing company, khaki cotton trousers, $62,921; Sears, Roebuck & Co., khaki cotton shirts, $5,827; George B. Carpenter & Co., cotton duck, $3,099; Monarch Pennant company, sleeve insignia, $20,993, and Mercury Manufacturing company, electric shop trucks, $3,896.

Issue Illinois Awards.

Awards to Illinois companies were: Elgin National Watch company, watches, $25,607; W. F. and John Barnes company, Rockford, drilling machines and trailers, $29,447; and from the navy: Rockford Machine Tool company, machines, $18,328.

Other army orders included: Federal Motor company, Detroit, Mich., tractor-trucks, $908,428; Bates Shoe company, Webster, Mass., helmet linings, $710,310, and American Brass company, Waterbury, Conn., brass, $892,063.

Materials which are to be purchased under the $175,000,000 army program include woolen cloth, $69,500,000; wool blankets, $13,500,000; cotton khaki cloth, $26,000,000; woolen underwear, $12,200,000; woolen gloves, $1,600,000; socks, $4,400,000; leather gloves, $3,900,000; service shoes, $11,000,000; leather boots, $2,600,000; canvas leggings, $1,600,000; raincoats, $3,000,000, and mosquito bars, $2,900,000. The remaining money will go for manufacture of garments from cloth now being produced.

Insures Ample Supplies.

A. J. Browning of the defense commission staff said that the program would insure adequate supplies when needed, keep costs as low as possible, minimize the effect of defense buying on consumers and assist in maintaining a stable level of employment in industries providing the materials.

At Memphis, Tenn., a new smokeless powder plant for Great Britain was placed in operation. It was built by the Tennessee Powder company, an affiliate of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., under a contract with the British purchasing committee. It was stated that the production rate is being increased rapidly and should approach normal in a short time.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—3.

Investors—because they own stocks and bonds—should devote particular care to revenue from dividends and interest in computing their 1940 gross income in their income tax returns.

Dividends.

Dividends paid by corporations to stockholders are taxable if derived from earnings in the current year or from profits accumulated after Feb. 28, 1913. That portion of the dividend not paid from current profits or from past earnings is not taxable.

A stock dividend is income if the stockholder's proportionate interest in the corporation's assets thereby was increased, or if he was granted new or additional rights. Usually, a stock dividend is not taxable if it does not change the stockholder's share of ownership in the company.

If a dividend represents a return to stockholders of invested capital, such as a payment from capital surplus or from depreciation or depletion reserves, it is not taxable. A liquidating dividend also is not income, except that portion that may be paid from accumulated profits. Similarly, dividends on unmatured life insurance are not considered as income.

A list of all dividends, whether taxable or not, received in 1940 should be attached to the income tax return.

Interest.

All interest received or collectible in 1940 must be reported. Interest payments should be distinguished from return of principal, which is not taxable income. Accrued interest bought from the seller of a bond and later received by the purchaser is not taxable because it is considered a return of principal.

Interest received on obligations of state and local governments must be reported, but is not taxable. Income from all obligations of the federal government or its instrumentalities is free from normal tax of 4 per cent, but in numerous instances is subject to the surtax levied on net income of more than $4,000, after deducting the personal exemption and credit for dependents.

Government obligations whose interest is entirely exempt from both the normal tax and the surtax are postal saving deposits, United States obligations issued on or before Sept. 1, 1917, treasury notes, bills, and certificates of indebtedness, and bonds issued under the federal farm loan act.

On most other issues of the federal government or its instrumentalities, interest is free from normal tax but subject to surtax, except that on treasury bonds and savings bonds, the interest on the first $5,000 face value is also exempt from surtax.

[The fourth article in this series will be published in an early issue and will discuss what not to include in gross income.]

LEGAL NOTICES.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

To the Patrons of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company:

The Illinois Bell Telephone Company hereby gives notice to the public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission revisions in its tariffs which increase the basic toll rate between the exchanges of Forest Park and River Forest and the Austin and Merrimac areas of Chicago from five cents to ten cents. The Metropolitan service rates between the same localities also are increased from one unit to two units.

A copy of the proposed filing may be inspected by any interested party at any business office of this Company in Chicago or at the Oak Park business office, 714 Lake Street, Oak Park, Illinois.

All parties interested in this proceeding may obtain information as to time and place of hearing upon this matter by addressing the Secretary of the Illinois Commerce Commission at Springfield, Illinois.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—AMBUSH LEAGUE

ACCORDING TO OUR ADVANCE INFORMATION, THE INVADERS WILL LAND SUPPLIES AT THE WHARF TODAY! THEY WILL USE COOLIE LABOR, SAVING THEIR SMALL GARRISON AS GUARDS!
WE WILL SURPRISE THEM BECAUSE THEY WILL NOT EXPECT A DAYLIGHT RAID!
LIN TSUN, YOU WILL TAKE A SMALL DETACHMENT AND CIRCLE THE CLIFF, CREATING A DIVERSION TO DRAW THE GUARDS AWAY FROM THE RIVER! I WILL TAKE THE MAIN BODY AND CUT OUT THE SUPPLY BARGES! CAPTAIN WING WILL COVER OUR RETREAT WITH MACHINE GUNS!
WE STRIKE WHEN THE SUN IS AT HIGH NOON! ...MEET AT THE CAMP!... ..MAY GOOD FORTUNE GUIDE YOUR EFFORTS!
WHILE IN THE VILLAGE

FOR YOURSELF
IN A
WESTERN AUTO ASSOCIATE STORE
Western Auto Supply Company, largest and most successful in its line, 32 years in business, had a sales volume of 53 million dollars in 1940. We are now offering you an opportunity to own and operate a Western Auto Associate Store, home owned, in towns up to 20,000. There are more than 1,700 such stores in operation.
You can become the owner and operator of a "Western Auto Associate Store" for as little as $2,000 in the smaller towns, which pays for merchandise and fixtures and almost everything necessary to start business. We train you in our successful merchandising methods.

DICK TRACY—Situation Critical

STUCK FAST IN THE BLIZZARD SWEPT HIGHWAY, KROME AND THE RADIO OPERATOR PONDER THE NEXT MOVE.
I'VE GOT AN IDEA!
NO FUNNY STUFF OR YOU'RE A DEAD MAN!
BEING A RADIO OPERATOR, I'VE ALWAYS GOT A BUNCH OF SPARE PARTS IN THE TRUNK OF THIS CAR!
BY HOOKING SOME OF THEM UP TO MY CAR'S RADIO, I BELIEVE I COULD SIGNAL THE STATE POLICE AND ASK THEM TO SEND A SNOW PLOW OUT HERE!
THIS ISN'T A TRAP, IS IT?
CERTAINLY NOT. I WON'T GIVE YOU AWAY. AND IT'S BETTER THAN SITTING HERE FREEZING TO DEATH!
OKAY, BUT NO FUNNY STUFF!
